UNESCO VACANCY

SPECIAL FUND APPOINTMENT

1. Title of post.—Audiovisual Senior Technician.
2. Location.—Port of Spain, Trinidad (St. Augustine, U.W.I.).
3. Background.—The purpose of Project REG-142: "Junior Secondary Teacher Training and Curriculum Development: Regional Caribbean" is to expand and assist in improving the existing facilities for junior-secondary teacher education and curriculum development within the 15 countries and territories of the English-speaking Caribbean. The project is thus regional in its scope and purposes, based not in one institution in one country but linked with some 20 teachers' colleges in 15 territories. These teachers' colleges within the project area are affiliated through the Institute of Education of the University of the West Indies which has permanent offices in Jamaica, Trinidad and Barbados.

The project is therefore designed to support and supplement the Institute's efforts to improve the quality of teacher education and teaching in and through the development of modern curricula relevant to the needs of pupils in the lower-secondary sector of the regional Caribbean.

To this end it will build up the resource materials which can be drawn upon in teacher training and curriculum workshop. The project will also stimulate the production of educational materials by establishing a regional Production Centre and improving the capability of "Colleges" for production.

In particular, attention will be given to developing specialized educational "Units" designed for classroom use which, together with related teachers' guides, instructional materials and assignments, will be serviceable in teachers' colleges, in correspondence or other in-service teacher training activities. By these means and by direct support for microteaching developments the project will assist the Institute in promoting new models for teacher education and curriculum building.

For optimal coverage and communication, internationally recruited staff will be deployed in seven duty stations but their work and that of the project as a whole organized around three major sectors.

The project will be accommodated within the Institute of Education on its three campuses at Mona (Jamaica), St. Augustine (Trinidad) and Bridgetown (Barbados) and elsewhere in local teachers' colleges. For teaching and workshop purposes, in any sector, the project will share the facilities of teachers' colleges some of which are being expanded to meet the growing student enrolment, and will work in relation to the rapidly developing junior secondary schools or departments.

The project is at present in the preparatory stage. There are five experts at Mona: J. A. Hendry, Chief Technical Adviser, C. Bourdais, Instructional Materials Specialist, R. McKenzie, English Language expert, J. Heinekens, expert in Science, and E. Himes, expert in Mathematics.

4. Functions.—Under the general direction of the Head of the Institute of Education and the Chief Technical Adviser and under the immediate supervision of the Specialist in the Production of Educational Materials responsible for the Production Centre, the expert will be required:

- (a) to develop within the Production Centre a maintenance unit for the repair and servicing of project equipment;
- (b) to assist in the development and production of educational aids and materials;
- (c) to be responsible for the training of the Production Centre's technical staff, and on a regional basis, to instruct teacher educators and junior secondary teachers in the use, care and maintenance of educational aids and equipment;
- (d) to assist in the training of audiovisual technicians for the Production Centre and for sub-regional centres;
- (e) to operate and maintain the instructional TV units and studio;
- (f) to assist in sessions recording on sound and video tapes at professional level;
- (g) to assist in the selection and training of counterparts and co-tutors;
- (h) to prepare reports required by Unesco and the Special Fund;
- (i) to carry out such duties as may be assigned to him on an ad hoc basis by the Secretariat and the Chief Technical Adviser which are considered necessary for the execution of the Project.

5. Qualifications:

- (a) A suitable University degree or equivalent experience;
- (b) Considerable professional training in the field of all types of audiovisual equipment, with emphasis on the technical aspects of electrical, mechanical and particularly electronic aids;
- (c) Experience in conducting technical training.

6. Language qualifications.—Excellent English.

7. Duration of appointment.—Two years, beginning January 1972.

8. International salary and allowances.—(Net of national income tax—payable partly in the currency of the staff member's home or of the duty station).
