CLAIM FOR REPAYMENT OR SET-OFF OF TAX DEDUCTED FROM DIVIDENDS

(a) Individuals

Section 26 of the Income Tax Management Act, 1961, entitles an individual, under certain conditions, to claim from the tax authority of the State in which he is resident for the relevant year of assessment repayment or set-off of tax deducted from the dividends distributed by a Nigerian company, provided that such dividends fall to be included in the assessable income of such individual for the relevant year of assessment. Although the refund or set-off is made by the relevant State Tax Authority, the Federal Board of Inland Revenue later re-imburse the relevant State Tax Authority in respect of tax deducted from dividends so included in the individual's income for tax purposes.

In order to safeguard Federal Government revenue, one of the steps precedent to effecting a re-imbursement to the relevant State Tax Authority is that the Federal Tax Authority seeks to satisfy itself that the tax deducted from the dividends has been or will be accounted for to the Federal Board of Inland Revenue. The main document, among others, on which the Board relies for verification is the dividend warrant which normally sets out as required by section 34 of the Companies Income Tax Act, 1961, the details of the dividend and the tax deducted at source by the Nigerian company. Although the law does not stipulate any particular mode of preparing a dividend warrant (e.g. writing or printing), it is the duty of the Board to safeguard Federal Government revenue against possible fraud by tightening the security and therefore establishing the authenticity of dividend warrants presented to State Tax Authorities in the first instance by individual taxpayers, and subsequently forwarded by the State Tax Authorities to the Board for reimbursement. The existing practice whereby duplicate (instead of printed original), typewritten or even hand-written, dividend warrants are produced, is fraught with grave risks, and entails an involved process of security checks and counter-checks.

It is hereby notified for general information that as from the date of this notice the Federal Board of Inland Revenue will no longer entertain reimbursement claims which are not supported with printed and numbered original dividend warrants. Duplicates, copies, typewritten or hand-written warrants will be rejected. Companies are therefore enjoined in the interest of themselves and their shareholders to have their dividend warrants printed, numbered and recorded for future easy reference. Taxpayers are also advised to keep their original printed dividend warrants in safe custody, as copies or duplicates will not be accepted by the Federal Board of Inland Revenue for purposes of reimbursement to the State Tax Authorities, which in turn means that the State Tax Authorities will not accept copies or duplicates for purposes of refund or set-off in favour of individual taxpayers.

(b) Companies

A company claiming refund or set-off from the Federal Board of Inland Revenue in respect of tax deducted from dividends will also be required to produce printed, numbered original dividend warrants in respect of all dividends declared after the date of this notice.

(c) Outstanding cases (Individuals and Companies)

Each claim for refund outstanding at this date will be treated on its merit after very careful scrutiny by the Board.

DATED at Lagos this 19th day of October, 1970.

E. A. OSINDERO,
Chairman,
Federal Board of Inland Revenue
