Construction of power line will comprise of electrical conductors supported on 24-27 metre high pylons constructed of stainless steel metal; steel towers (pylons) comprising both angle towers and line towers for purposes of mounting the conductors on which the 132kV power supply will be transmitted.

The following are the anticipated impacts and proposed mitigation measures:

Possible Impacts	Mitigation Measures
Agricultural land	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Develop a RAP with a view to compensate crop damage, homestead relocation and loss of use of land. Keep records of persons compensated. Adopt a grievance redresses system. Allow for farming of short season crops as annual and biennials.
Drainage, surface waters and water resources	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Locate power lines and floodways away from drainage system. To prevent erosion by constructing adequate drainage works. The towers will be placed so as to leave a buffer zone of 15m where they might be crossing rivers and stream, and span 5 m when crossing any drainage channels.
Natural vegetation	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Clearing the vegetation manually is recommended to minimize environmental impact with no burning of the cleared vegetation.

- Develop a Contaminated Sites Control Plan for work in any areas that are known to have existing contamination;
- The collection, retention and testing of any groundwater resulting from dewatering activities within potential contaminated sites;
- Immediate inspection by the environmental monitor of all areas where construction activities disturb new ground to determine whether or not contaminated land is encountered and if
