Effect of entry.

possession of others.

21. When any one or more of several persons entitled to any land or rent as co-heirs, joint tenants, or tenants in common, shall have been in possession or receipt of the entirety, or more than his or their undivided share or shares, of such land or of the profits thereof, or of such rent, for his or their own benefit, or for the benefit of any person or persons other than the person or persons entitled to the other share or shares of the same land or rent, such possession or receipt shall not be deemed to have been the possession or receipt of or by such last-mentioned person or persons or any of them.

Persons under disability
to be allowed six years after disability

23. If at the time at which the right of any person to make an entry or distress, or bring a suit to recover any land or rent, shall have first accrued as aforesaid, such person shall have been under any of the disabilities hereinafter mentioned; that is to say, shall have been a minor or a person of unsound mind, then such person or the person claiming through him may, notwithstanding that the period of twelve or six years (as the case may be) hereinbefore limited shall have expired, make an entry or distress, or bring a suit to recover such land or rent, at any time within six years next after the time at which the person to whom such right shall have first accrued as aforesaid shall have ceased to be under any such disability, or shall have died, whichever shall have first happened.

34. No entry, distress or suit shall be made or brought by any person who, at the time at which his right to make an entry or distress or to bring a suit to recover any land or rent shall have first accrued, shall be under any of the disabilities hereinbefore mentioned, or by any person claiming through him, but within thirty years next after the time at which such right shall have first accrued, although the person under disability at such time may have remained under one or more of such disabilities during the whole of such thirty years, or although the term of six years from the time at which he shall have ceased to be under any such disability, or have died, shall not have expired.

But no suit shall be brought beyond thirty years after right accrued.

25. When any person shall be under any of the disabilities hereinbefore mentioned at the time at which his right to make an entry or distress, or to bring a suit to recover any land or rent, shall have first accrued, and shall die without having ceased to be under any such disability, no time to make an entry or distress, or to bring a suit to recover such land or such rent, beyond the said period of twelve years next after the right of such person to make an entry or distress, or to bring a suit to recover such land or rent, shall have first accrued, or the said period of six years next after the time at which such person shall have died, shall be allowed by reason of any disability of any other person.

No further time to be allowed for a succession of disabilities.

(2) (i) In any action or other proceeding against a trustee or any person claiming through him, except where the claim is founded upon any fraud or fraudulent breach of trust to which the trustee was party or privy, or is to recover trust property, or the proceeds thereof still retained by the trustee, or previously received by the trustee and converted to his use, the following provisions shall apply—

(a) all rights and privileges conferred by any law of limitations shall be enjoyed in the like manner and to the like extent as they would have been enjoyed in such suit or other proceeding if the trustee or person claiming through him had not been a trustee or person claiming through him;

(b) if the suit or other proceeding is brought to recover money or other property, and is one to which no existing law of limitations applies, the trustee or person claiming through him shall be entitled to the benefit of and be at liberty to plead the lapse of time as a bar to such suit or other proceeding in the like manner and to the like extent as if the claim had been against him in a suit of debt for money had and received but so nevertheless that the law shall run against a married woman entitled in possession for her separate use, whether with or without a restraint upon anticipation, but shall not begin to run against any beneficiary unless and until the interest of such beneficiary shall be an interest in possession.

(ii) No beneficiary, as against whom there would be a good defence by virtue of this section, shall derive any greater or other benefit from a judgment or order obtained by another beneficiary than he could have obtained if he had brought such suit or other proceeding and this section had been pleaded.

(iii) This section shall apply only to suits or other proceedings commenced after the coming into operation of this Ordinance, and shall not deprive any executor or administrator of any right or defence to which he is entitled under any existing law of limitation.

(3) After the commencement of this Ordinance no suit, or other proceeding shall be brought to recover any sum of money or legacy charged upon or payable out of any land or rent, at law or in equity, and secured by an express trust, or to recover any arrears of rent or of interest in respect of any sum of money or legacy so charged or payable and so secured, or any damages in respect of such arrears, except within the time within which the same would be recoverable if there were not any such trust.

28. In every case of a concealed fraud, the right of any person to bring a suit in equity for the recovery of any land or rent of which he, or any person through whom he claims, may have been deprived by such fraud, shall be deemed to have first accrued at and not before the time at which such fraud shall, or with reasonable diligence might, have been first known or discovered :

In case of fraud, no time shall run while fraud concealed.

Provided that nothing in this section contained shall enable any owner of lands or rents to have a suit in equity for the recovery of such lands or rents, or for setting aside any conveyance of such lands or rents on account of fraud, against any bona fide purchaser for valuable consideration who has not assisted in the commission of such fraud, and who at the time that he made the purchase did not know and had no reason to believe that any such fraud had been committed.

29. At the determination of the period limited by this Part to any person for making an entry or distress, or bringing any suit, the right and title of such person to the land or rent for the recovery whereof such entry, distress, or suit respectively might have been made or brought within such period shall be extinguished.

Extinguishment of right.

Receipt of rent to be deemed receipt of profits.

30. The receipt of the rent payable by any tenant from year to year, or other lessee, shall, as against such lessee or any person claiming under him (but subject to the lease), be deemed to be the receipt of the profits of the land for the purposes of this Part.

Rights of
and against personal representative.

31. (1) For any debt (including arrears of rent) due to a deceased person, and for any injury to or right in respect of his personal estate in his lifetime, his personal representative shall have the same right of action as the deceased would have had if alive.

(2) The personal representative of a deceased person may maintain for any injury committed to the immovable property of the deceased within six months before his death any suit which the deceased could have maintained, but the suit must be brought within one year after his death, and any damages recovered in the suit shall be part of the personal estate of the deceased.

(3) A personal representative may distrain for arrears of a rent charge due or accruing to the deceased in his lifetime on the land affected or charged therewith, so long as the land remains in the possession of the person liable to pay the rent charge or of the persons deriving title under him, and in like manner as the deceased might have done had he been living.

(4) A personal representative may distrain upon land for arrears of rent due or accruing to the deceased in like manner as the deceased might have done had he been living.

Such arrears may be distrained for after the termination of the lease or tenancy as if the term or interest had not determined, if the distress is made—

- (a) within six months after the termination of the lease or tenancy;
- (b) during the continuance of the possession of the lessee or tenant from whom the arrears were due.

The law for the time being in force relating to distress for rent shall apply to any distress made pursuant to this sub-section.

(5) A suit may be maintained against the personal representative of a deceased person for any wrong committed by the deceased within six months before his death to another person in respect of his property, movable or immovable, but the suits shall be brought within six months after the personal representative of the deceased has taken out representation.

Any damages recovered in the proceedings shall be payable as a simple contract debt incurred by the deceased.

(6) A suit may be maintained against the personal representative of a deceased person for any breach of contract or breach of trust committed by the deceased subject to the same periods of limitation as would have applied had the deceased been living.

34. Where the period of limitation prescribed for any suit, or application expires on a day when the Court is closed, the suit or application may be instituted, preferred or made on the day that the Court re-opens.

Where court is closed when period expires.

45. Nothing in this Ordinance contained shall be deemed to interfere with any rule or jurisdiction of any Court of Equity in refusing relief on the grounds of acquiescence or otherwise to any person whose right to bring a suit may not be barred by virtue of this Ordinance.

Saving the jurisdiction of Equity.

36. The provisions of this Ordinance shall apply, so far as may be, to debts alleged by way of set-off or counter-claim.

Set-off and counter-claim.

36. (1) Suits instituted in the Colony on contracts entered into in a foreign country are subject to the rules of limitation contained in this Ordinance.

Suits on foreign contracts.

(2) No foreign law of limitation shall be a defence to a suit instituted in the Colony on a contract entered into in a foreign country, unless the law has extinguished the contract during the period prescribed by such law.

Savings.

38. (1) Nothing in this Ordinance shall—

- (a) affect the provisions of section 25 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, as applied to the Colony;
- (b) affect or alter any period of limitation specially prescribed for any suit or application by any Ordinance or law now or hereafter in force in the Colony; or
- (c) apply to suits under the Divorce Ordinance.

Cap. 170.

Provisions for suits for which the period prescribed is shorter than that prescribed by the Indian Limitation Act, 1877.

39. Notwithstanding anything herein contained, any suit for which the period of limitation prescribed by this Ordinance is shorter than the period of limitation prescribed by the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, as applied to the Colony, may be instituted within the period of two years next after the commencement of this Ordinance, or within the period prescribed for such suit by the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, whichever period expires first.

Repeal.

40. The Indian Limitation Act, 1877, as applied to the Colony save in so far as it relates to prescription is hereby repealed.

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

This Bill is designed to substitute modern legislation for the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, which, although replaced in India by the Act of 1908, is still the law of limitation applicable to this Colony.

The Governments of Kenya, Uganda, Tanganyika, Nyasaland and Northern Rhodesia, recognizing the importance of achieving uniformity on the question of limitation, have each agreed to introduce legislation based substantially on the English Acts and conforming, wherever practicable, to the law in force in the other territories. This Bill has been drafted in pursuance of that agreement.

With the exception of a few clauses which have been drawn from the Indian Act of 1908 the Bill follows the provisions of the English Limitation Statutes and is either modelled directly upon them or upon Colonial law which embodies them.

No expenditure of public moneys will be involved if the provisions of this Bill become law.

GENERAL NOTICE No. 193

LOCUST REPORT, 8TH FEBRUARY, 1934.

KENYA.

The Red Locust.—Many reports have been received during the past week and it is apparent that there are three main known areas of infestation.

Coast Province.—It must be assumed that in addition to the swarms known to have crossed the border at Taveta and at Vanga, a number of swarms entered Teita district in uninhabited areas during January. There is a considerable infestation in the north, west and south parts of Teita, and laying has taken place near Sagallo, crops, particularly maize, have been attacked in all the lower areas, but the swarms have not penetrated to the higher parts of the Teita Hills.

The whole of the Digi district has been infested and severe damage sustained in the cultivated parts. There has been a constant light drifting east-north-east on a twenty-five mile front, the railway line being crossed between Mackinnon Road and Mariakani. On the 5th February, swarms were reported at Mangea, behind Kilifi, heading north for the Sabaki river but swarms have not yet reached Malindi.

Masai District.—The Kajiado infestation appears to be confined to an area stretching from the border to about ten miles north of the Magadi line. Several swarms showing an indefinite direction of flight are in this area, one swarm having touched the main line at Kapiti Plains, and damage has occurred to grazing. The infestation is not considered severe. The swarms are mature but no evidence of mating has yet been observed. No reports have been received of any swarms having crossed the line into Machakos district.

A third infestation is centered in the western end of Masai district (Narok). Swarms, some of which are mating, have been reported between Lolgorien and Mara Bridge, and at Mau Sianna and Blue Plains. The general direction of flight appears to be north-westerly.

Nyanza Province.—Some of the Narok swarms mentioned above entered Sotik between Kilgoris and Webb's farm, and also Kisii at Nyeribori, on the 3rd February.

General.—The suggestion was made last week that the northerly limit of the present infestation had been reached. This is in general supported by the further reports received this week and by the report from Tanganyika Territory. The Narok area had not, however, hitherto been reported and sufficient information is not to hand to forecast the direction of flight of these swarms.

UGANDA.

The Red Locust.—Hoppers have appeared in a restricted area of Ankole, Western Province. This is the first record of the breeding of this locust in Uganda.

The Migratory Locust.—Flying swarms have been present in most districts, but Northern Province is almost free. Hoppers are present in Western Province and Buganda, and destruction is taking place. The indications are that few, if any, swarms of serious magnitude can result from the present generation of hoppers.

TANGANYIKA TERRITORY.

Whilst diffuse swarms of flying red locusts on a moderate scale are reported from many areas, the main advanced body has been held up in its northerly movement by the hills and mountains stretching from Arusha to Tanga. Through gaps in this chain, small swarms filter slowly across the border but their northerly movement may be said to be checked.

Laying has been reported from all Provinces; oviposition has taken place generally in cultivated land. Hopper emergence was reported near Dar es Salaam on 25th January, and hatching was due in many other areas at this date. Arrangements are well in hand in many areas to reduce the intensity of the hopper infestation which is expected. It is unlikely, however, that much effective action will be possible in the high grass country which is as a rule sparsely inhabited.

Swarms are less frequently reported to be entering Tanganyika Territory from Portuguese East Africa.

for Director of Agriculture.
