Post title (Post No., Project).—PROJECT MANAGER, (Strengthening of the Nigerian Institute for Oil Palm Research (NIFOR) Benin) NIR71/545/A/01/12

Vacancy announcement.—No. 865-AGS-42.

Date issued.—23rd August, 1972.

Closing date.—18th October, 1972.

Duty station.—Benin—Nigeria.

Duration.—52 months.

Starting date.—As soon as possible.

Background information.—Of Nigeria's total production of palm oil, only some 8 per cent is being processed by modern methods. Of the remainder, a small part is extracted by means of the hand-operated screw-press, but the greatest quantity is still produced by traditional methods giving a low extraction ratio. The overall extraction yield is estimated at not more than 55 per cent, whereas the potential extraction yield using modern equipment (including the hydraulic hand-press designed for relatively small-scale operators) is in the range of 85 per cent to 92 per cent.

Efforts are to be directed towards design and development of superior, less costly and more complete small-scale processing equipment.

The immediate objectives of the project are as follows:

The creation of a training centre at NIFOR with strengthening of the existing extension services in the various states and training of estate personnel as its main purpose.

The design and testing of efficient small-scale processing and related equipment for production of palm oil.

Duties.—The project manager will be responsible for the overall supervision of the project activities, the co-ordination of the experts' work and the work to be sub-contracted.

He will:

organize, co-ordinate and plan the UNDP contributions through the Executing Agency FAO for the international experts, fellowships, equipment and other services needed by the project.

advise the Director of NIFOR, at his request, and in consultation with the project experts on the technical aspects of the activities covered both by the Institute and the project.

supervise the international staff of the project consisting of:

Processing engineer; equipment design and testing engineer; agricultural economist; small business administrator.

Qualifications.—University degree in food technology, or commercial engineering or economics.

Experience.—At least ten years of progressively responsible duties as a skilled administrator with training in the field of economics, business administration or agronomy and with experience in rural development projects directed towards small-scale farmers, preferably in Africa.

Language.—Fluent English.

Other.—Knowledge of oil palm and experience in private industry highly desirable.

Emoluments.—Salaries and benefits are liberal, commensurate with the responsibilities of the post and in line with the depth and breadth of training and experience.

Method of application.—Applications to reach Central Recruitment (Professional) Personnel Division, FAO, via delle Terme di Caracalla, 00100-Rome, Italy, by 18th October, 1972. Quote: 865-AGS-42.

HYDROMETEOROLOGICAL TRAINING AND RESEARCH INSTITUTE, ORAN

The purpose of this project is to assist the Algerian Government to establish a Training and Research Institute for the training of specialists in meteorology, and agrometeorology of all levels. This project has begun in May 1970 for a duration of four years.

This Institute will be incorporated in the National Meteorological Service which will be established in due course and will assume the entire responsibility for satisfying all meteorological and applied meteorological needs in Algeria.

Within the framework of the Institute the following training activities are being carried out :

professional training of Class I, Class II, Class III and Class IV meteorologists ; practical or specialized training in the fields of instruments and methods of observation, forecasting, climatology, agrometeorology and hydrometeorology ;

short-term refresher courses for personnel of the meteorological service or other governmental institutions.

The research work to be undertaken at the Institute will specially concern with the problems of arid and semi-arid zones in the fields of agrometeorology and operational hydrology. The research programme shall be drawn up in agreement with the Technical and Scientific Board of the Institute.

The language of instruction at the Institute is French. The Institute is open to foreign students.

In addition to the Project Manager, six instructors are included in the international staff. Provision is also made for consultant services. Study fellowships will be granted to counterpart instructors.

Besides teaching materials, the UNDP will provide laboratory equipment and equipment for the reception, transmission and processing of data.

ANNEX TO BOL/WMO.SF/3 Rev. 1

DEVELOPMENT AND IMPROVEMENT OF METEOROLOGICAL AND HYDROLOGICAL SERVICES IN BOLIVIA

The purpose of the project is to assist the Government in its meteorological and hydrological observation networks and in the establishment of an adequate central service to assemble, process and disseminate the information thus obtained.

Reliable meteorological and hydrological information is essential for the development of many important projects and activities in Bolivia in sectors influenced by climate and water resources such as agriculture, hydro-electric power production, transportation and colonization. Sufficient information cannot be provided by the existing systems which include only 35 synoptic, 92 thermopluviol, 347 pluviometric and one radio sounding station in the meteorological network and only 63 inadequately installed hydrological stations. In addition, all these stations are grouped in small areas, leaving entire regions practically without observations, moreover, they are managed by different ministries and organizations.

The Government, as a first step to improve this situation, has officially established the Meteorological and Hydrological National Service as a centralized organization with authority for technical and administrative matters in the entire country and for establishing relations with foreign specialized organizations. A plan for extending and improving these services has been formulated by the Bolivian Development Corporation and the Ministry of Planning and the Government requested assistance from the UNDP (Special Fund) for carrying out this plan.

The project activities will cover the initial stage of a programme for the development of the meteorological and hydrological services, from which the following benefits are expected:

(a) To provide data and information on climate conditions and hydraulic resources in certain regions of the country in which there are no systematic observations;

(b) To improve and extend the meteorological and hydrological information in those areas of the country where some data have already been obtained;

(c) To build up, initially, the network in the Upper Amazon River Basin, which is required for proposed development programme in that region;

(d) To provide the Government agencies, private enterprises and individuals with the information needed for agricultural transportation and other current activities including all land and water resources development projects;

(e) To allow the Government to participate, with reliable data and information, in the international enterprises for the development of the Amazon and La Plata River Basins and to provide meaningful co-operation with the objectives of the International hydrological Decade programmes.

During the course of the project, staff will be trained in modern methods of data collection and processing, and in the operation and maintenance of the new installations. Training of professional staff for the new Service will be carried out by fellowships abroad and by in-service training by the international experts.

The ultimate aim of the project is to provide Bolivia with adequate meteorological and hydrological data for planning of future economic development projects particularly the development of water resources and hydroelectricity.

Depending upon the result achieved at the end of the project a second stage of the project will be considered.

ANNEX TO WMO/DOM/1

DEVELOPMENT OF THE NATIONAL METEOROLOGICAL SERVICE OF THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

The project which will have a two-year duration will constitute the first phase of overall programme for developing the Meteorological Department of the Dominican Republic so as to enable it to achieve the following results :

(a) Improving the forecast and warning system of hurricanes in order to foresee and diminish as far as possible the damage and loss of life which they may cause ;

(b) making available the basic meteorological data required for the planning of agricultural development, increasing the productivity of existing crops and introducing new ones in those regions which possess the necessary climatological conditions ;

(c) introducing a system of meteorological information for agricultural operations ;

(d) providing hydrometeorological data necessary for the utilization of water resources and for introducing a service of forecasting rising water levels ;

(e) a better participation of the Dominican Republic in the World Weather Watch, and the International Hydrological Decade.

The project activities during its first phase will be directed to the following objectives :

(a) To improve the facilities and the operations of the central office of the Department of Santo Domingo by :

(i) developing the Division of Climatology and Agrometeorology ;

(ii) establishing a Division of Hydrometeorology which will operate in co-operation with the National Institute of Hydraulic Resources ;

(iii) establishing calibration and electronical laboratories and a workshop to guarantee the accuracy of the data and the proper functioning of the meteorological stations ;

(iv) installing on the grounds of the Department of Meteorology a climatological park which will be equipped with the instruments required by a climatological station as well as those which are necessary for teaching the various types of meteorological observations such as synoptic, climatological, agrometeorological and hydrometeorological.

(b) To improve the facilities and the operations of the meteorological office at the international airport ;

(c) To establish a unit for forecasting the rise of river levels, the location of which be decided during the execution of the project ;

(d) To install three main agrometeorological stations in representative agricultural areas of the country, as well as ten normal agrometeorological stations likewise strategically distributed. The characteristics and operation of these stations will follow the international standards established by the WMO.

(e) Re-equip the existing stations of the synoptic networks with modern equipment.

The international team of experts for the project will consist of the Project Manager and three experts in the fields of agrometeorology, climatology and instruments. Five fellowships and equipment for about US $179,000 will also be provided by the UNDP. The Government will provide all the necessary staff and facilities.

APPENDIX

SUMMARY OF BENEFITS ADDITIONAL TO SALARY
AVAILABLE TO HOLDERS OF NON-CAREER APPOINTMENTS

(Amounts Quoted are in US Dollars)

1. Dependency allowance.—$400 per annum for a spouse and $300 per annum for each child provided those concerned qualify as being financially dependent upon the staff member. If the allowance in respect of a spouse is not paid a dependency allowance at the rate of $200 per annum may be paid in respect of a parent or a brother or sister, subject to the same condition of financial dependency upon the staff member.

2. Education grant.—Under certain conditions an education grant is paid up to a maximum of $1,000 per child annually, as well as expenditure on children's education travel to and from the home country or other permissible place of education.

3. Pension fund.—The staff member will become a full participant in the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Fund, which involves a contribution by the staff member of 7 per cent of his pensionable remuneration (presently established at 105 per cent of the gross salary) with the Organization contributing 14 per cent. The staff member's contribution plus accrued interest will be refunded to him on termination of his contract.

4. Compensation for service incurred death, injury or illness.—The Organization pays compensation for death, injury or illness attributable to the performance of official duties, in accordance with established rules.

5. Medical insurance.—The staff member will be required to participate in the Quebec Medical Insurance Plan (Medicare) and the appropriate deduction will be made from his salary. In addition there is a supplemental optional group medical insurance plan.

6. Life insurance.—A group life insurance plan can be joined by the staff member.

7. Sick leave.—Adequate sick leave is granted.

8. Annual leave.—Six weeks annual leave accrue each year.

9. Travel and related expenses on appointment.—The Organization meets the cost of travel expenses of the staff member and his recognized dependents from his home to the duty station, and in addition pays reasonable costs of removal of furniture and personal effects. Alternatively the Organization may decide to pay an assignment allowance in lieu of removal of furniture and personal effects. Also payable is an installation grant, varying in amount according to the location of the duty station and the number of dependents of the staff member, to compensate for expenses normally incurred in initially settling in at the duty station.

10. Travel and related expenses on termination.—The Organization pays the cost of travel of the staff member and his recognized dependents from the duty station to his home. The Organization also pays reasonable costs of removal of furniture and personal effects to the staff member's home unless the staff member was being paid an assignment allowance during his appointment.

11. Terminal expenses.—A repatriation grant designed to assist the staff member in re-establishing himself in his home country and varying in amount with the length of service rendered and family status is paid on separation from service.
