THE ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT AND CO-ORDINATING ACT

(No. 8 of 1999)

THE NATIONAL ENVIRONMENT MANAGEMENT AUTHORITY ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT ASSESSMENT STUDY REPORT FOR THE PROPOSED POWER GENERATION PLANT MEDIUM SPEED DIESEL GENERATION PLANT, RABAI, KILIFI DISTRICT.

INVITATION OF PUBLIC COMMENTS

PURSUANT to regulation 21 of Environmental (Impact Assessment and Audit) Regulations, the National Environment Management Authority (NEMA) has received an Environmental Impact Assessment Study Report for the implementation of proposed power generation plant medium speed diesel generation plant; Rabai in Kilifi District.

The project consists of constructing and operating a 88.6 mW. Power generation plant.

The intake of the project is to be at Rabai area in Kilifi District, Coast Province.

The project anticipates the following impacts and mitigation measures:

Possible impacts

1. Wastes

Mitigation measures

- (a) A package sewage treatment plant will be installed at the facility and portable sanitation systems.
- (b) All wash water and sewage from the facility must be diverted to the package plant which must be correctly maintained and operated at all times.
- (c) All areas designated for the storage of heavy fuel oil (HFO) sludge will be bunded and all staff members will be trained on the correct management of these facilities.
- (d) A general waste that cannot be reused or recycled should be stored temporarily in a centralized area and then transported regularly to the nearest sanitary landfill facility for responsible disposal.
- (e) All hazardous wastes that cannot be reused or recycled should be labeled correctly and stored in a secured area until collected for proper disposal.
- (f) Chemical toilets could be used on the construction site and these would need to be emptied periodically and waste disposed of at a municipal sewage treatment facility.

Possible impacts

2. Water quality and resources

Mitigation measures

- (a) A buffer zone along the channel margin of the Jaribu Stream should be demarcated and no movement of materials is to occur within that margin so as to avoid damming or a change in direction of flow.
- (b) Ensure the proper management of wastes such as oil, grease, fuel etc. are properly disposed of so as not to contaminate the stream.
- (c) Ensure that a water use licence is in place before construction activities start to meet the construction demand.
- (d) Water consumption could be reduced by the installation of low or dual-flush toilets.
- (e) The proponent will be laying an 8 inch pipeline from the existing Mombasa water supply line to meet the projects construction and operational water requirements.

3. Noise pollution

- (a) Construction activities and vehicle movement should be restricted to daylight hours.
- (b) All vehicles and construction machinery should be maintained at a standard that the noise levels do not cause unnecessary and avoidable nuisance to the workforce and local communities.
- (c) Traffic calming and speed control measures should be instigated in consultation with District Roads Board and Local Authorities.
- (d) All construction workers, ancillary service personnel, engineers management and site visitors must be provided with appropriate Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) such as ear defenders or suitable plugs.
- (e) Where possible, attenuation measures such as noise enclosure shields should be put in place to reduce noise at its source.
- (f) An earth berm suitable sized must be constricted in appropriate areas within sound transmission pathways of the nearest receptors in order to mitigate the construction noise impacts.

4. Public and occupational health and safety

- (a) An environmental action plan must be developed which will be made available to the public and the relevant government agencies.
- (b) The contractor will be responsible for managing, supervising and monitoring health and safety on the site, and that of any sub-contractors.
- (c) Workers should be required to wear appropriate clothing including hard hats, safety boots, gloves, overalls and safety goggles where necessary.
- (d) There must be qualified first aid cover for minor treatment and at least two persons amongst the staff must be trained in first aid. A suitable facility must be maintained to cater for first aid requirements.

Possible impactsMitigation measures

- (e) The site and all possible safety hazards (e.g. electrocution risks, fire hazards, heavy machinery) must be adequately sign-posted and signs should include visual representations. Where written signs are required, these must be in English and Swahili.
- (f) The contractor will provide adequate and appropriate training.
- (g) All reasonable precautions to safeguard the health and safety of all persons, employees or general public from all construction and construction related activities must be taken.
- (h) The site must be fenced off from the general public and only authorized persons are allowed on site.
5. Air quality
- (a) It is recommended that stack monitoring be undertaken once the plant is in operation in order to verify the emissions from the process.
- (b) To reduce SO₂ emissions, the options include switching to lower sulphur fuel and/or adding a flue gas desulphurization (FGD) system to remove SO₂.
- (c) Wetting bare grounds areas during periods of high wind and reduced use of high dust-producing equipment under certain meteorological conditions.
6. Traffic and transportation
- (a) There will be the use of abnormal load vehicles and traffic police to clear the area for movement of the vehicles from the port.
- (b) Vehicle movement should not occur between peak periods of traffic activity such as 7.00 and 17.00.
- (c) Use of appropriate vehicles for transportation to avoid further damage to the road network and to repair the sections of the road that are damaged by the construction phase activities.
- (d) Traffic warning signs should be erected at strategic locations.
- (e) Use should be made of traffic calming measures such as speed bumps and rumble strips in areas of high risks.
- (f) Vehicles are to be kept in good repair; they should use standard exhaust equipment.

The full report of the proposed project is available for inspection during working hours at:

- (a) The Director-General, National Environmental Management Authority, Kapiti Road, off Mombasa Road, P.O. Box 67839-00200, Nairobi.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 11855
THE INDUSTRIAL COURT OF KENYA
 Cause No. 124 of 2005

BAKERY, CONFECTIONERY, MANUFACTURING AND ALLIED WORKERS UNION (Claimant)

VERSUS
MESSRS STANDARD CONFECTIONERS LIMITED (Respondent)

(Mr. George Muchai, General Secretary for the Claimant (hereinafter called the Union), Mr. Linus W. Kariuki, Principal Executive Officer, Federation of Kenya Employers for the Respondents)

Issue in dispute is:
 Victimization and wrongful dismissal of eight (8) employees by the company namely:

John Musyoka
 Kioko Musau
 Kimotho Kilenzo
 Mutua Mwanuzi
 Francis Mavindu
 Benson Mutuku
 Edward Mulwale
 Joseph Ambulwa

AWARD
 The Minister for Labour and Human Resource Development referred this dispute to the court on 3rd October, 2005 for hearing and disposal. The Minister's reference together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner were received in court on 11th October, 2005. The dispute was subsequently listed for mention on 15th November, 2005 when the court issued necessary directives on the filing of the parties' memoranda. After several subsequent mentions before the court the dispute was heard on 12th July, 2006 and 6th February, 2007.

Mr. Muchai for the union relied on his written memorandum filed in court on 23rd January, 2006. He submitted as follows:

The Respondent which is a limited liability company has a recognition agreement with the union dating back to 1981 and the parties have concluded several Collective Bargaining Agreements.

This dispute arose out of the award of this court in Cause No. 38 of 2006 delivered on 4th July 2003 touching on the following items:

- Casual Employment, Duration, Termination and Daily Rate of Pay
- Termination of Employment and Probationary Period
- Redundancy
- Annual Leave

- Leave Travelling Allowance
- Night Transport
- Medical Treatment

(h) House Allowance.

(i) Wage Rates.

(j) Funeral Expenses for Employees of the Company.

The grievants were dismissed in an effort to defeat justice so that they do not benefit from the said award. The Respondent has refused to implement the award and make arrears of payments to the employees. The Respondent has systematically removed from employment all the workers whom the company owed over two million shillings. The grievants were victimized and dismissed for concocted reasons as evidenced by the letters of dismissal issued to each of them.

John Musyoka

The grievant was employed by the Respondent in March, 1992 as a stockkeeper. The grievant was summarily dismissed on 29th December, 2003 after having dedicatedly served the Respondent for a period of over eleven (11) years during which period he had a clean record without any warning or caution either in writing or otherwise.

At the time of his dismissal, the grievant was earning a monthly basic salary of KSh. 3,900.00 with a house allowance of KSh. 920.

The grievant was summarily dismissed for no apparent reason as evidenced from his dismissal letter dated 29th December, 2003 which states briefly that "..... you have not rendered proper services to the satisfaction of the management for sometime". The grievant had wide and extensive experience in his job and could not have been careless as the company management is trying to insinuate. The same reason was used to justify the dismissal of the other grievants.

Kioko Musau

The grievant was employed by the Respondent in January 1994 as a driver. The grievant was summarily dismissed by the Respondent on 30th April, 2003 under the guise that the management was not satisfied with his performance. At the time of his dismissal, the grievant was earning a monthly basic salary of KSh. 3,900 and a house allowance of KSh. 920. The grievant had worked for the company for almost ten (10) years and that, it is extremely misleading for the Respondent to allege that he was not performing his work satisfactorily. The grievant states that he was summarily dismissed to bar him from reaping the fruits of the judgement in Industrial Court Cause No. 33 of 2006.

Kimotho Kilenzo

The grievant was employed by the Respondent in June 1974 as Assistant Confectioner. At the time of his dismissal, he was earning a monthly salary of KSh. 3,290 and a house allowance of KSh. 920. He was victimized and dismissed on 21st February, 2004 without any apparent reason. The grievant was always diligent with his work and largely blames his dismissal over the refusal by the Respondent to implement the necessary terms and conditions of employment arising from the Industrial Court award delivered in their favour.

Francis Mavindu

Mr. Mavindu was employed by the Respondent as a waiter. At the time of his dismissal he was earning a monthly basic salary of 3,600 and a house allowance of KSh. 920. He was wrongfully dismissed on 3rd August, 2004. It is difficult to fathom why the company all of a sudden realized that its workers including the grievant were incompetent after long and exemplary years of service.

Benson Mutuku

Mr. Benson Mutuku was employed by the Respondent in March 1997 in the position of a waiter. At the time of his dismissal he was earning a monthly salary of KSh. 3,200 and a house allowance of KSh. 920. He was dismissed on 15th February, 2004 for no proper reason as is evidently revealed by his dismissal letter.

Edward Mulwale

He was employed by the Respondent in June 1983. By the time of his dismissal, he was earning a monthly salary of KSh. 4,530 and a house allowance of KSh. 920. The grievant lost his arm in a road accident but upon returning to work after recovery, the Respondent refused to allocate him any duty and thereby rendering him jobless. There was no justification whatsoever for his dismissal and as such was victimized and irregularly dismissed even after producing a medical certificate proving him fit for normal duties.

Josphat Ambulwa

The grievant was employed by the Respondent in April, 1995 as an Assistant Confectioner. He was wrongly dismissed on 29th December, 2003 for no valid reason except to deny him the fruits of implementation of the Award in Industrial Cause No. 33 of 2000. At the time he was summarily dismissed, the grievant was earning a monthly basic salary of KSh. 3,200 and a house allowance of KSh. 920. The grievant herein avers that he was dismissed without any reasonable legal or justifiable cause. The grievant further states that he was victimized and eventually dismissed so as to deny him the fruits of Industrial Court Cause No. 33 of 2000.

The union reported a trade dispute to the Minister on 5th August, 2004. The Minister accepted the dispute and appointed Mr. J.N. Ndiho of Nyayo House Labour Office to act as an investigator.

The Minister's report was released to the parties on 1st February, 2005 with the following findings and recommendations.

"Findings"

Investigations established that both parties have a valid recognition agreement dating back to 1988 and have concluded several Collective Bargaining Agreements.

Investigations also established that there is no disagreement between the parties concerning the workers' employment dates, positions held and the fact that none of the grievants has an adverse employment record.

It is also not disputed that the employees were summarily dismissed for the reasons given. The issues to consider are the circumstances and whether or not the grounds were justified.

Investigations established that all were dismissed for not rendering services to the management's satisfaction. Investigations noted that in each case the management did not indicate what aspect of the grievant's performance was found wanting. Any misconduct that does not warrant summary dismissal must be reduced to a written warning in accordance with clause 6 of the parties CBA as well as the law LN. 120/1982 section 16. Since the employer failed to issue any warnings within a reasonable period of time after he had knowledge of the misconduct then he is logically deemed to have waived his right of dismissal under misconduct.

Investigations also established that following Industrial Court award 33/2000, the union wrote to the management concerning the implementation of the same on 18th August, 2003 and on 27th October, 2003 did tabulate arrears arising from the Award. It was established that due to the parties divergent views, the Minister issued an order for its implementation. The fact that these grievants with no adverse records were dismissed around this period lends credence to the union's allegation that they were victimized so as not to benefit from the award. Investigations established that employees have a right to lodging a complaint against their employer or any alleged infringement and violation of their alleged rights with a competent authority. In the instant case the employees were within these rights in asking the union to press for the implementation of the Court Award. Such workers ought to be protected from retaliatory measures by employers when they try to defend their rights.

Finally but not least investigations established that the workers upon dismissal were not given a chance to defend themselves. This is not only against the parties CBA and law but also against a fundamental rule or natural justice that a man shall not be subject to final judgement or to punishment without being given an opportunity to be heard. It is therefore clear that the summary dismissal of the grievants was wrongful, vindictive and capricious.

Recommendation

After a careful consideration of the above submissions coupled with the above findings, I recommend that:

- (a) The grievants' dismissal be reduced to normal termination with all benefits in accordance with the parties CBA and award in cause 33/2000.

- (b) That the grievants be paid all arrears arising from cause 33/2000 up to the date of their dismissal. This is to be worked out with the assistance of the District Labour Officer, Industrial Area.

- (c) Each of the grievant be paid twelve months wages as compensation for suffering a wrongful termination and loss of employment.

- (d) Each grievant to be issued with a certificate of service.

The union being satisfied with the findings and recommendation of the Minister proceeded to write a demand notice on 3rd March, 2005 to the Respondent detailing entitlements of the grievants.

The Respondent having failed/neglected and/or refused to honour the Minister's recommendation, the union initiated the process to have the matter adjudicated by the court. It is a trite and fortified law in Industrial Relations that no employees should be penalized by an employer on account of being a member of a lawful union and more so for pressing for the implementation of a Court Award. The Respondent's action to wrongfully dismiss the grievants was propelled by wanton destructive desires of weakening the union by punishing and frustrating its members aimed at defeating justice and by systematically removing them from employment. The grievants have been deprived of their Constitutional enshrined right as per section 80(1) of the Constitution and therefore the same needs urgent restoration. This is a clear case of abuse of workers' rights, illegal and wrongful sacking to which no remedy other than reinstatement and compensation is recommended. None of the grievants was afforded a hearing before dismissal as is dictated by the rules of natural justice and the existing collective agreement between the parties herein.

By wrongfully dismissing the grievants, the Respondent has denied the collective agreement duly registered by this Honourable Court, the Minister's recommendation to pay the grievants all the arrears arising from Cause No. 33 of 2000, the ILO Convention and the Industrial Relations Charter. Inhuman treatment was meted out to the grievants.

On the foregoing premises the union prayed for the following orders:

- (a) The cancellation and expunging of the dismissal letters from the grievant's employment records;
- (b) The reinstatement of the grievants in their former employment and position without any loss of benefits and/or seniority;
- (c) The payment of the grievants of all the arrears arising from the Industrial Court Award in Cause No. 33 of 2000;
- (d) The payment of the grievants of the actual pecuniary loss suffered since their date of dismissal, including payment for salary/wages as would have been earned, house allowance and annual leave upto the date of reinstatement;
- (e) Any other relief this Honourable Court may deem fair and just to grant.

Mr. Kariuki for the Respondent also relied on his written memorandum filed in court on 13th April, 2006. He submitted as follows:

The eight (8) employees and some management staff of the Respondent started their own Indian Sweets and Snacks Business known as THAKKER SWEETS just in the vicinity of the Respondents business which was about 300 metres away, at the junction of Chambers and Ngara Road and the Respondent's clients were being told by the dismissed employees that "Thakker Sweets" was part and parcel of the Respondent's company. This fact had not been known until the employees started daring the management to dismiss them in writing if the management thought they were not productive.

The core issue in this matter is that an employee in any capacity is supposed to have undivided loyalty to his employer's business. It is a cardinal employment practice that no employee can engage himself of herself in any other business while still in employment of his principal employer. In the case of the above employees named, they did not only start a business that was in competition with their employers but dared it to sack them. The business they started or were employed of was just 300 metres away from their employers and to make matters worse it was producing the same products as those of their employer and the employees in question had the courage to tell the employers' clients that the sweets produced were part and parcel of the Respondent's company. This is nothing but sabotage of the highest order and act of serious gross misconduct that would certainly be met with nothing but summary dismissal.

The claimant's allegation that they were all dismissed because the Respondent was trying to evade payment of arrears arising from the Court award in cause No. 33 of 2000 delivered on 4th July, 2003 is not true. The claimants have never come back to complain on non compliance of the above award. The Respondents have implemented the court award in cause No. 33/2000.

John Musyoka

He was the storekeeper and had access to all the secret recipes of the Respondents. He passed all those secrets to Thakker Sweets. He made sure that he remained absent and particularly on 27th December, 2003 and the production got spoilt because no other staff had access to the recipes while he was absent. The company incurred heavy losses and lost its good will to many customers during the festive time. Infact he was the chief architect of Thakker Sweets. He was therefore summarily dismissed on 9th December, 2003.

Kioko Musau

He was employed as a driver and retired at the age of 60 years. He had been paid his arrears as contained in the court award. He was dismissed for being negligent of his work.

Francis Mavindu

He was one of the employees who demanded to be dismissed in writing after harassing the Respondents. He joined Thakker Sweets after creating a lot of problems.

Benson Mutuku

He refused to obey the management's instructions and requested to be dismissed in writing. If the Respondents were not satisfied with his work. He was clearly provoking the employers to dismiss him in order to join Thakkers Sweets which was opened on 2nd March, 2004. He is now a full time employee of Thakker Sweets. He was dismissed for disobeying lawful orders.

Edward Mulwale

He deserted from his job. He was never dismissed by anybody. He absconded from 4th April, 2003 and never informed the management of his whereabouts.

Joseph Abalwa

He was paid salary as per the court award.

On 27th December, 2004, he spoilt food and when he was warned verbally, he arrogantly said that he wanted to be warned in writing. Joseph Abalwa is currently working with Thakkers Sweets.

Mutua Mwanzul

Like Joseph Abalwa he spoilt food and demanded to be dismissed. He is currently working for Thakker Sweets. He was dismissed for disobeying lawful orders.

The Respondents rejected the Ministers Report because it ignored the submission made to them by the Respondent. The workers were not penalized for being member of the union or because of a court award. They decided to be difficult and arrogant during the Respondents to dismiss them. They were so brave in putting that request for dismissal because they wanted any light excuse to go and work for a company that was started by the managers of the Respondent.

Mr. Kariuki prayed to the court to dismiss the grievants claims on the foregoing premises.

We have carefully considered the parties preceding submissions in full. We are called upon to decide if the grievants dismissal was lawful or not.

It is the union's case that the grievants were dismissed so that they could not benefit from the fruits of judgement in Cause No. 33 of 2000 that was delivered on 4th July, 2003. The Respondent on the other hand denies the claim arguing that the grievants were dismissed for setting up a rival business known as Thakker Sweets, using the Respondent's recipes to promote the rival business and diverting the Respondent's customers to the rival business. In other words the Respondent alleges that they breached their duty to render honest and faithful service to the Respondent and that their dismissal was justified in law.

But our perusal of the letters of dismissal and the pre-Industrial Court proceedings shows that the charge of promoting a rival enterprise was not a major complaint against the grievants. The letters of dismissal refer to poor performance of work or negligence in the execution of work and absenteeism. Only the dismissal letter of one grievant (John Musyoka) refers to the promotion of a rival business but in fact as a peripheral issue and not the main charge against him. One grievant (Francis Mavindu) was accused of not accounting for some money received on the Respondent's behalf. In the circumstances we find that the Respondent's submissions before the court contradict the previous position taken by the Respondent on the matter. The contradiction raises doubt on the credibility of the Respondent's assertions.

Even if it is accepted that the grievants were not performing their duties well to the satisfaction of the management, poor performance cannot be gauged and conclusions drawn in a few days as suggested in the termination letters. There should be a record covering a reasonable period of some months characterized by warnings to the employees and written records of the areas in which they were required to improve in their service delivery. This is so because an employer has a duty to assist employees to attain peak performance. The decision to dismiss poor performers cannot be taken before the employer gives a reasonable opportunity to the employees to correct their mistakes. Sudden decisions to dismiss such as in this case are suspect and inconsistent with sound industrial relations practice.

In the circumstances we are inclined to believe the union's contention that the grievants were not dismissed for the reasons stated in the letters of dismissal but in order to deprive them of the fruits of the court award in Cause 33 of 2000.

Our inclination is buttressed by the failure of the Respondent to place before the court evidence showing that it has implemented the court award in Cause 33 of 2000 by paying to the grievants and other employees all appropriate dues as ordered by the court. The Respondent's representative was granted ample time to procure an file in court the appropriate records but in the end he reported that he was unable to obtain them from the Respondent. It would appear that the Respondent did not cooperate with its counsel in this matter. The unfortunate consequence is that the Respondent's assertions remain unsubstantiated and therefore incapable to acceptance by the court.

Another glaring feature of this case is that the grievants were not given an opportunity to answer the charges leveled against them before being dismissed.

We agree with the union that this was a serious violation of the principle of natural justice which dictates that one should not be condemned unheard (audi alteram partem). The grievants were merely served with dismissal letters and removed from the Respondent's premises. They should have been accorded a hearing prior to this. The failure to accord them a hearing vitiated the Respondent's disciplinary proceedings against the grievants and opened it to scrutiny by this court. This court has consistently ruled that one of the grounds that can invite the court to interfere with an employer's decision to dismiss employees is want of adherence to the rules of natural justice.

Keeping in view of the foregoing discussions we find that the dismissals of the grievants were flawed and therefore unlawful. We fully agree with the Minister's findings and recommendations in this regard. Having reached this conclusion, what remedies should be given? The union has urged the court to order reinstatement of the grievants to their previous jobs, but in view of the acrimony that characterized the relationship between the Respondent and the grievants at the time of the grievants' dismissal, we do not find the remedy appropriate. We are inclined to uphold the Minister's recommendation and AWARD and ORDER as follows:

- (c) That the grievants' dismissal be reduced to normal termination.
- (d) That the grievants be paid terminal benefits in accordance with the parties' Collective Bargaining Agreement.
- (e) That the grievants be paid all arrears of salaries and other emoluments arising from Court Cause 33 of 2000.
- (f) That each grievant be paid twelve (12) months wages/salaries as compensation for the unlawful loss of employment.

(g) That each grievant be issued with a certificate of service.

The two members of the court concur with this decision.

P. K. KOSGEI,
Judge.

M. A. WARRAKAH,
Members.
