Any person objecting to the grant of such certificate should within 14 days of the second publication of this notice, give notice in writing to the said Council of his intention to oppose such application and state the grounds upon which his objection is based.

First Publication

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for the integrity of the financial system and for the ability to detect and prevent fraud.

2. The second part of the document outlines the specific requirements for record-keeping. It states that all transactions must be recorded in a timely and accurate manner, and that the records must be maintained for a minimum of five years.

3. The third part of the document discusses the role of the auditor in verifying the accuracy of the records. It states that the auditor must perform a thorough review of the records to ensure that they are complete and accurate, and that any discrepancies must be identified and resolved.

4. The fourth part of the document discusses the consequences of failing to maintain accurate records. It states that failure to comply with the requirements may result in penalties, including fines and imprisonment, and may also lead to the disqualification of the individual or entity involved.

5. The fifth part of the document discusses the importance of transparency and accountability in the financial system. It states that transparency is essential for the confidence of investors and the public, and that accountability is essential for the integrity of the system.

6. The sixth part of the document discusses the role of the government in regulating the financial system. It states that the government has a responsibility to ensure that the financial system is fair and transparent, and that it must take appropriate action to address any issues that arise.

7. The seventh part of the document discusses the importance of education and training for individuals involved in the financial system. It states that education and training are essential for ensuring that individuals have the necessary skills and knowledge to perform their duties effectively.

8. The eighth part of the document discusses the importance of ongoing monitoring and evaluation of the financial system. It states that ongoing monitoring and evaluation are essential for identifying and addressing any issues that arise, and for ensuring that the system remains fair and transparent.

9. The ninth part of the document discusses the importance of cooperation and coordination between different stakeholders in the financial system. It states that cooperation and coordination are essential for ensuring that the system operates smoothly and effectively.

10. The tenth part of the document discusses the importance of public participation in the financial system. It states that public participation is essential for ensuring that the system is responsive to the needs and interests of the public, and for building trust and confidence in the system.
