TRADE MARKS .....	1

APPLICATIONS FOR REGISTRATION OF TRADE MARKS IN NAMIBIA

(Applications accepted in terms of Act No. 48 of 1973)

Any person who has grounds for objection to any of the following trade marks, may, within the prescribed time, lodge Notice of Opposition on form SM 6 contained in the Second Schedule to the Trade Marks Rules in Namibia, 1973. The prescribed time is two months after the date of advertisement. This period may on application be extended by the Registrar. Where the Gazette is issued late, the period of opposition will count as from the date of issue and a notice relating thereto will be displayed on the public notice board in the Trade Marks Registry.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him an opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the Notice of Opposition is incurred. Failing such notice to the applicant an opponent may not succeed in obtaining an order for costs.

“B” preceding the number indicates Part B of the Trade Mark Register.

Neither the office mentioned hereunder nor Windhoek Printers & Publishers (Pty) Ltd., acting on behalf of the Government of Namibia, guarantee the accuracy of this publication or undertake any responsibility for errors or omissions or their consequences.

ABSTRACT

A rotary apparatus for forming materials such as sheet metal has upper and lower rotary members rotating in unison on opposite sides of a moving strip of material, at least one die support movably supported on each rotary member for carrying forming die means, each die support being movable in a semi-rotary manner relative to its rotary member, a first pair of guide pins located at opposite ends of each die support and offset from one another towards the leading and trailing edges respectively, first guides for the first pairs of guide pins located at respective ends of each rotary member, second pairs of guide pins on each die support, located at opposite ends, and offset from one another towards the trailing edge and leading edge respectively, second guides located at each end of each rotary member, the second guides engaging the second pairs of pins at a point just before the die supports close, and during closure of the die supports, and being disengaged from the second guides just after opening of the die supports. Also disclosed is an improved form of rotary die having an ejection opening for ejecting scrap pieces of material. Also disclosed is a method of forming materials using the apparatus described.

ABSTRACT

A two stage die set for sequentially blanking an opening in a work piece, and thereafter forming edges of the work piece around the opening and having a male die assembly, having a male blanking die, a male forming die spaced from the male blanking die, and a recess therebetween, a female die assembly having a generally hollow female die sleeve, the die sleeves being shaped and dimensioned to correspond to the shape of the male blanking die and to receive it in telescopic relation, a moveable support plate located around the female die sleeve the moveable plate being biased so as to urge it into a first extended position, and the moveable plate yielding to the male forming die of the male die assembly, when the male and female dies are closed together, so that the male blanking die, in co-operation with the female die sleeve blanks out a portion of a work piece and forms an opening, and upon further relative movement between the male and female dies towards one another, the male forming die co-operates with moveable plate and the female die sleeve, to cause deformation of an edge portion of the work piece around the opening, ejector apparatus in the male blanking die being resiliently movable, so that it is withdrawn into blanking die, upon closure of the die on a work piece, and, after blanking of the portion of the work piece the ejector is extended from the male die, and displaces the blanked out slug portion, and, a passageway in the female die assembly communicating with the female die sleeve for receiving the slug which is then disposed of through the passageway.

ABSTRACT

This invention relates to a frame assembly for constructing a dwelling and to a dwelling including the frame assembly. The frame assembly includes a rectangular ring beam which, in use, is situated over the perimeter walls of the dwelling and window and/or door frame posts which are fixed in pairs in a common plane diagonally across at least two of the corners of the ring beam with the posts being downwardly dependent from the beam to the intended floor level of the dwelling.

ABSTRACT

A metal member has two edges and a web extending between them. A plurality of recesses are formed in the web at spaced intervals. A plurality of struts extend across the web between adjacent recesses. Flange formations formed from the web around the recesses at an angle thereto so as to form the struts have a generally channel shaped cross section, and forming intermittent flanges along the web edges at the side of each recess. Also disclosed are flange formations having oblique angled or curved shapes in section, in certain regions. Also disclosed are generally three-sided indentations formed in the web at the root of each of the struts which define apices extending partially into the end of the struts.

ABSTRACT

A method of recovering an oleoresin from paprika wherein the paprika is pelletized and placed in a vessel, hexane is passed through the paprika and extracted at a point which is below the paprika, and the paprika is then extracted from the vessel.

A rotary apparatus for rotary forming of a web workpiece and having a rotatable first roll unit and corresponding rotatable second roll unit, a first die support carried by the first roll unit, having a leading edge and a trailing edge respective to rotation of the first roll unit, a second die support carried by the second roll unit, having a leading edge and a trailing edge respective to rotation of the second roll unit, the first and second roll units receiving a web workpiece in a forming plane between the first and second roll units, and in which each die support includes a first part carried by the respective roll unit and including the leading and trailing edge and a second part having a platen surface for mounting a die, the second part being mounted on the first part for reciprocal motion transverse to the leading and trailing edges.

The present invention provides a novel human cytokine termed Oncoinhibin. The protein Oncoinhibin is secreted by human erythroid cells, has a molecular weight of approximately 28 kDa and exerts diverse neoplastic activity. The present invention also provides a method for the preparations of human Oncoinhibin.
