NOTICE

Requisitioning of British Shipping

A communication has been received from the Colonial Office stating that owing to the inadequacy of freight accommodation and scarcity of food supplies in the United Kingdom it has been decided by the Imperial Government to requisition all British liners with a view to their employment on those services which are regarded as most essential, such employment being regulated by Committees including representatives of the ship-owners and of the Government

This scheme will be applied and extended to the various trades one by one and effect has already been given to it in the case of lines trading with South and East Africa

With regard to the provision of freight for homeward cargo owners are being asked to form committees constituted from the agents of the respective lines with a view to the representation of as many interests and as many ports of call as possible
