10 Ordinance, be deemed to be the salary which he would have received had he remained on duty in his substantive office.

Position of officers on war service.

(2) Where an officer shall, with the approval of the Governor or the Secretary of State, have left the service of this Government for the purpose aforesaid, then, notwithstanding anything contained in 15 the principal Ordinance, so long as it shall be the expressed intention of this Government and of the officer that he should, as soon as practicable after the termination of his service with His Majesty's Forces, return to the service of this Government, he may, by electing in such manner and within such time as may be directed by the 20 Governor, continue to contribute. If he so elects his salary shall, for the purpose of computing his contributions be deemed to be the salary which he would have received, with all increments for which he would have been eligible, if he had continued to hold the substantive office held by him immediately before so leaving the service of this Govern-
25 ment:

Provided that—

(a) if and so long as the officer shall be in receipt from the funds of this Government of payment in the nature of salary or other emoluments equivalent to, or greater than, the contri-
30 butions which would be due from him if he elected under this sub-section to continue to contribute, he shall continue to contribute as aforesaid whether he shall or shall not elect so to do; and

(b) where and so long as the provisions of this sub-section relating to the return of the officer to the service of this Government are inapplicable by reason only of a proposal that such officer should be appointed to other service under the Crown, this sub-section shall continue to apply to him until he is so appointed; and when he shall be so appointed he shall be 40 deemed, for the purposes of the principal Ordinance, to have been transferred to such other service.

(4) If any officer who is entitled, under sub-section (2) of this
50 section, to elect to continue to contribute does not duly so elect, or if any officer fails to pay when due any sum payable by him under sub-section (3) of this section, the Governor or the Secretary of State may give either or both of the following directions, that is to say—

(a) that the officer shall cease to contribute as from a date (which 55 may be prior to the date of the direction) to be specified in the direction, and

(b) that the Pensions (War Service) Ordinance, 1940, shall not apply to this case, and any such direction shall have the force of law.

60 (5) This section, notwithstanding anything contained therein, shall not apply where the office in the service of this Government last held by the officer prior to service in His Majesty's Forces was not a pensionable office for the purposes of the European Officers' Pensions Ordinance, 1927, except where in any particular case the Governor otherwise directs. No. 11 of 1927.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

The objects of this Bill, which is based on a model prepared in the Colonial Office, are—

- (a) to clarify certain points in the principal Ordinance;
- (b) to provide for certain adjustments in benefits on lines recommended by a Committee under the Chairmanship of the Government Actuary; and
- (c) (by clause 15) to preserve the rights and set out the position of officers who are serving with His Majesty's Forces.

Under the present law a male child ceases to be eligible for benefit on attaining the age of 18 years. It is proposed to extend this to the age of 21 years under Clause 2 (1) (a) of the Bill.

Under section 4 (3) of the principal Ordinance an officer contributing to an approved scheme may claim exemption (unless he is already a contributor to the Kenya scheme) from becoming a contributor to the Kenya scheme and when such exemption has been claimed he may not subsequently become a contributor to the Kenya scheme unless he either ceases to contribute to the approved scheme or marries or leaves the service of the Government of the Colony and is subsequently re-appointed to it. Under Clause 3 (b) of the Bill an officer contributing to an approved scheme is not eligible to become a contributor to the Kenya scheme except where his contributions to such approved scheme are less than he would have contributed to the Kenya scheme. In that case, under the proposed amendment he would pay the difference to the Kenya scheme and become a contributor as from the date of such payment.

Under section 5 of the principal Ordinance an officer may in certain circumstances elect to make an annual additional contribution of one-half of the contribution normally payable. Clause 4 of the Bill withdraws this election in the case of future contributors.

Under section 17 of the principal Ordinance an officer dismissed for misconduct is not entitled to rank for benefit whether by way of pension or return of contributions. Under Clause 8 of the Bill, if the officer is a bachelor the total amount of his contributions would be repaid to him without interest, and if a widower without children of pensionable age, the amount of the contributions paid by him since his wife died or since his last child ceased to be of pensionable age (whichever happened last) would be repaid to him without interest since the time he ceased to have a beneficiary. In the case of a married man or a widower with a child of pensionable age, registered pension would be adjusted to the contributions paid.

Under section 26 of the principal Ordinance if a bachelor or widower without children of a pensionable age attains the age of 55 years or dies in the East African service, half the total contributions in the former case and half the contributions since the ceasing to have beneficiaries in the latter must be refunded without interest. Under Clause 9 of the Bill full contributions would be refunded with compound interest at $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent per annum.

Under section 28 of the principal Ordinance if a non-pensionable contributor with beneficiaries whose period of payment of contributions has not expired dies in the East African service the beneficiaries receive four-fifths of the amount given in the Pension Tables. If such a contributor leaves the East African service otherwise than on transfer and dies within a period dating from the day of his leaving the service and equal to one-third of the number of completed months during which he contributed, his beneficiaries receive a pension at the same rate. Under Clause 12 of the Bill the reduction to four-fifths of the amount given by the Pension Tables would be abolished, the contributor on retirement would have registered in his name the pension actually earned by his past contributions and would not be eligible to contribute after the date of his retirement. He would, however, be able to elect to have the full pension in lieu of the reduced registered pension registered in his name for a period equal to one-half of the period which he contributed, and if he is alive at the expiration he would cease to be entitled to rank for benefit whether by way of pension or return of contributions.

The remaining amendments are of a minor character.

It is not possible to state what expenditure of public moneys would be involved if this Bill becomes law.
