GENERAL NOTICE No. 1498

LOCUST REPORT, 31st OCTOBER, 1934.

KENYA.

Numerous swarms of Red Locusts are still present in the Colony, but as far as it has been possible to ascertain the number observed during the latter half of October has been less than during the early part of the month. This may be due in part to natural diminution of swarms or to their flight into uninhabited areas.

A swarm covering approximately twenty acres when settled still remains in the south-east of the Digo District on the Coast, and a swarm of considerable dimensions has been reported in the Voi District. In addition small swarms are known to be present on the border between the Central and Masai Provinces and elsewhere.

No definite direction of flight of these swarms is indicated and no forecast of their future directions of flight is possible at present.

Considerable damage has been caused to sugar cane on the Coast and to a lesser degree to late planted maize in the Sotik District. As cereal crops are reaching or have reached maturity in other areas affected, damage has been nil or slight in other districts.

Future Developments.

Examination of locusts obtained from swarms in the south of the Coast Province and on the border between the Masai and Central Provinces has indicated that these swarms may mature during the next two months, in which case oviposition may take place early in 1935.

Information.

The public are reminded that it is a duty to report the presence of locusts and the direction of flight to the Department of Agriculture. Envelopes containing reports need not bear postage stamps, but should be marked "Locust Information".

In addition to the necessity for reporting the presence of swarms, it is essential that members of the public should report signs of mating and laying of eggs immediately they are observed.

TANGANYIKA.

Swarms of moderate size arrived on the west and southern slopes of Mount Kilimanjaro from the north-west just prior to the 29th and small swarms are reported to be circling in the Usambara area and the Sanya Plains. These show no decided direction of flight. A general southerly trend of movement of flying swarms from Kenya is anticipated shortly.

A. G. BAILEY,
for Director of Agriculture.
