NOTE (1) —All persons or firms resident, carrying on business or being in the United Kingdom are prohibited from having any dealings with any of the persons or firms mentioned in this List, or in any List issued under the Trading with the Enemy (Statutory List) Proclamation, 1916, No 3. A List consolidating all previous Lists was published on the 22nd December, 1916, (the Consolidating List No 15 a), which, together with the List herewith annexed, contains all the names which up to this date are included in the Statutory List.

Additions to and variations in these Lists will be published at intervals approximately of two weeks.

The Lists are published in the London Gazette and reproduced in the Board of Trade Journal, and separate copies of all Lists may be obtained at a small cost from the Superintendent of Publications, His Majesty's Stationery Office, Imperial House, Kingsway, W. C.

NOTE (2) —Where a person or firm mentioned in the List has more than one address in the same country, all dealings in that country with such person or firm are prohibited, even in cases where one only of the addresses is specifically mentioned.

*NOTE (3) —Trading is prohibited under the Trading with the Enemy Proclamations of 25th June, and 10th November, 1915, with any person or firm of enemy nationality resident or carrying on business in China, Siam, Persia, Morocco, Liberia or Portuguese East Africa. Persons or firms in the United Kingdom are therefore prohibited from trading with any person or firm of enemy nationality in any of those countries, even though such person or firm is not mentioned by name in the Statutory List.

NOTE (4) —In order to minimise as far as possible any inconvenience which may be caused to British traders by the dislocation of export trade owing to the inclusion in the Statutory List of a former connection, the Foreign Trade Department is collecting and classifying the names of non-enemy firms who may be able to act as substitutes for firms mentioned in the Statutory List. A considerable amount of information is already available at the Foreign Trade Department, and it is in many cases possible to suggest the names of satisfactory substitutes without the necessity of referring the matter abroad. The Department is, however, prepared, on application, to enquire of His Majesty's Representatives abroad for the names of suitable substitutes. When the applicant wishes this done by telegraph he is required to undertake to pay the cost of telegraphic correspondence. It would greatly facilitate the work of the Foreign Trade Department if applicants, in making enquiries, would specify the particular trade or trades for which substitutes are required.

NOTE (5) —The Statutory List for each country is telegraphed, on the day of issue, to His Majesty's Representative in that country, who is instructed to notify accordingly British Consular Officers, to whom persons abroad should apply for information as to names on the List. Persons and firms in the United Kingdom with agencies or branches abroad would, however, be well advised to furnish such agencies or branches with issues of the List as they appear. The Lists for all countries in central or South America are also telegraphed to His Majesty's Ambassador at Washington, who transmits them to His Majesty's Consul-General at New York and to other centres in the United States likely to be interested.

The Department is, however, prepared on application to enquire of His Majesty's Representatives abroad for the names of suitable substitutes. When the applicant wishes this done by telegraph he is required to undertake to pay the cost of telegraphic correspondence. It would greatly facilitate the work of the Foreign Trade Department if applicants in making enquiries would specify the particular trade or trades for which substitutes are required.

NOTE (5) —The Statutory List for each country is telegraphed, on the day of issue, to His Majesty's Representative in that country who is instructed to notify accordingly British Consular Officers, to whom persons abroad should apply for information as to names on the List. Persons and firms in the United Kingdom with agencies or branches abroad would, however, be well advised to furnish such agencies or branches with issues of the List as they appear. The Lists for all countries in Central or South America are also telegraphed to His Majesty's Ambassador at Washington, who transmits them to H M Consul-General at New York and to other centres in the United States likely to be interested.

GENERAL NOTICE No 224]

THE REGISTRATION AND CARE OF GRAVES.

DURING the present war a branch of the Adjutant-General's Department has been created to care for and preserve the identity of the graves of British officers and men. Units were established for this purpose in France and Belgium shortly after the battle of the Marne, in Egypt and Salonika recently, and an Officer has now been despatched to Mesopotamia.

The Director of Graves Registration and Enquiries is the Officer directly responsible for this work. The duty of the Graves Registration Units is to register the position of graves and to see that they are marked with durable wooden crosses bearing a metal inscription giving the name, number, rank, regiment and date of death.

While these Units have been successful in registering and marking a large number of graves at the front and many in advanced positions, where they might otherwise have been lost, it is not possible, and never will be possible, to obtain a record of all graves. If, as is to be feared, the enemy have in many instances not marked the graves of British officers and men buried within their lines a number of graves will be irremediably lost. In some cases, even within our own lines, though graves have been marked the position is too exposed for a correct plan and survey to be made, in others every trace of a burial ground having been obliterated by the enemy's shell fire there is no hope of reconstructing the cemetery so that individual graves may be recognised. Again, during heavy fighting burials are often carried out under circumstances which make it impossible to take, or at any rate to transmit, an accurate record of the positions of graves.

Early in 1915 it became necessary to make definite arrangements with regard to the provision of land in France for the burial of British officers and men. Up till then, and particularly during the retreat and the subsequent advance to the Aisne, burials had often taken place in isolated graves which were, wherever practicable, cared for with reverence and respect by the French peasants and owners of land, and in a few cases, permanent concessions of land were offered. By this time however French civil cemeteries were being more regularly used and it was also possible to arrange for special burial grounds. The Director of Graves Registration and Enquiries approached the French Government, through the French Military Authorities, on the matter. The French Government immediately expressed the desire to provide land for permanent resting places for British officers and men at the cost of the French nation, and a law was passed which gave effect to this generous impulse, on December 29th, 1915. Since then, in co-operation with the French Army, the Directorate has established authorised burial grounds immediately behind the British front and near the Field Ambulances, the Casualty Clearing Stations and the Hospitals further back. Soldiers are employed, under the Officers of the Graves Registration Units, to look after these burial grounds. In the case however of a battle or severe fighting, isolated burials necessarily still take place.

The French Government further offered to maintain these Cemeteries. The British Government has, however, in agreement with the French Government, undertaken to provide for their maintenance in perpetuity and has appointed a National Committee to care for the graves of our officers and men after the war. With the King's consent the Prince of Wales has accepted the Presidency of this Committee.

Relatives are requested to facilitate the work of this branch of the Army (a) by addressing as few enquiries as possible to the Directorate and (b) by realising that pressure of work, and not want of sympathy, will often necessitate a brief reply on a printed form. On the other hand the work will be assisted if relatives send to the Director any information they possess as to the place of burial. It is not intended, unless circumstances should show that it is desirable, to make arrangements for dealing with enquiries made in person. Relatives are therefore requested to confine themselves to written communications, which should be addressed to —

Director of Graves Registration and Enquiries,
War Office,
Winchester House,
St James's Square,
London, S W

Much unnecessary correspondence will be saved if relatives will carefully note the following facts —

1 Some time may elapse after burial before the grave has been properly registered and marked and the position accurately recorded. As soon as this is done a notification will be sent to the next-of-kin. This notification may be taken as final verification or correction of information received from other sources.

2 It is not possible to arrange for the distribution of flowers or wreaths for individual graves, but the cemeteries, as a whole, are grass-sown and planted with flowers and shrubs, where military conditions allow, under the advice of the Director of the Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew. Their maintenance is under the supervision of Officers of the Graves Registration Units.

3 Photographs of such graves in France and Belgium as are accessible to the photographers employed for the purpose are furnished to relatives on application, free of cost, out of funds placed at the disposal of the Directorate, for this object as well as for the planting of burial grounds, by the Joint War Committee of the British Red Cross Society and St John Ambulance Association. All applications are carefully noted and photographs are sent as soon as possible, but it will be understood that in many cases weeks or months may pass before photographs can be taken

4 Circumstances not infrequently arise which make it undesirable in the interests of the military situation to disclose the position of a grave although it has been duly registered and recorded

5 Many considerations, among which is the desire felt at the front to avoid inequality of treatment, have made it necessary to forbid the erection of any permanent memorials during the progress of hostilities, the sending of crosses to France is also prohibited as all transport is required for material of war

6 The exhumation of bodies during the war is strictly forbidden by both the French and British Military Authorities

7 Owing to the great difficulties that exist in Mesopotamia due to local and climatic conditions, the proper registration and marking of graves will necessarily be a lengthy and difficult problem

(Signed) C F N MACREADY,

Lieutenant-General,

Adjutant-General

WAR OFFICE,

August 26th, 1916

The following particulars furnished by the Curator of Military Graves, East Africa, are published for general information —

Under the instructions of Brigadier-General, R M Ewart, C I E, C M G, D A & Q M G I was appointed Curator of Military Graves in British and German East Africa, with orders to make periodical visits to the various Cemeteries, make such improvements as were necessary and to provide a proper means of identifying these Graves

Since my appointment in July, 1916, my time has been occupied in making tours of inspection in the various fields where operations have taken place and submitting reports on the condition of the Military Cemeteries that have come into being during the operations in this part of the globe I would like to state with feelings of gratification how much my duties in this connection have been simplified by the kind consideration and care bestowed by the various Units in providing some mark of respect or memento to their comrades who have fallen either in action or from illness in prosecuting this War

I would like to place on record the generosity and kind benevolence shown by the Ladies League of Mercy, Nairobi, who from private donations have supplied many Memorial Stones for fallen Soldiers and would have continued doing so but the work in this direction became more than they could undertake together with the other branches of charity and kindness they have on hand

As regards what has been done up to the present, I would like to state that some seventy Cemeteries have been inspected and some 700 photographs of the various Graves have been taken and forwarded through the A G's Office at the Base to the registered next-of-kin Some one hundred and fifty-five permanent stone Monuments have been erected over the Graves of Soldiers, in other instances temporary metal crosses have been provided, which are both painted with particulars and then perforated, so that should the paint wear out through rain and other conditions the perforation will remain These metal crosses are made from empty petrol tins, etc, and are supported by an arched hoop of galvanised iron wire As funds permit and more donations are received these will in time be replaced by permanent stone or concrete memorials. With the exception of one or two isolated graves, the whole of the area north of the Central Railway has been inspected and most of these Cemeteries have been securely fenced in with barbed wire and wire netting, and have distinctive marks on them

His Excellency the Governor has kindly sanctioned the free issue of ornamental plants and shrubs, to be provided by the Agricultural Department, and these have been planted out in places where they could be attended to

Two registers are kept in this Office, one headed Cemeteries, showing all particulars of the graves in each Cemetery, the other, with the names of those who have died arranged in alphabetical order for quick reference

Plans have been made of the various Cemeteries inspected and the positions of these are indicated on the maps in this Office by flags

Several letters of thanks and appreciation have been received from the relatives of those who have lost their lives here for photographs of the graves, and also a kind letter of thanks from the Right Honourable General Louis Botha, Minister of Defence, South Africa, on behalf of the relatives of the Members of the South African Union Forces I think I might say that with the exception of a few isolated cases,—where a surprise has taken place, or in an action where the enemy have been in overwhelming numbers, a few cases of dead left on the field, or buried by the enemy, the positions of which are at present unascertainable—all other graves have had either wood, metal, or stone crosses provided

No Military funds have been set aside for this purpose, and expenses in connection with providing memorials, etc., are paid for from private donations. The Ladies League of Mercy have generously devoted just over £100, and through the Commissioner of the Red Cross and St John Ambulance Society (Col Montgomery) a sum of £100 has been received, in addition to these two items small donations have been received from other private sources. In conclusion I would mention that some 155 stone monuments have been erected, about 500 crosses made of tin and other metal, and the remainder of the graves have wood crosses of some sort or other, which are being replaced as circumstances permit by those of a more permanent nature.
