GAZETTE NOTICE No. 3251

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 25 OF 1967

Parties:—

Domestic and Hotel Workers' Union
and
Ainsworth Hotel

Issue in dispute:—

Over a claim that the employer victimized the following employees, namely: Messrs. Japheth, Robert, Kisui and Mativo, who went on strike by mistake on 6th March 1967.

1. The Domestic and Hotel Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Ainsworth Hotel shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The Parties were heard in Nairobi on the 27th day of July 1967, and relied on their written and verbal submissions. Both Parties called a witness each.

AWARD

6. During the hearing of this dispute the Claimants argued that the employees involved had not gone on strike. This is very difficult to accept because the Claimants' representative clearly admitted to the conciliator that these employees had gone on strike by mistake and that they should not be blamed. Further it is clearly stated in the issue in dispute which is accepted by the Parties that these four employees went on strike by mistake on 4th March 1967. The Court, therefore, cannot accept the Claimants' contention that these employees did not go on strike. Even on the facts which came to light during the hearing it is clear that although off duty at 3.30 p.m. 12 employees including the shop steward Mr. Japheth had gathered in front of the hotel and that the Manager had warned them, after Japheth had told him that they were on strike, that if they did not resume duty at 4 p.m. then they would be deemed to have abandoned their work. The Court accepts the evidence of the Respondents' Manager and finds that Mativo and Kisui did not report for duty at 4 p.m. In the case of the gardener Robert it is quite clear that at 3.30 p.m. when he was with the other 11 workers he was not on duty and was not working, therefore, he had also abandoned his work. The position then is that although the shop steward was not due to resume work until 6.30 p.m. he incited the others to go on strike when in the morning of that day a peace formula had been agreed between the Minister for Labour and the Claimants whereby the strike scheduled to take place at 1 p.m. was to be postponed. It may be that Mr. Japhet was not on duty until 6.30 p.m. but the fact remains that, as he incited the others to go on strike he is as much responsible for their actions as they themselves are. In view of this the Court finds that, in his case also he terminated his own services.

In these circumstances the Court must find that the Respondents have not victimized any of the four employees involved in this dispute and absolves them from any blame. However, as on 3rd May 1967, the Respondents had indicated that they were prepared to make an ex gratia payment of a month's salary to each of the four employees, the Court awards that they should do so. The Court feels that this gesture would greatly help to improve the industrial relations which unfortunately have been disturbed due to the actions of a shop steward who misled the three other employees who have lost their jobs along with him.

GAZETTE NOTICE No. 3252

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 26 OF 1967

Parties:—

Kenya Petroleum Oil Workers' Union
and Agip Limited

Issue in Dispute:

Whether or not Mr. J. E. Sayetti was wrongfully dismissed by Messrs. Agip Limited.

1. The Kenya Petroleum Oil Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Agip Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The Parties were heard in Nairobi on the 1st day of August 1967 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

The Respondents have made an interesting submission that since they have carried out their obligations under the contract the question of wrongful dismissal of Mr. Sayetti cannot be entertained. This point has to be disposed of first. It is generally accepted that the principle of Industrial Law in providing for adjudication of labour disputes is obviously to conserve and promote just and equitable relations between employers and employees, and secure industrial peace through the process of collective bargaining, negotiation, conciliation or adjudication of such dispute. It is logical, therefore, that the Court should go beyond merely adjudging the question of contractual rights between an individual employer and his employee with reference to particular terms and conditions of employment. When a dispute between a workman and his employer regarding the termination of his service develops into an industrial dispute other considerations, apart from contractual rights, having a strong bearing upon industrial relations and industrial peace come into play.

The Court has to satisfy itself that the order terminating the service is not passed merely to camouflage an order of dismissal for misconduct. If it is found by the Court that the termination is, in fact, founded on misconduct, negligence or inefficiency, then the Court must find out if the facts support the allegation made against the worker. In cases of dismissal for misconduct/negligence/inefficiency the Court will not, however, easily set aside the management decision. It will interfere only (i) when there is want of good faith, (ii) when there is victimization or unfair labour practice, (iii) when the management has been guilty of a basic error or violation of principles of natural justice and (iv) when on the materials the finding is completely baseless or perverse.

It is not the Court's intention to interfere with the employer's right to hire and fire but it is the duty of the Court to ensure that this right is not abused. If the Court were not to do so, then it would be failing in its primary function of conserving and promoting just and equitable relations between employers and employees. For these reasons the Court must overrule the Respondents' submission that as they had complied with their contractual obligations the question of wrongful dismissal cannot be entertained.

Furthermore from the notice of termination of service it is quite obvious that the employee concerned has been sacked due to inefficiency and his failure to improve despite repeated warnings. The matter is, therefore, quite open for inquiry by the Industrial Court to determine whether the termination of employment was a colourable exercise of the employer's power by the Parties has come to the conclusion that there is nothing to suggest that the Respondents' termination of the services of the employee concerned was for any other reason than gross inefficiency. The Court, therefore, finds that Mr. Sayetti was not wrongfully dismissed by the Respondents.

GAZETTE NOTICE No. 3253

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 29 OF 1967

Parties:—

Kenya Local Government Workers' Union
and
Thika Municipal Council

Issues in dispute:—

- (1) Failure of the Council to implement agreed Leave Allowances.
- (2) Re-employment of Mr. Earnest Maina, former Gardener/Supervisor.

1. The Kenya Local Government Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and the Thika Municipal Council shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The Parties were heard in Nairobi on the 14th day of August 1967 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

The Court has very carefully considered the submissions made by the Parties in making its findings:—

Issue (1)

The Court is satisfied that the Parties were in no doubt that the leave travel allowance could only be paid after approval had been received of the Respondents' 1967 estimates. In the footnote to the relevant Minute No. 600/66 it is quite clearly stated that both sides noted that leave allowance will only be payable in 1967, when the Respondents make the necessary provision in the 1967 estimates. If this agreement had not been subject to the approval of the Minister for Local Government, then what was the purpose of including the said footnote in the agreement on this issue? The Local Government Regulations 1963 in regulation 213 (i) and (ii) give the Minister for Local Government a mandatory power to consider the annual or supplementary estimates as submitted, after which the Minister may either approve or disallow them as a whole or disallow one or more of the items contained therein and may make such modifications or conditions as he thinks fit. In the present dispute the Minister has not approved that part of the estimates which deals with the payment of leave allowance to the Respondents' employees. The Court, therefore, cannot make an award for the payment of this allowance without the approval of the Minister for Local Government, more so because the Parties agreed by implication that the agreement between them on this issue would be subject to the Minister for Local Government's approval.

The Court, therefore, awards that the date of implementation of the agreement to pay leave travel allowances would be the date when approval had been received from the Minister for Local Government to this item of expenditure in the estimates submitted by the Respondents.

Issue (2)

The Court finds that the Respondents are in breach of the agreement on this issue as it is quite clear that they had agreed to offer Mr. Maina an alternative employment with them. There is no question of employment being offered to Mr. Maina only in the event of there being a vacancy. It should be remembered that the Claimants had withdrawn their demand for the unconditional reinstatement of this employee on the Respondents' undertaking that Mr. Maina would be offered an alternative employment. It is also provided in this agreement that in the interest of good industrial relations the Parties undertook to honour this agreement.

The Court is satisfied that the problem of the 42 redundant employees had no bearing on this dispute and that the Respondents being fully aware of this problem had agreed to offer Mr. Maina alternative employment. The Court, therefore, awards that the Respondents should offer to re-employ Mr. Maina within 30 days of the date of the award either in a post which carries the same wage which he earned prior to his dismissal or a post which carries a lower wage than that.
