EVALUATION ON IMPLEMENTATION OF VALUES AND PRINCIPLES OF GOVERNANCE

The functions of Migori County Public Service Board are as enshrined in section 59 of the County Governments Act, 2012. The Public Service Board is mandated under section 59 (1) (f) of the County Governments Act to evaluate and report to the Migori County Assembly on the extent to which the values and principles referred to in Articles 10 and 232 are complied with in the Migori County Public Service. The evaluation covers county public service with the exception of the county assembly that has an oversight role.

The evaluation for the year 2020 clustered the values and principles into ten thematic areas, designed indicators for each and identified relevant data sources. The data and other information specific to departments were obtained through the evaluation tools while other relevant information were obtained from oversight institutions, reports by the Office of the Controller of Budget and information from the Department of Finance and Economic Planning findings show significant levels of compliance:

Good governance, transparency and accountability were assessed on diverse dimensions, namely, the existence of reviewed organisation structures and succession management; adoption of e-procurement; performance management and anticorruption measures. On each dimension, the departments had made significant efforts but there is a need for the county executive committee to adopt and approve a staff establishment for the whole county public service. On performance management, the board recommends that the performance management framework be implemented and cascaded to all the staff in the county public service. All departments should liaise with EACC to carry out corruption perception surveys in an effort to improve to improve service delivery.

Professionalism and ethics in the public service were evaluated on the basis of four indicators, namely, availability of policy documents on ethics at the disposal of the accounting officers; training for professionalism; membership to professional bodies and declaration of income, assets and liabilities. All these indicators recorded an average level of compliance with declaration of income, assets and liabilities reporting a compliance level of 100 percent.

Provision for diversity was assessed by indicators that exclusively focused on the staff who were deployed in the various departments. Accordingly, the four indicators that were used were: ethnic representation, gender representation and disability mainstreaming. The representation in the public service of the various ethnic communities appears relatively proportional to the county population. The representation by gender meets the required threshold. However, the interpretation of these findings should be tempered by the census of all staff in county payroll. The board shall prepare and implement an employment equity plan to deal with any inequalities that may be existing.

Fair competition and merit in appointments and promotion were assessed on the basis of three indicators, namely, fair competition and merit, advertisement of job vacancies, representation in appointments. All the indicators revealed a high level of compliance since there are already clear guidelines on all matters employment and promotion. The board shall explore more means of advertising of vacancies to increase the reach to a wider population. On promotions, the board recommends that departmental chief officers commence the performance appraisal which shall be used as a basis of merit.

Efficiency, effectiveness and economic use of resources was assessed on the basis of several dimensions chief among them alignment of budget with planning. All the departmental budgets were aligned with the county integrated development plan 2018-2022. On the indicator of budget absorption, the departments did well on the recurrent side but performed dismally on the side of development. Another indicator under this area was the allocative budget efficiency and utilization. A majority of the departments failed to meet the recommended ratios for both recurrent to development expenditure and personnel emoluments to operations and maintenance. This can be attributed to several dynamics chief among them being the lack of proper disaggregation of staff data per department in the payroll and also the nature of some departments which were leaning on both extremes of the recurrent/development expenditure continuum. The Board hereby recommends that the department of finance and economic planning puts in place strategies to lead the county towards adherence to these key guidelines.

Sustainable development was assessed on the dimension of pending bills as a percentage of the allocated budget. It was noted that all departments had pending bills which hampered the planning process for the subsequent years. It was also noted that most departments were also not aware that suppliers had been paid to what extend at the close of the financial year. The board hereby recommends that the departments be furnished with regular printouts of IFMIS by-products on payments made to suppliers. The board further recommends that the directorate of procurement should come up with strategies on how to mitigate the delays occasioned by long procurement processes.

Responsive, prompt, impartial and equitable service. This principle was assessed on the basis of five proxy indicators, namely, automation of services, existence of service charters, customer care desks, suggestion boxes and complaint registers. The departments fared averagely on these indicators though there were only three departments with service charters well displayed. The departments are yet to fully take advantage of the recent technological advancements. The overall conclusion on this thematic area is that there is a lot of room for improvement in this area since it is a quick win that requires minimal to zero budget to actualize. The board hereby recommends that accounting officers print and display service charters at all points of service delivery. The board further recommends that all departments carry out customer satisfaction survey and report on the same to the board periodically.

Participation in policy making and implementation was assessed on the basis of two indicators - public participation policy guidelines and stakeholder forums. The study reveals that only the department of public service management had a policy on public participation. The number of forums were relatively low which can be attributed to the Covid-19 pandemic and also the lack of proper record keeping as far the attendance to the same is concerned. The board hereby recommends that the other departments follow suit in domesticating the policy in order to meet the constitutional requirements. On the aspect of the number of forums, the departments should endeavor to prepare back to office reports for accountability for funds used to conduct the same.

Upholding of human rights in the public service was assessed based on the information obtained from the department and public offices. To this extent, the evaluation concluded that compliance with the principle was fairly good though there is need for future evaluations to source data from oversight bodies.

Even though there are no reported cases of human rights violations in the departments, the board recommends that the departments source for and display posters to create awareness on human rights. The board shall endeavor to obtain information on the same from the Kenya National Commission on Human Rights.

Devolution and sharing of power was assessed on the basis of participation of the departments in joint committees with bodies outside the county government, percentage of officers deployed to sub counties and number of community projects completed in the period under review. This study reveals that all the departments had participated in joint ventures with partners of common interests which is an effort that should be applauded. The Health and Education departments were leading with the percentage of staff devolved to sub counties due to the nature of services they offer. Other departments should follow suit to strengthen devolution. On the number of projects completed, there is need to carry out a thorough monitoring and evaluation to ascertain the concentration of projects in sub-counties and wards. It was noted that the departments have done a commendable job as far as seeking partnerships and adhering to donor requirements is concerned. The board recommends that departments should double the efforts in order to boost the financial and technical resources that are already at the county's disposal.

RANKED PERFORMANCE OF THE DEPARTMENTS AS PER THE EVALUATION

After carrying the evaluation for the various departments, the board ranked them using weighted scores from the outcomes under each indicator. The table below shows the rankings.

Rank	Department	Weighted Scores
1	Medical Services	77.875
2	Public Health Services	75.625

The board wishes to commend all the departments that participated in the evaluation for the overwhelming response. The board shall proceed to reward exemplary performance and give specific feedback to enable the departments improve on the various thematic areas evaluated.

PROPOSED INTERVENTIONS IN THE IMPLEMENTATION OF NATIONAL VALUES AND PRINCIPLES OF GOVERNANCE

THE ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT AND CO-ORDINATION ACT

(No. 8 of 1999)

THE NATIONAL ENVIRONMENT MANAGEMENT AUTHORITY

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT ASSESSMENT STUDY REPORT FOR THE PROPOSED KINALE DAM WATER PROJECT IN KIAMBU COUNTY

INVITATION OF PUBLIC COMMENTS

PURSUANT to regulation 21 of the Environmental Management and Co-ordination (Impact Assessment and Audit) Regulations, 2003, the National Environment Management Authority (NEMA) has received an Environmental Impact Assessment Study Report for the above proposed project.

The proponent, Athi Water Works Development Agency proposes to construct Kinale Dam along Gatamaiyu River spillway, comprising a capacity of four thousand cubic meter per day (4,000m³/day) in Kiambu County.

The following are the anticipated impacts and proposed mitigation measures:

Possible Impacts	Mitigation Measures
Loss of vegetation	- Compensate KFS for the loss of forest materials at the dam area and its associated infrastructure. - Provide sufficient budget for the restoration of the project sites that will be affected by the project. - Support rehabilitation of the 100ha of the degraded forest areas in Kijabe forest block.
Soil loss	- Excavated soil should be used to the extent possible within the site for rehabilitation of degraded areas, landscaping and/or reclamation as a soil loss avoidance action. - Provide a drainage plan for the site as part of the project implementation. Where alternative drains are required, ensure protection of soil therein. - Landscaping during construction and introduce ground cover including grass for soil protection.
Siltation of water sources	- Protect the low water holding wet areas from siltation by creating silt traps on the surface drains. - Do not interfere with the vegetation cover around the wet areas.
Air pollution	- Earth works to always be done under dump conditions to avoid dusty conditions. - Ensure construction equipment are maintained to avoid emission generation. - Burning of materials should be controlled. - Dry plant matter be composted.
Surface drainage	- Integrate local drainage with new natural slopes orientation to harmonize with upstream and downstream drains settings. - Any realignment should take into consideration downstream local land surface features to avoid soil erosion.
Impacts on hydrology	- Ensuring compliance with water resource regulations at all times. - Reactivating gauging stations around the dam and downstream to monitor effects of the dam to the river basin over time. - Ensure diversions of the river during construction has limited effects to the downstream river flow. - Appropriate silt control at the construction areas to avoid siltation of the river downstream. - Use of manual labor as compared to machinery along the riverbanks to the extent possible.
Noise and vibration	- Utilize low noise equipment to the extent possible. - Construction works to be undertaken by day time to the extent possible. Noisy work to be undertaken during the day. - Personal Protective Equipment be provided to all construction workers and application enforced.
Waste management	Provide appropriate approvals and plans for spoil disposal where necessary. It would be preferred if the spoil is dumped on areas where it can be reclaimed.

Possible Impacts	Mitigation Measures
Ecological disruption	- Construction wastes (debris, scrap metals, timber and plastics) should be recycled to the extent possible. - External disposal of the solid wastes should be on approved sites. - Removal of trees only where necessary to avoid disruption of birds nesting. - Protect to the extent possible the low lying wet areas from siltation and pollutant. - The integrity of the fence around the forest reserve must be maintained and relocated if possible in order to keep wild animals within the reserve. - Creation of awareness on the proper land cultivation practices to reduce soil erosion and biomass accumulation in the dam reservoir.
Health and safety	- All workers should be provided with appropriate safety gear and ensure application all times. - The contractor should ensure "driver safety measures" at all times e.g., safety gear, good driving conduct and truck maintenance. - Provide good drinking water for the construction workers, acceptable sanitation and hygiene facilities and eating sheds. - All personnel accessing the site must adhere to the Corona Virus 2019 directives and screening for body temperature to be instituted. - Ensure safe and healthy work environment for the construction workers including noise level, dust level, safe movement corridors and access to medical services when required. - The public should be kept off the construction site for their safety. - Safety signage, information and barriers to be provided at appropriate locations. - Fully stocked first aid kits to be available on sites and first aid training provided to selected workers.
Sanitation and hygiene	- Provide mobile toilets and/or suitable pit latrines at the construction site and ensure maintenance and cleanliness. - Provide clean drinking water for the workers. - Ensure safe waste management during construction for the health of the workers.
Potential cultural disruptions	The contractor should sensitize all staff on local cultures and discuss with local community on the same.
Impacts on livestock farming	- A safe and easy public access to the water should be provided for the community livestock. - Fence off the reservoir and dam area to alleviate livestock drowning in the reservoir.
Impacts on plantation establishment and livelihood improvement scheme (pelis)	- The farmers should be given notice to vacate once construction commences. - The farmers to be allocated alternative sections within the plantation forest.
Impacts on downstream users	Ensure the compensation flows set for the dam are adhered to.

Possible Impacts	Mitigation Measures
Dam safety	- Define and implement a monitoring plan for the Gatamaiyu River with respect to inflow rates, silt levels and water quality trends over a duration of time. - Adequate diversion of the river and protection of the site during construction. - Prepare relevant plans (Plan for construction supervision and quality assurance, an instrumentation plan, an operation and maintenance plan. - Prepare an emergency preparedness plan. - Design and install metrological sensors and alarm during the construction to alert workers in case of risk of flood. - Ensure use of high quality standard materials during construction phase.
Wastage of water	- Ensure all taps are serviceable and water drawn on need basis. - Backwashing only on design and water quality specifications. - The integrity of the entire treatment should be ensured at all times. - Observe good water use practices at all times.
