THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 31 OF 1980

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers
and

Insurance Employers Group of FKE

Issue in dispute:

Wage increase and salary structure

1. The Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Insurance Employers Group of FKE shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 6th and 7th August, 1980 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 1st April, 1980 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 24th May together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The collective agreement in force between the parties is effective from 1st January, 1978 and is to remain in force for a period of not less than five years. In the proviso, however, it is stated that either party may reopen negotiations on the salary structure 24 months after this agreement comes into effect. The Claimants invoked the provisions of this proviso and demanded that the salary structure be revised. The parties having exhausted their own machinery and having failed to resolve the dispute through conciliation with the assistance of the Ministry of Labour the dispute is now before the Court.

The Court was told that the number of employees engaged by the Respondents' members is roughly 1,000 out of which 900 are at clerical and senior clerical posts.

The main bones of contention between the parties are (i) the exact entitlement of the workers under the guidelines and (ii) whether or not the employees after getting their compensation should move up by one notch in order to compensate them for seniority in having completed another year in employment.

Ability to pay does not arise in this dispute and has neither been pleaded. The Claimants submitted that the insurance companies were making a lot of profit and were similar to banking industry. If anything, they were better than the banking industry. The Respondents did try to argue this point but the Court is satisfied that the Respondents are in a position to meet the Claimants' demands to be awarded by the Court.

The Claimants have argued that their entitlement under the Guidelines is 17.1 per cent for the lower income group and 16.1 per cent for the upper income group. The Respondents on the other hand have maintained that their offer which is reproduced hereinbelow is consistent with the guidelines:

"Proposed salary scales (consolidated) Current

1. Subordinate grade:

Salary scale.—K.Sh. 630 by K.Sh. 65 to K.Sh. 1,215 (10 points) K.Sh. 590 by K.Sh. 60 to K.Sh. 950 (7 points).

2. Special subordinate grade:

Salary scale.—K.Sh. 750 by K.Sh. 65 to K.Sh. 1,335 (10 points) K.Sh. 700 by K.Sh. 60 to K.Sh. 1,060 (7 points).

3. Clerical Grade II:

Salary scale.—K.Sh. 1,015 by K.Sh. 75 to K.Sh. 2,140 (16 points) K.Sh. 950 by K.Sh. 70 to K.Sh. 1,930.

4. Clerical Grade I:

Salary scale.—K.Sh. 1,365 by K.Sh. 80 to K.Sh. 2,565 (16 points) K.Sh. 1,200 by K.Sh. 75 to K.Sh. 2,250.

5. Senior Clerical Grade:

Salary scale.—K.Sh. 1,960 by K.Sh. 90 to K.Sh. 3,310 (16 points) K.Sh. 1,750 by K.Sh. 80 to 2,950".

The Employment Promotion Division have come out with the figure of 12.3 per cent as being the total permissible compensation percentage.

The Court has decided to accept the figure which has been produced by the EPD as to be the entitlement of the workers under the Guidelines and the Court rules that the workers are entitled to a 12 per cent increase on an average.

The more serious point in dispute is whether or not the workers are entitled to receive the annual increment in addition to this 12 per cent increase. The Respondents have very vigorously argued that the Claimants' submission on this point is illogical as the application of the wage guidelines to the "rate for the job" structures should yield the same result as their application to the "incremental scale structures" on a year by year basis. They added that if the Claimants' proposals were accepted it would place those employers operating "incremental scale structures" at a serious disadvantage in terms of cost in relation to those operating at the "rate for the job" structures.

The Claimants have vehemently opposed this argument on the ground that the annual increment is the workers' reward for having acquired better skills and therefore could not be set off against the cost of living compensation which was only a recent concept. They pointed out that the annual increment is granted only when one year is finished and that it was fallacious for the Respondents to argue that every collective agreement was a new agreement because the employees' services with their employers continued and did not come to an end on the expiry of a collective agreement. They accused the Respondents of attempting to deviate from the past principles and practice by refusing to pay annual increments. They maintained that from 1st January, 1980 everyone has got to move up a notch. In other words the workers should get their increase to compensate them for the cost of living increase and also the annual increment from 1st January, 1980. They maintained that this was consistent with the practice in the banking industry. They pointed out that if the Respondents' submission were accepted then the workers will lose one year in seniority.

After careful consideration of all the submissions the Court finds that it cannot accept the Respondents' submission that notches do not reflect years of service, otherwise they would be meaningless as they do not represent anything if not the years of service.

The Court has decided to award a new salary structure embodying a wage increase for the Respondents' employees as appears hereinbelow. All the employees who have completed one year's service by 1st January, 1980 should be slotted therein according to their years of service. In other words the workers will get an increase for compensation for cost of living and the annual increase.
