GOVERNMENT NOTICE No 182

The Governor in Council has approved of the following Bill being introduced into the Legislative Council

T V N FORTESCUE,
Acting Clerk to the Legislative Council

A BILL ENTITLED
AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE JUVENILES
ORDINANCE, 1934

ENACTED by the Governor of the Colony of Kenya, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows —

Short title

1. This Ordinance may be cited as the Juveniles (Amendment) Ordinance 1951, and shall be read and construed as one with the Juveniles Ordinance, 1934, hereinafter referred to as the principal Ordinance

No 22 of 1934

Amendment of section 35 of the principal
Ordinance

2. Section 35 of the principal Ordinance is amended by adding thereto the following new paragraph—

(d) To be temporarily released from an approved school on leave of absence for such period and subject to such conditions as the Chief Inspector of Approved Schools may think fit

MEMORANDUM OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

This Bill will amend the Juveniles Ordinance 1934, so as to enable inmates of approved schools to be allowed out on leave while undergoing their period of detention. Recently experiments in releasing inmates on leave have been carried out on a small scale and the results are considered to have been so satisfactory both to the individuals and to the general discipline and morale of the schools that it has been decided to make legal provision to enable this course to be adopted.

It is expected that if the provisions of this Bill become law a very small additional expenditure of public money may be incurred, the amount of which it is not possible to estimate.

Provisions as to charges under the preceding section

Cap 127

(3) No prosecution for a contravention of any of the provisions of the last preceding section shall be instituted without the consent of the Attorney General

MEMORANDUM OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The main object of this Bill is to insert in the Pharmacy and Poisons Ordinance (referred to as the principal Ordinance), provisions designed—

- (a) to restrict the publication of advertisements of articles in terms calculated to lead to their use in the treatment of certain specific diseases or for procuring the miscarriage of women,
- (b) to require adequate disclosure of the composition of medicines

The opportunity has also been taken to amend the principal Ordinance in certain other respects in which it has been found to be defective

Clause 2 will insert certain new definitions rendered necessary as a result of the amendments which this Bill will effect

Clause 3 will insert a new section 22A prohibiting any person being in possession of any poison except pursuant to the prescription of a medical or dental practitioner or a veterinary surgeon or pursuant to a permit issued by any prescribed authority. The section expressly exempts possession by a medical practitioner, dentist or veterinary surgeon or by an authorized or licensed seller of poisons or by any person or institution exempted in relation to the sale of poisons from the provisions of the Ordinance by section 25 of the principal Ordinance

Clause 4 will amend section 25 of the principal Ordinance so as to require the purchaser of a prescribed poison who buys from a person carrying on a regular business in mining, agricultural or horticultural accessories to be in possession of a prescription from a qualified medical practitioner, dentist or veterinary surgeon

Clause 5 will amend section 31 of the principal Ordinance so as to empower a European police officer of or above the rank of Assistant Inspector to exercise the powers conferred by that section

Clause 6 will insert in the principal Ordinance new sections 33A, 33B, 33C, 33D and 33E. The new section 33A will restrict the publication of advertisements relating to any article or articles of any description in terms calculated to lead to the use of the article or articles of that description for the treatment of Bright's disease, cataract, diabetes, epilepsy or fits, glaucoma, locomotor ataxy, paralysis, tuberculosis or cancer. Provision is made for the section not to apply to any such advertisement if published by a local authority, the governing body of a voluntary hospital or by any person acting with the sanction of the Member. The section will also provide that it shall be a defence for any person charged to prove that the advertisement was published only so far as was reasonably necessary to bring it to the notice of one or more of certain specified classes of persons

The new section 33B will prohibit the publication of any advertisement of an article or articles of any description in terms calculated to lead to the use of the article or of articles of that description for procuring the miscarriage of women

The new section 33C contains provisions relating to punishment for offences against sections 33A and 33B. Sub-section (2) provides that if in any proceedings for a contravention of section 33A or 33B it is proved that the advertisement does refer to an article in terms calculated to lead to its use for the treatment of one of the specified diseases or for procuring the miscarriage of women and the advertisement also referred to the article in terms calculated to indicate that it was manufactured, produced, imported, sold or offered for sale by the person charged, then, unless the contrary is proved, it shall be presumed for the purpose of the proceeding that the person charged did take part in the publication of the advertisement. Sub-section (3) of the section provides that in any proceedings for a contravention of section 33A or 33B it shall be a defence to prove that the advertisement was published in such circumstances that he did not know and had no reason to believe he was taking part in its publication or that it was published in a publication of a technical character intended for circulation mainly among certain specified classes of persons.

The new section 33D prohibits the sale by retail or the supplying of a sample of any article consisting of or comprising a substance recommended as a medicine unless there is written so as to be clearly legible on the article or on the container thereof or on a label attached to the article or its container—

- (a) the appropriate designation of the substance so recommended or of each of the active constituents thereof or of each of the ingredients of which it has been compounded, and
- (b) the appropriate quantitative particulars of the constituents or ingredients

Provision is made that the section shall not apply to an article made up and supplied by reference to a prescription for a particular person. In sub-section (2) of the section the expressions "appropriate designation", "appropriate quantitative particulars" and "container" are defined for the purposes of the section. Sub-section (3) provides the penalties for a breach of the provisions of the section.

The new section 33E provides by sub-section (1) that it shall be a defence for a person charged with selling or supplying, contrary to section 33D, an article consisting of or comprising a substance recommended as a medicine to prove—

- (a) that he did not know and had no reason to believe that the article consisted of or comprised such a substance, or
- (b) that in relation to the matter in respect of which he is charged, he acted in the course of his employment as a servant or agent of another person on the instructions of his employer or of some other specified person.

By sub-section (2) a document purporting to be a certificate signed by a public analyst and stating the result of an analysis made by him is rendered admissible in evidence, but provision is made for any party to the proceedings to require the analyst to be called as a witness. By sub-section (3) proceedings for a breach of section 33D may not be instituted without the consent of the Attorney General.

It is not expected that any additional expenditure of public moneys will be involved if the provisions of this Bill become law.
