GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 99

THE ANTI-CORRUPTION AND ECONOMIC CRIMES ACT

(No. 3 of 2003)

ANNUAL REPORT FOR THE YEAR 2003/2004

Preamble:

The Kenya Anti-Corruption Commission (KACC) was established in May 2003. This necessitated the transition from Anti-Corruption Police Unit (A.C.P.U.) to the KACC. However, activities, which were programmed under A.C.P.U., continued under the banner of KACC. The Head of A.C.P.U. took over as the Temporary Director of the Commission in accordance with the provisions of the Anti-Corruption and Economic Crimes Act, No. 3 of 2003. This report covers the activities carried out by the Commission during the year 2003/2004. The report is pursuant to section 15 of the Anti Corruption and Economic Crimes Act.

The Kenya Anti-Corruption Advisory Board:

The Kenya Anti-Corruption Advisory Board was established in August 2003. The Board is an unincorporated body consisting of thirteen members, twelve of whom are nominated by interest groups and professional organizations. The incumbent Director of the Commission is the Secretary to the Board.

The Director and Assistant Directors:

The Anti-Corruption and Economic Crimes Act creates the position of a Director who is the Chief Executive of KACC. The Act also creates positions of up to four (4) Assistant Directors who assist the Director in the execution of KACC's mandate.

During the report period, the Temporary Director was assisted by five (5) heads of sections. These sections were:

- (a) Investigation and Police Administration.
- (b) Crime Intelligence.
- (c) Research, Information and Public Education
- (d) Preventive Services.
- (e) Finance and administration.

Functions of the Kenya Anti-Corruption Commission:

Section 7 of the Anti-Corruption and Economic Crimes Act, No. 3 of 2003 spells out the functions of the Commission as follows:

- (a) To investigate any matter that, in the Commission's opinion, raises suspicion that any of the following have occurred or are about to occur—
 - (i) Conduct constituting corruption or economic crime;
 - (ii) Conduct liable to allow, encourage or cause conduct constituting corruption or economic crime;
- (b) To investigate the conduct of any person that, in the opinion of the Commission, is conducive to corruption or economic crime.
- (c) To assist any law enforcement agency of Kenya in the investigation of corruption or economic crime.
- (d) At the request of any person, to advise and assist the person on ways in which the person may eliminate corrupt practices.
- (e) To examine the practices and procedures of public bodies in order to facilitate the discovery of corrupt practices and to secure the revision of methods of works or procedures that in the opinion of the Commission, may be conducive to corrupt practices.
- (f) To advise heads of public bodies of changes in practices or procedures compatible with the effective discharge of the duties of such bodies that the Commission thinks necessary to reduce the likelihood of the occurrence of corrupt practices.
- (g) To educate the public on the dangers of corruption and economic crime and to enlist and foster public support in combating corruption and economic crime.
- (h) To investigate the extent of liability for the loss of or damage to any public property and—

- (i) to institute civil proceedings against any person for the recovery of such property or for compensation; and
- (ii) to recover such property or enforce an order for compensation even if the property is outside Kenya or the assets that could be used to satisfy the order are outside Kenya; and
- (iii) to carry out any other functions conferred on the Commission by or under this Act or any other law.

Message from the Chairman:

The Anti-Corruption and Economic Crimes Act, (No. 3 of 2003) established the Kenya Anti-Corruption Commission (KACC). The Commission has powers to investigate and prevent conduct constituting corruption and economic crimes, recover misappropriated public funds and educate the public on the dangers of corruption. The past attempts to fight corruption in Kenya, which date back to the pre-independence era, were largely a mirage. The move to provide a new platform from which to fight corruption through a new legislation provides a fresh start and a new hope to Kenyans.

The Act also establishes the Kenya Anti-corruption Advisory Board. The mandate of the Board is to advise KACC generally on the exercise of its power and the performance of its functions. The first Board was appointed in August 2003. The members were drawn from various organisations as follows:

1. Allan Njoroge Ngugi (Kenya Association of Manufacturers).
2. Ahmednassir Maalim Abdullahi (Law Society of Kenya).
3. Shehnaz N. Sumar (Mrs.) (Federation of Kenya Employers).
4. Richard Ndung'u Boro (Certified Public Accountants of Kenya).
5. K.K. Bett (Kenya Bankers Association).
6. Anna Muchungu (Mrs.) (Professional Societies of East Africa).
7. Mariamu El-Maawy (Ms.) (Architectural Association of Kenya).
8. A.V. Otieno (Prof.) (Institution of Engineers of Kenya).
9. Miriam K. Were (Prof.) (Kenya Medical Association).
10. International Federation of Women Lawyers (FIDA) Kenya Chapter.
11. Francis Atwoli (Central Organisations of Trade Unions).
12. Charles Kariuki Wambugu representing the Joint Forum for Religious Organisations was appointed to the Board with effect from 8th September, 2004.
13. The Director, Kenya Anti-Corruption Commission.

The Board has the mandate to recommend to Parliament the persons to be appointed as Director and Assistant Directors. This being the first year of KACC, the Board's first task was to put in place the right structures for the organisation. The priority was to identify the Director and Assistant Directors. This was effectively done and although there was a time lapse before the names were tabled in Parliament, the process was finally concluded and the identified names were approved. The appointees were subsequently gazetted on 10th September, 2004.

The new management has now assumed office and comprises of:

1. Justice (Rtd.) A.G. Ringera, (Director/Chief Executive).
2. Dr. John P. Mutonyi, (Assistant Director, Investigations and Asset Tracing).
3. Ms. Fatuma Sichale (Ms.), (Assistant Director, Legal Services).
4. Dr. Smokin Wanjala (Dr.), (Assistant Director, Research, Education, Policy and Preventive Services).

As I reflect on the past year, I take delight in the fact that we have created an institution that is determined to carry out its mandate. Although corruption perception index reported by the Transparency International indicates improved performance in the fight against corruption, the war is far from being won.

I wish the Advisory Board and the Management the best of success in their endeavour to steer KACC to perform its mandate effectively. The ultimate goal is to have a country that is free of corrupt practices.

I invite all Kenyans to join in the struggle to build up a country that promotes excellence in all processes and systems for our benefit and that of the future generations.

ALLAN N. NGUGI,

*Chairman,
Kenya Anti-Corruption Advisory Board.*

Director's Message:

I took office as the Director of Kenya Anti-Corruption Commission on 10th September, 2004 from Gideon Mutua the then Temporary Director who steered the organisation from 19th February, 2003 to 9th September, 2004. This report therefore covers the period under Mutua's stewardship.

During the period under review, the Kenya Anti-Corruption Commission continued to implement its functions through a three-pronged approach of Enforcement, Prevention and Public Education. This is in line with its mandate as spelt out in the Anti-Corruption and Economic Crimes Act, 2003. The following is an overview of the Commission's programmes and activities for the year 2003/2004.

Enforcement:

During the year, a total of 3,552 complaints were received. Out of these, KACC instituted investigations on 242 complaints. These were the complaints that fell within the KACC's mandate. The other complaints were handed over to the relevant agencies for further action while no action was taken on 229 complaints. Additionally, overt and covert surveillance continued throughout the year.

Preventive Services:

The section carried out examinations into the systems, policies, procedures and practices of six public organisations and advised these organisations on ways and means of sealing corruption loopholes. Additionally, 150 Chief Executives, Board Members and Senior Managers of public organisations were trained on the principles and practices of corporate governance.

Research Information and Public Education (RIPE):

The section produced and distributed Information, Education and Communication (IEC) materials. It also carried out the Annual Corruption Perception Survey and a Public Service Integrity Programme implementation survey. A number of anti-corruption training and sensitisation seminars took place within the following programmes.

- (a) The Public Service Integrity Programme (P.S.I.P.).
- (b) Education for National Integrity (E.N.I.).
- (c) Training, Research, Advocacy and Governance (TRAG) Programme

The section also drew up a 5-year plan.

Legal Advisory Centre:

The Legal Advisory Centre coordinated the institution of two major cases in an attempt to recover millions of public funds lost through corruption. These are HCCC No. 1111 of 2003, Kenya Anti-Corruption Commission Vs Kamlesh M.D. Pattni and 16 others and HC Misc. Appl. NO. 559 of 2004, Kenya Anti-Corruption Commission vs L.Z. Engineering Construction Limited, and five others. The Centre also prepared four quarterly reports for the period May 2003 to June 2004. This is pursuant to the provisions section 35 and 36 of the Anti Corruption and Economics Crimes Act.

Challenges:

KACC continued to work with a very limited number of staff especially at the technical departments. This was further compounded by shortage of resources especially computers and other equipment required for surveillance. Due to the fact that KACC activities are centralized at the headquarters, members of the public were unable to effectively report corruption cases. Although some cases coming from the rural areas were referred to the regional Criminal Investigation Department offices, there was hardly any feedback.

Appreciation:

I am very grateful to all government departments, which supported KACC in various programmes. I wish to single out the Office of the President, the Ministry of Justice and Constitutional Affairs, Directorate of Personnel Management, the Department of Governance and Ethics and the Office of the Attorney-General for the specific roles they played in providing support to the fight against Corruption.

I wish to thank the development partners especially the United Nations Development Program (UNDP) and the Danish Development Agency (DANIDA) for providing KACC with funds to support the Training, Research, Advocacy and Governance (TRAG) programme.

Many thanks to members of the Kenya Anti-Corruption Advisory Board who worked tirelessly to steer the transition and provided guidance in the overall management of the Commission.

Finally, I wish to thank all the staff members who in spite of many challenges worked tirelessly to keep the fight against corruption aflame.

JUSTICE (RTD) A. G. RINGERA,
*Director/Chief Executive,
Kenya Anti-Corruption Commission.*

Crime Intelligence Section:

This section has three subsections namely the Report Centre, the Surveillance and Technical Service Centre and the Data Centre.

The Report Centre receives complaints and/or information either directly from the public who come in person, through letters, telephone/fax, media, Parliamentary reports (i.e. Public Investment Committee and Public Accounts Committee reports). The information collected is analysed and reduced into an intelligence summary, which guides the decision of the Report Assessment and Classification Committee (RACC) on the matter. Thereafter the subsection drafts the letters forwarding the matter to various investigative agencies.

The Surveillance and Technical Service Centre collects intelligence on corruption and economic crimes. It also helps investigators with forensic and technical expertise in the collection of evidence on corruption and economic crimes. The information collected is also useful in asset tracing.

The Data Centre stores all corruption related complaints received and processed by the Commission.

Statistics:

As shown in the table below, the number of corruption and corruption related reports made to KACC have been rising steadily from 2,507 in the year 2002, 3,392 in the year 2003, and, 3,552 in the year 2003/4. This is a demonstration of an increased level of anti-corruption awareness and a desire to see corruption dealt with. The scenario can be attributed to the atmosphere created by the government's stand and onslaught against corruption: an onslaught that KACC has maintained.

Summary of Complaints:

Staff Training:

Officers from Surveillance and Technical Services attended a one-month course on operational intelligence in Israel. The officers learned how to use various tools for collecting intelligence, how to manage intelligence-gathering operations and how to analyse and process information. Other officers from the Section have also attended various workshops and seminars.

Investigation and Police Administration Section:

Investigation and Police Administration Section (I & PA) consists of two divisions, namely Investigations and Security and Police Administration.

The Investigation division investigates corruption and economic crimes, conduct liable to allow, encourage or cause conduct constituting corruption or economic crime, and conduct of any person that is conducive to corruption or economic crime. The division also investigates the extent of liability for the loss of or damage to any public property for purposes of recovery or compensation. The division is further mandated to assist any law enforcement agency in Kenya in the investigation of corruption or economic crime.

The Investigation division comprises a multi-disciplinary team of officers composed of Police Officers (career detectives), Engineers, Quantity Surveyors, Auditors, Accountants, Systems Analysts and Valuers. The teams complement each other's competencies when investigating complex cases of corruption and economic crime. As at the close of the year, the total establishment in this division stood at 21 officers.

Security and Police Administration division's main task is to provide security to the Integrity Centre Building, staff, witnesses, KACC's assets and clients. The division consists of Police officers drawn from the regular Police, General Service Unit and Administration Police.

The section carried out the following activities as at 30th June, 2004.

Legal Advisory Centre:

The Legal Advisory Centre's primary function is to recover unexplained assets from public officers and assist public bodies to recover their misappropriated property. It is the Centre's duty to institute civil proceedings against any person for the recovery of such property and enforce any order for compensation, even if the property is outside Kenya or the assets that could be used to satisfy the order are outside Kenya.

Other functions of the Legal Advisory Centre include crime reading of Investigation files and preparation of reports on those files, conducting legal research, preparation of quarterly and annual reports. The Centre also provides legal advice to the Commission on issues that are pertinent to its operations.

Civil Proceedings instituted by Kenya Anti-Corruption Commission:

During the report period, the Commission instituted two major cases in an attempt to recover millions of public funds that had been looted from the government. These are HCCC No. 1111 of 2003, Kenya Anti-Corruption Commission vs Kamlesh M.D Patni and 16 others and HC Misc. Application No. 599 of 2004, Kenya Anti-Corruption Commission vs L.Z Engineering Construction Ltd and five others.

(a) HCCC No. 1111 of 2003, Kenya Anti-Corruption Commission Vs Kamlesh M.D Patni and 16 others.

An application was filed at the High Court of Kenya in Nairobi on 30.10.03 for preservation of Goldenberg related assets worth an estimated value of KSh. 1, 112, 000,000. Ex parte orders preserving the property were granted, but the respondents challenging those orders subsequently filed various constitutional applications. The ex parte orders were all vacated on 10.11.03 and the constitutional references were set down for hearing on 8th and 9th December, 2003, before a two Judge bench.

The hearing did not proceed and the case was later mentioned before the Honourable Chief Justice on 10.3.04. He set the matter for hearing on 7th and 10th June, 2004. The hearing did not proceed during the two days and the same is still pending in Court.

A consent order was however entered into and filed in Court on 7th June 2004 between Kenya Anti-Corruption Commission, Uhuru Highway Development Co. Ltd (3rd Respondent) and Gitari Njeu, the former court appointed Receiver Manager. The parties consented that Gitari Njeu cease to act as Receiver/Manager and in his place H. W. Gichohi and Peter Ndaa be appointed as joint Receiver/Managers.

(b) HC Misc. Appl. No. 599 of 2004, Kenya Anti-Corruption Commission vs L.Z Engineering Construction Limited, Yaya Tower Limited, Hon. Kipyator Nicholas Kiprono Biwott, H.Z & Co. (K) Limited, Ziba Management Services Limited and Greenwood Holding Limited.

An application for preservation of assets was filed on 14th May, 2004 and ex parte orders were issued. The matter came up for Inter partes hearing on 14th June, 2004 and the court set aside the ex parte orders. The main application is yet to be heard as the respondents have raised various preliminary objections. The hearing of the preliminary objection was set down for hearing on 27th October, 2004, 11th November, 2004 and 22nd November, 2004.

Quarterly Reports:

Legal Advisory Centre prepared four quarterly reports covering the period May to September, 2003, October, to December, 2003, January to March, 2004 and April to June, 2004. The reports start from the month of May because the Commission was created on 2nd May, 2003 when the Anti-Corruption and Economic Crimes Act, 2003 became operational.

Section 35 of the Anti- Corruption and Economic Crimes Act provides as follows:

- (a) Following an investigation, the Commission shall report to the Attorney General on the results of the investigation.
- (b) The Commission's report shall include any recommendation the Commission may have that a person be prosecuted for corruption or economic crime.

In addition, Section 36 provides as follows:

- (a) The Commission shall prepare quarterly reports setting out the number of reports made to the Attorney General under section 35 and such other statistical information relating to those reports as the Commission considers appropriate.
- (b) A quarterly report shall indicate if a recommendation of the Commission to prosecute a person for corruption or economic crime was not accepted.
- (c) The Commission shall give a copy of each quarterly report to the Attorney General.
- (d) The Attorney General shall lay a copy of each quarterly report before the National Assembly.
- (e) The Commission shall cause each quarterly report to be published in the Gazette.

The quarterly reports are therefore prepared pursuant to the provisions of sections 35 and 36 of the Anti-Corruption and Economic Crimes Act.

Monitoring and Evaluation:

The section carried out its first monitoring activity between March and May, 2004. This was a performance assessment of various organisations that had been examined. The purpose was basically to assess how far organisations that had been examined were implementing recommendations and what problems they were experiencing in this process. This would help in determining the appropriateness and acceptability of recommendations for corruption prevention at the work place.

This was a qualitative survey and it generally involved guided but not structured interviews with staff and members of the public. Additionally, spot checks and mystery customer surveys were carried out in order to verify the accuracy of progress reports collected from the organisations.

The assessment that revealed recommendations, such as, strengthening of internal audit, improvement of internal controls on revenue collection, methods of recruitment, transfer and deployment of staff, improvement of remuneration (in some organizations) were being implemented. It was also noted that recommendations on records management were not being adequately addressed. However, implementation was being done haphazardly as there were no implementation plans in all the organizations visited.

The assignment covered seven institutions namely:

- Kenyatta National Hospital.
- Ministry of Lands and Settlement.
- State Law Office – Administrator General and Registrar General Departments.
- Sony Sugar Company Limited.
- Municipal Council of Kisumu.
- Ministry of public works – Weighbridges Department; and
- Traffic Police Department

Staff Training:

During this period, several officers were trained in different study areas. In July 2003, all the officers from the Section were trained at the British Council on two critical areas, namely, Leadership and Team Building, and Report writing. This was a necessary input in the enhancement of the quality of the work of the Section, which is carried out in teams.

Research, Information and Public Education Section:

The key objective of the Section is to enlist public support in the fight against corruption. This is achieved through public education, research and development and dissemination of anti-corruption materials. During the period under review the Section carried out the programmes and activities summarized below:

The Public Service Integrity Programme:

The Public Service Integrity Programme (PSIP) seeks to restore and sustain transparency, accountability and integrity in the public service in order to achieve zero tolerance for corruption. This is a joint programme with the Directorate of Personnel Management (DPM) and is currently being implemented in all public service organizations. The PSIP Steering Committee provides direction and guidance in programme implementation. The programme targets the individual public servant, and promotes methods of improving systems, procedures and practices for better service delivery.

One activity conducted during the sensitisation seminars was to have participants simulate the conduct of Corruption Risk Assessment (CRA) to demonstrate how to analyse the problems affecting Public Service Organizations. The CRA is the basis for preparing organizational Corruption Prevention Plans.

PSIP Implementation Survey:

As part of the PSIP monitoring and evaluation, the Section conducted a survey aimed at evaluating the extent of implementation of the programme in the public service and was conducted in Ministry Headquarters, Provinces and Districts. Among officers interviewed were Chief Executive Officers, Heads of Department, Integrity Assurance Officers and randomly selected staff.

Phase I of the PSIP implementation survey took place from 23rd May, to 25th June, 2004. Tentative results show evidence of poor leadership, lack of effective supervision, laxity, absenteeism and unmanned receptions in many public service institutions, among other symptoms of poor governance.

Education for National Integrity Programme:

The Education for National Integrity Programme seeks to promote, instil and enhance integrity and anti-corruption attitudes and behaviour in learners, teachers and stakeholders in the education and training sector by:

- Making relevant anti-corruption information available for the education sector through print and electronic media.

This programme is carried out jointly with Egerton University. The programme was partly funded by Danish International Development Agency (DANIDA) though the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP).

The following activities were carried out:

- External evaluation of programme was carried out in December 2003 and report presented in February 2004.
- Proposal for a diploma course has been drafted and is awaiting approval

Research:

The Annual Corruption Perception Survey was carried out jointly with Egerton University and it took place between 4th and 23rd December 2003. The number of respondents was 2,079 drawn from all the Provinces.

The study indicates that in the year 2003, 97% of Kenyans were aware of what constitutes corruption and its causes as compared to 84% in 2002. This means interventions should be more for empowerment as opposed to awareness creation.

This survey also found that most people are willing to report corruption offences (74%), while those who would not report are mainly discouraged by inappropriate reporting structures and/or perceived ineffectual punishment modes, but 81% of the respondents strongly feel that corruption can be eradicated in Kenya.

The respondents identified the main forms of corruption as bribery and embezzlement of government resources, abuse of power, extortion, nepotism and tribalism. Those interviewed cited the main causes as emanating from economic mismanagement, erosion of values and poor governance.

Public Relations:

The Communications and Public relations activities seek to inform, educate and influence members of the public on the mandate, programmes and activities of KACC and other anti-corruption initiatives. Activities carried out included:

- Participated in the 40th Independence Anniversary celebrations in all provinces and mounted anti-corruption clinics, song and drama.
- Produced 2004 calendars and distributed them to ministries, departments, parastatals, local authorities, development partners, civil and religious sectors and professional associations country wide.
- Prepared special pull-out supplement in the local dailies on "The Campaign Against Corruption".
- Participated in the International Women's Day activities.
- Participated in Labour Day Celebrations through song, drama, materials display and legal clinic.
