THE INDUSTRIAL COURT OF KENYA AT NAIROBI

CAUSE NO. 84 OF 2000.

KENYA UNION OF DOMESTIC, HOTELS, EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS, HOSPITALS AND ALLIED WORKERS—(Claimants).

AFRICAN TOURS AND HOTELS LTD. (IN RECEIVERSHIP)—(Respondents).

Issues in Dispute:

- Lock-out of 142 members (hereinafter called the grievants). Violation of Collective Bargaining Agreement Clauses II and V.
- Refusal by Management to meet Union officials.
- J.M. Kariuki for the Claimants (hereinafter called the Union). No appearance for the Respondents (hereinafter called AT and H).

AWARD.

On 19th July, 2000, the Minister for Labour referred this dispute to the Court for consideration and determination under powers vested in him by Section 8 of the Trade Disputes Act, Cap. 234, Laws of Kenya (which is hereinafter referred to as the Act); and his reference, together with the statutory certificates from the Labour Commissioner and the Minister himself under Section 14 (9) (e) and (f) of the Act, were received by the Court on 21st July, 2000. The dispute was then listed for mention on 9th August, 2000, when Messrs. S. N. Mwari and R.M. Muthanga, who appeared for the parties respectively, were directed to submit or file their respective written memoranda or statements by 1st September and 11th October, 2000, and the dispute was fixed for hearing on 31st October, 2000. The Union submitted its memorandum on 5th September, 2000. On 22nd February, 2001, M/S. Oraro & Co., Advocates, filed a notice of appointment and a reply statement on behalf of AT&H; and on 8th November, 2001, the Union submitted a further or an amended memorandum to which no rejoinder was received from AT&H. Meanwhile, the parties took several adjournments for one reason or another, and on 11th April, 2002, the dispute was fixed for hearing on 20th June, 2002, and the parties were duly notified. On the said date, i.e. 20th June, 2002, Mr. J.M. Kariuki appeared for the Union, but there was no appearance for AT&H, and no reasons were given for its counsel's non-appearance. In the circumstances, the case was heard ex-parte.

At the commencement of the hearing of this matter, Mr. Kariuki applied to withdraw issues Nos.2 and 3, leaving issue No.1 for consideration and determination. This being the case, I allowed the application for withdrawal and dismiss issues Nos.2 and 3 as withdrawn. Mr. Kariuki also amended the list of the grievants, and in the result only 124 of them are said to have been locked-out and are affected by this dispute, namely:

This dispute arose on 30th June 1998, when Milimani Hotel, which had been leased to AT and H. by Milimani Hotels Limited for a period of five (5) years and three (3) months, with effect from 1st July, 1986, reverted back to the latter (Milimani Hotels Limited) after the former (AT and H.) was placed under receivership on 29th June 1998. The parties met at their own level to resolve the matter but no settlement was reached. Consequently, the Union reported a dispute to the Minister for Labour in accordance with Section 4 (1) of the Act. The Minister accepted the dispute and appointed Mr. E. Masara to act as the Investigator; and on the basis of the Investigation report, which was released to the parties on 4th October, 1999, the Minister found and recommended as follows:

Findings.

Milimani Hotel is wholly owned by Milimani Hotels Limited and that it was leased to African Tours and Hotels (AT&H.) for a period of 5 years and 3 months with effect from 1st July, 1986. That AT & H. continued to use the trade name of Milimani Hotels for business purposes.

That there was no valid written contract between the parties as at 29th June, 1998, when AT and H. was placed under receivership, but an understanding that AT and H continue to pay rent to Milimani Hotels Limited.

There were two categories of employees engaged by the hotel before it was placed under receivership, namely:

Category 'A' consisted of employees who were engaged by Milimani Hotels before the lease was signed with AT and H in 1986, totalling 26.

Category 'B' consisted of employees hired after the lease was signed and were hired by AT and H, they were 116 in total.

On 29th June, 1998 AT & H was placed under receivership and the hotel reverted back to its owners, Milimani Hotels Limited, who on humanitarian grounds undertook to pay some of their former employees in category 'A' and rehired the others back. The others who fall on category 'B' they contended are the responsibility of AT&H who hired them.

Finally, AT and H contention that they are under no obligation to pay their former employees is indeed unfortunate as the laws of this country clearly spell out what the employers responsibility are in any employment contract.

Recommendation:

I recommend that African Tours and Hotels should pay all the affected employees their June, 1998 salaries without any apportionment.

They should further pay terminal dues to the 116 employees in category 'B' as stipulated in the parties CBA".

The Minister finally appealed to the parties to accept the recommendation as a basis of resolving the matter. The Union accepted the recommendation, but it would appear that the Company rejected it. Hence, this dispute for consideration and determination (see U. App.8).

Mr. Kariuki submitted that before AT&H. was placed under receivership as aforesaid, it managed several lodges and hotels across the country, including Milimani Hotel, Panafric Hotel, Olkuruk Lodge, Mountain Lodge, Buffalo Springs Lodge, Marsabit Lodge, Whitesands Hotel, Ngulia Safari Lodge, Mombasa Beach Hotel, Lake Bogoria Hotel, Meru Mulika Lodge, Voi Safari Lodge, Sunset Hotel, Sirikwa Hotel, Kilaguni Lodge and Kabarnet Hotel, all of which were members of the Kenya Association of Hotelkeepers and Caterers, with which the Union had entered into both valid recognition and collective agreements (see U. Apps.1 and 2). On 1st July, 1986, he said, AT and H. took over full operations of the Hotel on a lease basis, together with the 26 members of staff; and engaged about 99 other employees. However, on 30th June, 1998, Hon. Matero Keriri, in his capacity as the Chairman of Milimani Hotels Ltd., issued a notice to all the employees to report to the Receiver/Manager on 1st July, 1998 "in connection with the payment of their emoluments and future employment" (see U. App. 3). The notice read in extenso thus:

"Notice to Employees.

Take notice that following the termination of the lease of Hotel Milimani by African Tours and Hotels with effect from 30.6.1998 all employees of Hotel Milimani are advised to report to the Receiver/Manager of African Tours and Hotels Limited on 1.7.1998 in connection with the payment of their emoluments and future employment.

Dated this 30th day of June, 1998.

MATERE KERIRI,

Chairman.

Mr. Kariuki submitted further that when the employees reported to the management of AT and H, they were locked-out and were denied audience. Therefore, AT and H, being bona fide employer of the grievants, was liable to pay them their terminal benefits, amounting to KSh. 9,597,028 as indicated in the attached schedule.

In rebuttal, AT and H vehemently denied in its written statement that it either locked-out the grievants or refused to meet the officials of the Union. However, it maintained that the grievants were the employees of Milimani Hotel Ltd., and, therefore, they (grievants) could have no cause of action against it (AT and H) outside the period of the tenancy agreement. In the circumstances, AT&H admittedly agreed to assume liability to the grievants for the period of the tenancy agreement to the extent of Kshs.4,000/= to every grievant; and the balance of their claim, if any, would rank in priority with its all the other unsecured creditors and can only be paid if and when there are funds available from which payment can be made.

The question which requires consideration in this case is whether, in the face of these clear admissions of liability, AT and H can be saddled with the obligations under Clause 4 (r) of the lease agreement, which is usefully reproduced hereunder:

"4 provided always it is hereby mutually agreed and declared as follows:

Employees and servants (r) All the servants employees and agents in the employment of the Lessor shall continue and deemed to be the employees and servants of the lessor, who shall be liable, and continue to be liable during the term hereby demised to pay and discharge all their, or any of their, claims demands and dues in respect of wages, salaries, terminal benefits and all other dues which have accrued due or payable to the employees as at the 30th day of June, 1986. The annexure hereto marked 'Schedule of Terminal Benefits' indicates the terminal benefits of the employees as if the employees had their employment terminated at that date. The Lessee shall be liable for the payment and discharge of the employees salaries, wages, terminal benefits and other dues which shall accrue due or payable to them during the demised term with effect from the 1st day of July, 1986, during which term the Lessee shall have complete control, supervision and charge of the employees with power and liberty to transfer them to any hotels and lodges managed by them, and suspend dismiss or terminate such employees as they may think fit. In the event of termination or dismissal, the terminal benefits shall be apportioned by the Lessee and the Lessor as at the 1st July, 1986."

Three collective ingredients of the concept of employment are: and employer, his employee and a contract of employment between the two, i.e. employer and employee. It is not sufficient to say that "X" is an employee but the question that immediately follows is: whose employee is he? Therefore, unless there is a contract of employment or service between "X" and "Y", there would be no relationship of employee and employer between them. The four indicia of contract of employment or service, derived from authorities of Courts in England, were recapitulated by Lord Thankerton in Short v. Henderson Ltd. (1946) 62, T.L.R. 427, at page 429, which was decided in the House of Lords, are as follows:

"These are (a) the master's power of selection of his servant; (b) the payment of wages or other remuneration; (c) the master's right to control the method of doing the work, and (d) the master's right of suspension or dismissal."

In Harbour Board v. Coggins and Griffith (Liverpool Ltd) (1947) I.A.C.I., the following observation was made:-

"The proper test is whether or not the hirer had authority to control the manner of execution of the act in question".

Therefore, the prima facie test for the determination of relationship between an employer and an employee is the existence of the right in the employer to supervise and control the work done by the employee, not only in the matter of direction in what work the employee is to do, but also the manner in which he shall do his work.

Thus, some of the tests or essentials to find out whether or not a person is in employment of a certain establishment or industry are:

- (a) whether the establishment or industry has administrative control over the employee;
- (b) whether the establishment or industry pays for the work done by the employee, and
- (c) whether the establishment or industry has power to dismiss and reinstate the employee.

Where the lessee himself engages employees, as in the present case, for carrying on the work, which he has taken, the lessor cannot be said to have any control or supervision over the employees; and, as a logical corollary, the employees will be the employees of the lessee alone. It was held in Workers' Union v. M.B. Hotel United, Karachi, 1975 P.L.C. 533, which is on all fours with the case at hand, that when an establishment was leased out by a proprietor and was being run by the lessee, the workmen employed in the establishment were, in the circumstances, not the employees of the proprietor.

As regards the liquidation of AT and H, this is a ground which has been pressed for the first time here, and such a ground cannot be made the basis of the decision in this case. The payment of terminal benefits to the grievants will, therefore, be quite capable of being implemented and their fate would be no better or no worse than other employees similarly affected by the liquidation, if any, of AT and H.

In this case, therefore, AT and H had administrative control over the grievants and also paid their wages or salaries and granted them leave, etc. AT and H had also power to dismiss and reinstate the grievants. In the circumstances, I have no doubt in my mind that the grievants were the employees of AT and H for the period that the lease subsisted, and AT and H is liable to pay all the outstanding terminal benefits due and owing to the grievants for the said period as shown in the attached schedule. I so award and order.

Both members of the Court were consulted and have supported this decision.

Dated and delivered at Nairobi this 5th day of November, 2003.

C. P. CHEMMUTTUT,
Judge.
