QUEEN ELIZABETH'S COLONIAL NURSING SERVICE

IT IS announced that Her Majesty the Queen has been graciously pleased to consent that the Colonial Nursing Service shall be given the title of Queen Elizabeth's Colonial Nursing Service. The Unified Colonial Nursing Service was formed in 1940. Candidates for the service retain the right of choice of Colonial Territory on first appointment. They are not transferred to another territory without their consent. Nevertheless, transfers are now possible on request or promotion within the 26 Dependencies or groups of territories whose appointments come within the service. All members are State registered nurses and most are also State registered midwives. After 1st January, 1949, this latter qualification will become compulsory. The origin of the Colonial Nursing Service dates from 1896 when the first trained nurses were sent out to Mauritius under the auspices of a Voluntary Society. In the following year the first two Government employed nurses left for the Gold Coast. The number of appointments rose rapidly in succeeding years, reaching three figures in 1925. A total of 228 appointments was made in 1947 and to-day the establishment of the service stands at over 800.

During World War II 52 members of the nursing service lost their lives, the majority in Malaya.
