THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 127 OF 1982

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers
and

Kenya Breweries Limited

Issue in dispute:

Unfair dismissal of Mutira Wanjohi.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenya Breweries Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard on 18th April and 19th May, 1983, and relied on their written and verbal submission. In addition, the respondents called Charles Makonyango to give evidence on oath.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 31st March, 1982, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 23rd December, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Mr. Wanjohi worked for the respondents from 14th November, 1972 to 12th February, 1980, when he was dismissed. The reason for his dismissal was that he refused to work overtime after 4 p.m. on 11th February, 1980, when the second engineer had instructed him along with the other employees at about 3.40 p.m., because of the emergency breakdown in the new plant room machine tower to work overtime until the job was done. He refused to work and shouted at the second engineer that he could not give order to work after 4 p.m. This particular act coupled with his alleged notorious past record about absenteeism and lateness led to his dismissal.

The claimants took up the matter on his behalf and the dispute was investigated by the Ministry of Labour whose finding was that it was established that Mr. Wanjohi had been served with two warnings dated 2nd April and 11th October, 1979, for disappearance without permission and absenteeism, respectively. The investigator also found that Mr. Wanjohi clocked out at 4 p.m. on 11th February, 1980, after claiming that he had asked for permission twice to go to the hospital and it was rejected. The ministry found that he had earlier been a good employee but from the beginning of 1979, his conduct had started to deteriorate and recommended that the management's action was justified and the matter should rest there.

The claimants rejected the findings and the recommendation and the matter is now before the court.

Surprisingly the claimants did not call Mr. Wanjohi to give evidence although he was present in court throughout the proceedings, whereas the respondents called Charles Makonyango who at that time was the second engineer and who confirmed on oath that because of the emergency on 11th February, 1980, he had asked all the workers to continue working overtime after 4 p.m. All the workers complied with his instructions except Mr. Wanjohi who said that he had to go and although the engineer asked him again that he must have a good reason he just repeated saying that there is nothing like that requiring them to work overtime and that he had to go. Mr. Makonyango also confirmed that the next day when Mr. Wanjohi was taken before the chief engineer, he had given no explanation for his conduct the previous day and he had not produced any medical card.

During the hearing the claimants produced some medical documents attempting to show that Mr. Wanjohi had reported at Rhodes clinic. The photocopy of patient's record card which was produced has no date but there is a letter from Dr. Oluchina dated 5th September, 1980, confirming that Mr. Wanjohi attended the dispensary on 11th February, 1980, as per the clinic's records. The court might have given some weight to these documents if they had been produced during the company and the Ministry of Labour investigations but there is no record that the claimants produced them on those occasions.

The court is satisfied that Mr. Wanjohi had received a final warning for absenteeism on 11th October, 1979. Thereafter he was absent without permission in October, November, December and January, nine times. This is confirmed by the chief engineer at the time, Mr. Kiragu. The two photostat copies which were produced by the claimants showing that Mr. Kiragu had approved Mr. Wanjohi's leave applications on 8th and 29th October appear to be suspicious. In any case there is no endorsement on one of them of any action having been taken by the personnel officer.

The court has examined the claimants' plea that the collective agreement requires that six hours' notice for overtime must be given except in emergency. On 11th February, 1980, due to the breakdown, the whole plant in the section where Mr. Wanjohi was working was shut down so there was an emergency as an important section cannot continue to be closed down longer than necessary. Mr. Wanjohi being a fairly old employee should have known this. But the court gets the impression that he was really not interested in his job. He tried to work strictly to the rules and realizing that this time he might get into serious trouble he went to the doctor otherwise there is no reason why he should not have in the first place attended the respondents' clinic at the breweries.

Keeping all the circumstances of this dispute in mind, the court agrees with the Ministry of Labour finding that there is no wrongful dismissal in this case but the court awards that instead of a summary dismissal he should be deemed to have suffered a normal termination. The court accordingly directs the respondents to pay Mr. Wanjohi all the dues to which he would be entitled under a normal termination in accordance with the parties' collective agreement relevant to the material time.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 3 OF 1983

Parties:

Tailors and Textiles Workers' Union

and

Atul Wear

Issue in dispute:

Wrongful dismissal of Mrs. Helen Opondo.

THE Tailors and Textiles Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Atul Wear shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard on 3rd and 17th May, 1983, and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses to give evidence during the hearing:

Claimants:

Helen Opondo.

A. Opondo.

Respondents.—P. K. Shah.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 16th June, 1982, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 13th January, 1983, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Mrs. H. Opondo worked for the respondents from 15th June, 1978, until 7th August, 1981, as an assistant machinist. The reason for her termination was an allegation that she had been absent from duty since July. She immediately involved the claimants to make representations on her behalf and on 12th August, 1981, the claimants' branch secretary demanded one month's notice pay of KSh. 530 and 18 days' accrued leave for nine months of KSh. 367.20, making a total of KSh. 897.20. The branch secretary pointed out to the respondents' managing director that she had been absent with permission from Mr. Kiran as she had gone home to attend her father's funeral. The respondents rejected the demand.

On 15th October, 1981, an informal conciliation was carried out by Ministry of Labour and its finding was that Mrs. Opondo was absent with permission as otherwise the respondents could not have waited for five weeks before dismissing her. It was recommended that they should give her notice and leave pay. The respondents again rejected this information conciliation and the claimants reported a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour and an formal investigation was then carried out. Here again the investigator found in favour of Mrs. Opondo and the ministry recommended that her dismissal should be reduced to normal termination and she should in addition be paid two months' wages by way of compensation for the wrongful dismissal she had suffered. The respondents again rejected both the findings and the recommendation and the matter ended up in the Industrial Court.

After hearing the parties' submissions and evaluating the evidence given by Mr. and Mrs. Opondo and Mr. P. K. Shah the court finds it established that Mrs. Opondo was granted unpaid leave at the end of June 1981, for one month. The court also accepts that her child during that time was sick and her statement that she could not travel with a sick child at the end of July to resume work and decided to stay behind with instructions to her husband that he should go and report at the respondents' premises that she would be delayed by about a week to be true. The court was impressed by the husband's evidence that he did what his wife asked him to do. It is obvious that he did not see Mr. P. K. Shah on the day in question but he must have seen some member of the management on that day to whom he made the report.

The court cannot rule out the possibility in view of Mr. Shah's long absences from Mombasa on sales journeys that other members of management in his absence dealt with this matter but failed to inform him of what was happening, that is, if he is really not aware of all the circumstances of this dispute.

The court concurs with the findings of the Ministry of Labour investigations both informal and formal and finds that under the circumstances as proved, Mrs. Opondo has suffered a wrongful dismissal.

Mrs. Opondo accepted that she started working at another place from September 1981, and worked there for one year. In view of this, the court cannot accept the claimants' demand that in addition to her terminal benefits, she should be paid six months' wages as compensation because after two months she was already in employment.

Notwithstanding the fact that the claimants' branch secretary was prepared to settle this matter by the respondents paying Mrs. Opondo one month's notice pay and 18 days' leave pay, the court feels that because of the respondents' negative attitude in this dispute, the Ministry of Labour's recommendation of her dismissal being reduced to normal termination and two months' wages as compensation is justified. The court accordingly awards that the respondents should pay Mrs. Opondo her dues as recommended by the ministry on 14th May, 1982.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT CAUSE NO. 4 OF 1983

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers
and
Star East Africa Company

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Miss Sophia A. Fadhil.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Star East Africa Company shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 18th May, 1983, and relied on their written, and verbal submissions. They also called the following witnesses to give evidence on oath:

Claimants.—S. A. Fadhil.

Respondents.—Y. Levy.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 23rd June, 1982, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 13th January, 1983, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Miss Fadhil worked for the respondents from 10th October, 1977, until 21st April, 1981, when her services were terminated. The reason for her dismissal was her behaviour on 17th April, 1981, when it was alleged that she had decided to desert her place of work without any lawful cause or without any authority from the management. The claimants took up the matter on her behalf and reported a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour and an official investigation was carried out by the ministry whose finding was that the respondents had not acted fairly towards her as she had reported for duty late because of a very reasonable cause and further for 3½ years she had worked for them she had not been warned even once. The ministry recommended that she should be paid all her terminal benefits and two months' salary by way of compensation for the loss of her employment. The claimants accepted the ministry's findings and recommendation but the respondents refused and the matter was referred to the Industrial Court.

During the hearing the grievant gave evidence on oath and Mr. Levy, the respondents' general manager, also gave evidence.

The facts of the incident leading to Miss Fadhil's termination are to a large degree not disputed. During the Easter weekend that year, the respondents had arranged for one of the two telex operators to be on duty in the morning of 17th April, a Good Friday. It was Miss Fadhil who was to work on that morning but unfortunately the previous night her son fell sick and in the morning she had to take him to see a doctor with the result that she reached her office at 10 a.m. Miss Fadhil stated in court that when she arrived late, Mr. Levy wanted to know the reason and she told him about her son's sickness but he refused to accept her explanation and said that she had taken advantage of it being a holiday. He then told her "you better go now" as there was no need for two telex operation because he had sent for the other operator, Lilian. On 21st April, she reported on duty and worked until 10 a.m. when her services were terminated.

Mr. Levy while giving evidence said that there were certain important telexes which had to be sent to Israel on Friday for which purpose it was arranged that one of the telex operators would be on duty. He did not know who was to come. When he came to work at 8.30 a.m. he found no operator and was very annoyed and at about 10.30 a.m. he saw Miss Fadhil at her desk crying. He asked her why she was late but instead of replying she left the room. The office superintendent told him that her son was sick. He then arranged for the other telex operator to be called on duty. On the following Tuesday he saw Miss Fadhil working and asked her what had happened and she again did not reply. He then asked the accountant what was the matter and he was again told that her son was sick. Mr. Levy felt that she had not shown any respect and he decided to terminate her services. He added that he expected her to apologize.

The above are the simple facts of this dispute and the court has to determine if under these circumstances the respondents were justified in terminating Miss Fadhil's services. The court finds that even if what Mr. Levy said is the true version of the incident, termination under these circumstances was indeed harsh. At the most important mitigating factor is that Miss Fadhil's son was sick and was taken by her to Dr. Chudasama who had certified that he had treated him during the material time.

The court finds that the Ministry of Labour's findings and recommendation are proper in this dispute.

The respondents raised a point that Miss Fadhil had signed a statement saying that she had no further claim whatsoever against the respondents on 22nd July, 1981, when she had received a cheque for KSh. 2,333.85 being refund due to her under the staff endowment arrangement. The court accepts her statement that what she signed was a receipt for this particular claim under the staff endowment scheme because her dispute on wrongful termination was being processed by the ministry.

It is obvious that Miss Fadhil has received her terminal benefits and the court accordingly awards that the respondents should pay her two months' salary by way of compensation for the wrongful dismissal that she has suffered. Under the circumstances of the dispute, the court cannot accept the claimants' demand for a maximum compensation of 12 months' salary under the Trade Disputes Act to be awarded to her.

GAZETTE NOTICE No. 2309

THE TRADE MARKS ACT
(Cap. 506)

NOTICE is given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within sixty (60) days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on form TM. No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of KSh. 50.

Notice is also given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him an opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Office, Nairobi.

Applications for registration in part A of the register are shown with the official number unaccompanied by any letter. Applications for part B are distinguished by the letter B prefixed to the official number.

IN CLASS 9—SCHEDULE III

Registration of this trade mark shall give no right to the exclusive use of the letter W apart from the mark as a whole.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 16 OF 1982

Parties:

Kenya Union of Journalists
and

The Publishers (Nation Newspapers Ltd. and the Standard Ltd.)

INTERPRETATION APPLICATION

Ruling (2)

THE parties negotiated and entered into a collective agreement at their own level which was effective from 1st April, 1980, for a period of two years. It is a matter of great regret that such enlightened parties having negotiated, concluded and signed a collective agreement themselves soon thereafter were in serious disagreement as to what they had signed! Inevitably the onerous task of telling the parties what they had agreed and to decide for them fell on this court.

The court announced its award on 26th October, 1982, and the claimants made an application for interpretation of the court award on 20th January, 1983. The court heard the parties on 11th February and in order to facilitate the implementation of the collective agreement, the court announced its ruling on the same day in the following words:

1. Having considered the parties' submission, the court finds that the claimants' interpretation in respect of those journalists beyond the seventh and eighth years scales is correct.

2. The journalists should get the increase in accordance with their appointments and not the functions they perform.

Finally the court noted that the journalists benefit according to their salary positions or salary brackets.

The court had earlier in its award directed that the claimants and the respondents should get together under the chairmanship of Mr. Wangia of the Division of Manpower Planning and Development and work out the dues of each and every journalist who is affected by their collective agreement as it was obvious that the respondents had interpreted the agreement to the disadvantage of the journalists.

After the court's interpretation on 11th February, 1983, the Nation Newspapers Ltd., one of the respondents, met the claimants under the chairmanship of Mr. Wangia and the court was told that in a matter of three days all the arrears due to the journalists employed by the Nation were worked out and there was no further area of any disagreement as far as they are concerned.

It is indeed very unfortunate that the other respondents—the Standard Ltd.—have not been able to do the same and although they did meet the claimants under the chairmanship of Mr. Wangia no progress of any consequence was made and the Standard Ltd. moved the court for a further interpretation of the court's award on the collective agreement which the parties themselves had negotiated and concluded. In this application, apart from the seven areas of disagreement in the calculation of arrears which the Standard Ltd. have put forward, they have made a scathing attack on Mr. Wangia and have questioned his impartiality in the matter. Mr. Wangia who was in court and who also made his report to the court stated that the parties as a matter of fact had never reached a deadlock during the meetings he had held and that he had adjourned a meeting of 5th May, 1983, with the intention of continuing the next day and to his surprise the next development was this interpretation application to the court by the Standard Ltd.! The claimants, however, were not as discreet as Mr. Wangia and bluntly attacked the financial controller of the Standard Ltd., Mr. Wyeth, as being the root cause of all the disagreement in the implementation of the court award. They complained that other members of the management who had played a leading role in these negotiations had deliberately stayed away thus making the parties to make do with inconclusive evidence.

The Standard Ltd. requested the court that they were not prepared to meet under the chairmanship of Mr. Wangia and asked the court to appoint another chairman preferably an auditor. The claimants strongly objected to this suggestion and accused the Standard Ltd. of fiddling with the figures and of trying to erode the authority of the court by not implementing an award which was quite clear.

The court has carefully considered the parties' submissions and rules as follows on the areas of disagreement as put forward by the Standard Ltd.:

- (a) The court is not able to help the parties on deciding what the existing wage records or the actual salaries paid to the various journalists are. This is a matter of verification by the parties and the respondents should make available all the necessary records during future meetings and the claimants should produce if they object to any such records any documentary evidence they may have in their possession to the chairman.
- (b) For the purposes of the implementation of the parties' collective agreement the relevant salary structure is the one as at 31st March, 1980.
- (c) During the hearing it transpired that the anniversary month of each employee is not an area of disagreement as it is a simple matter to determine the date of each journalist's appointment.
- (d) The court has made it very clear in its ruling on the first interpretation application that the percentage increases are to be granted to journalists on their salary positions or salary brackets. The court overrules the Standard Ltd.'s contention that each employee has a job category and whether or not the salary may be higher than the minimum quoted, the percentage increase per annum relates to the years of service detailed. The court has ruled that the percentage increased is to be based on all the journalists' salary positions or salary brackets in which they were on 31st March, 1980. The court would like to draw the parties' attention to pages 2, 3 and 4 of its award where this position has been clarified. The court's decision was arrived at after a careful study of the collective agreement which the parties themselves negotiated and signed. If the Standard Ltd. now find that it was their intention to do that then it is entirely the fault of their own team during negotiations for not having taken care of this particular point. All the evidence leads to the claimants' interpretation being correct and the court upholds it.
- (e) and (f) On the question of lunch allowance and meal award, the court rules that the KSh. 150 lunch allowance during the end of 1980 was consolidated in the journalists' salaries and is not a fringe benefit. This was an agreement made between F. J. Ojiambo, father of the chapel and the then managing director of the Standard Ltd., J. J. Austen Brown. The lunch allowance is part of the journalists' salary for the purpose of working out their salary increases. During calculating journalists' arrears, care should be taken so that the journalists do not get any double payment on this item.
- (g) On the question of merit increases that have been granted to journalists during the lifetime of the collective agreement in dispute, the court directs that such merit increases are not in any way to be offset against the journalists' entitlement under the collective agreement. They are in addition to the benefits awarded by the court but they do become a part of the journalists' salary from the date they are granted so that any percentage increase due after a merit increase has been given will be worked out on the salary inclusive of the merit increase.

The court directs that Mr. Wangia should continue to chair the meetings between the claimants and the respondents but in order to allay the fears of the Standard Ltd., the court has decided to reinforce the independent panel appointing the Chief Industrial Relations Officer or his deputy to assist Mr. Wangia in this exercise.

The court directs the Standard Ltd. to embark on the exercise of working out the journalists' arrears as directed by the court without any further delay.

Dated the 21st June, 1983.

SAEED R. COCKAR,
Judge.

THE TRADE MARKS ACT

(Cap. 506)

NOTICE is given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within sixty (60) days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on form TM. No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of KSh. 50.

Notice is also given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him an opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.
