2 In addition to the said proposed variations in maximum prices it is proposed by the applicant that the rates of charge for all Kelvins should be liable to increase at the option of the applicant (by way of a fuel surcharge) by not more than cents 0 175 for every Sh 5 increase in the price of diesel engine fuel oil over and above the basic price—

- (a) in the case of Mombasa of Sh 235 per ton at Mbaraki Power Station,
- (b) in the case of Nakuru of Sh 300 per ton at Mereroni Power Station
- (c) in the case of Eldoret of Sh 300 per ton at Eldoret Power Station
- (d) in the case of Kisumu of Sh 300 per ton at Kisumu Power Station,
- (e) in the case of Kitale of Sh 300 per ton at Kitale Power Station,
- (f) in the case of Nanyuki of Sh 300 per ton at Nanyuki Power Station

This increase will apply to all Kelvins sold and will be computed in accordance with the following formula —

$$\frac{\text{Increase in rate per kelvin in cents} = \frac{\text{Latest price of diesel engine fuel oil} - \text{Basic price}}{5} \times \frac{\text{Thermal kelvins}}{\text{Total kelvins generated}}}{0.175 \text{ or lesser sum} \times \frac{\text{Thermal kelvins}}{\text{Total kelvins generated}}}$$

The Kelvins generated will in both cases be those generated in the previous calendar month

3 The reason for the application is to enable the applicant to promulgate a new set of methods of charge and/or prices for supply covering the applicant's various standard services. These new methods of charge will be formulated on a block basis similar to that known as Method A which was the subject of the application made by the applicant to His Excellency the Governor in Council on the 8th day of September, 1952 (the details of which said method were shown in the notice published by the applicant in the Official Gazette dated the 19th day of August, 1952 as General Notice No 1895 of 1952 appearing on page 827 of such Gazette, and a copy of which notice was also published in the East African Standard dated the 22nd day of August 1952, on page 2 thereof). The new methods of charge and prices for supply will be in substitution for the existing methods and prices which in most cases at present include a percentage surcharge. The new prices for supply will be designed to produce an average revenue substantially of the amount of the revenue now produced by the present charges and surcharge, although in the case of individual consumers there may be considerable variations. The reason why the new prices will be higher than those in force prior to the imposition of the present surcharge and why the variations in maximum prices aforesaid have become necessary is in order to enable the applicant to meet the rising costs (resulting from the post-war situation) of fuel materials, equipment and wages including the service of the heavy additional capital expenditure which has been and is being incurred by the applicant in development.
