GENERAL NOTICE No. 167

LOCUST REPORT, 31st JANUARY, 1935.

KENYA.

RED LOCUST.

The report dated the 16th instant stated that owing to the probability of invasion by swarms from Tanganyika Territory, the outlook was not as favourable as at the commencement of the year. Since that date large swarms flying northward have been reported in the Umba Valley on the Tanganyika-Kenya border at the coast and invasion must be anticipated. Dense swarms of mature locusts flying in a northerly direction are also reported between Mombo and Tanga. These may cross the border into Kenya very shortly and lay.

The Masai, Voi and Digo Districts, where they may enter are very sparsely populated by natives and there are few or no Europeans. Hence all swarms present may not be seen by official observers and not be reported.

Emphasis is again placed on the necessity for all sections of the population to report the presence of adult locusts or hoppers to the nearest District Commissioner or European Police Officer. Especially is it the duty of all persons observing locusts in the Masai, Voi and Digo Districts to report the location, direction of flight and the approximate dimensions of swarms in flight or at rest, to the District Commissioner, Ngong, or the Agricultural Department, Nairobi. It will also be appreciated if observers can collect six or more locusts from each swarm and forward them to the Department.

There are still a few swarms elsewhere in the Colony, but these are small and for various reasons, including destruction by birds, are diminishing in size.

TANGANYIKA TERRITORY.

Swarms are reported in all Provinces and extensive laying has taken place. Locusts have entered from the south and proceeded northward, which is the general direction of flight.

Infestation on some scale is reported from the Western and Lake Provinces, as well as those bordering the sea. At Kilosa laying and hatching has occurred over thirty square miles. A report dated the 16th instant stated that weather conditions have not been favourable to locusts, and hatchings so far discovered are generally said to be sparse, but layings are extensive and attack by birds has come too late to be of great value.

A. G. BAILEY,
for Director of Agriculture.
