FOOD AND AGRICULTURE ORGANISATION OF THE UNITED NATIONS

VACANCIES

The posts mentioned below are vacant. Further details of each post will be made available by the Permanent Secretary, Ministry of Economic Development, Lagos, on request. All persons making enquiries about the post should state their qualifications and experience.

Applications must be addressed to Chief, Recruitment Section, Personnel Branch, F.A.O., Via delle Terme di Caracalla, Rome, Italy.

(i) POST.—VA. No. 1023 CHIEF, TERMINOLOGY AND REFERENCE SECTION P-2

Under the linguistic guidance of the Chief of the Translation Sections, but with considerable latitude for initiative and resource, the incumbent directs the work of the Terminology and Reference Section, so as to provide assistance in terminology and reference problems in the official languages to FAO staff members such as translators, revisers, interpreters, editors, authors, and occasionally outsiders consulting FAO as authority. To this end:

Collects and searches documentation and other sources of authoritative terminology and references, such as treatises, textbooks, technical journals, technical, economic, and administrative working papers of FAO and related organisations, and selects equivalents of accepted terminology in the three official languages. Classifies and retains near at hand source documentation acquired in the course of such search, so as to facilitate reference by translators and editors, but without duplicating fundamental Library functions. Performs related duties as required.

Qualifications.—Essential: University degree, preferably in fields underlying or related to linguistics. Some formal training at University level in scientific fields related to FAO's work.

Three years of professional experience involving research activities into scientific or technical literature, preparation of reference abstracts and notes for authors, cataloguing and indexing; familiarity with international organizations and particularly with FAO.

Thorough command of one of the official working languages of the Organization (English, French or Spanish), and familiarity with the other two.

Initiative, diligence, ability to do linguistic research thoroughly and profitably. Ability to work in harmony with persons of different nationalities. Aptitude for languages.

Qualifications.—Desirable: Experience in lexicography. Familiarity with technical terminology relating to one or more of FAO's fields of subject matter and of the nature and purposes of the Organization. Previous work in an international organization, preferably in languages. Familiarity with other languages useful, in particular knowledge of Latin and Greek roots of scientific terms.

The incumbent is expected to develop a systematic program of preparation and publication of terminology bulletins and glossaries, and organise and maintain an adequate reference service for all three Translation Sections designed to secure an increase in the translators' output.

Emoluments based on US $ equivalents, are net of national income tax. They are payable in the currency of the Duty Station and, on request, partially in the currency of the Home Station:

Salary.—Gross $7,500 to $9,900 (equivalent to a 'Net' range of $6,130-$7,880).

Family Allowance.—Spouse $400, Child $300, Secondary dependent $200.

Post Adjustment per annum variable according to cost of living and to dependency status, at present, from $736-$1,440. Other benefits subject to specific terms of appointment.

Type of Appointment.—Permanent.

Location.—Rome.

Closing Date.—26th April, 1965.

(ii) POST.—VA. No. 1024: TERMINOLOGY AND REFERENCE OFFICER P-1

Under the supervision of the Chief, Terminology and Reference Section, but with considerable latitude for initiative and resource, provides reference and terminology service in the working languages to translators and revisers. To this end:

Collects and classifies an adequate depository of publications and other reference material often needed in the work of the Translation Sections, so as to facilitate reference by translators and revisers, but without duplicating fundamental Library functions.

Maintains routine contact with the originators of documents and with the translators, so as to secure any necessary source documentation in the three languages; develops and applies procedures designed to maintain such liaison, to avoid delays in obtaining reference information, and to make full use of the experience and data acquired by translators, revisers, interpreters and technical staff as suppliers and consumers of such information. Performs related duties as required.

Qualifications.—Essential: University degree, preferably in fields underlying or related to linguistics. 'Two years' professional experience in several fields of scientific or technical literature, preparation of reference abstracts and notes for authors, cataloguing and indexing.

Excellent knowledge of one official language (English, French, Spanish) and familiarity with the other two. Initiative, diligence, ability to do linguistic research thoroughly and profitably. Ability to work in harmony with persons of different nationalities. Aptitude for languages. Familiarity with international organizations and particularly with FAO.

Qualifications.—Desirable: Training in one or more of the sciences within FAO's fields, to university level.

Familiarity with technical terminology relating to one or more of FAO's fields of subject matter and of the nature and purposes of the Organization. Previous work in an international organization, preferably in languages.

Emoluments.—based on US $ equivalents, are net of national income tax. They are payable in the currency of the Duty Station; and on request, partially in the currency of the Home Station:

Salary.—Gross $5,750 to $7,750 (equivalent to a 'net' range of $4,800-$6,410).

Family Allowance.—Spouse $400, Child $300, Secondary dependent $200.
