Description of duties :

General.—To lead a team of four international experts, attached to the Consultancy and Promotion Cell established, with financial assistance from Government, by the National Co-operative Consumers' Federation (NCCF) of India for the development of consumer co-operatives. The main objectives of the project are :

(i) to help the consumer co-operatives in India to consolidate their position effectively by formulating management and operational guidelines, building up a cadre of managers, organisations of effective arrangements for staff training, and establishment of bodies of experts who can render consultancy services and guide the movement towards increased economic, trading, operational and organisational efficiency; and

(ii) to assist in the strengthening of the existing co-operative structure, expansion of consumer co-operative enterprises, and in the planning and launching of new ones.

It is envisaged that the Committee of Direction already set up by the Government to guide and strengthen the working of the Consultancy and Promotional Cell of the National Co-operative Consumers' Federation will advise on the overall work programme of the project and ensure co-ordination of efforts between the activities of the project on the one hand, and various organisations, institutions and departments active in the field.

Specific.—The duties of the Team Leader will fall into two main categories :

A. Duties related to the project :

(1) The Team Leader will be responsible to the ILO (as executing agency) for the execution of the project.

(2) He will plan, implement and control the activities of the project in accordance with the policy laid down in the Plan of Operation and the Work Plans and lead activities on towards effective transmission of management consultancy and extension methods to the counterpart staff and to the co-operatives in close collaboration with the co-operating agency of the project and the Project Manager (local).

(3) He will confer with and provide advice and assistance to the Government authorities, in particular to the Board of Directors of the NCCF and to the Project Manager, on all matters relating to the organisation, administration and development of the project.

(4) He will assist the Project Manager in pre-operational activities, such as clearance of the project equipment, briefing of local staff and other steps to prepare the operations of the project.

(5) He will assist the Project Manager in the planning of personnel management (local staff) so as to engender and maintain congenial working conditions, to guide the members of the professional staff in their specialised assignment with the aim to ensure that they work as a well co-ordinated, motivated and efficient team.

(6) He will, in collaboration with the Project Manager, establish and maintain, at central and state levels, good relations on the part of the NCCF and the India consumer co-operative movement with the Government, with ministries and other educational institutions engaged in teaching of business administration and co-operative management.

(7) He will serve as a channel of communication between the ILO and the competent local authorities, including the Project Manager, and between the ILO and the team of experts.

(8) He will be responsible to ILO for the equipment supplied to the project until it is handed over to the Government.

(9) He will be required to submit periodical reports to the ILO on the overall progress of the project, and on the work of the team as well as such other reports on project activities as may be requested by the ILO from time to time.

(10) He will, in collaboration with the co-operating agency and ILO, develop a system whereby the endeavours to meet the objectives of the project are continuously measured.

B. Duties related to the international team of experts and local staff :

(11) The project staff is required to work as a unit and efficient team, each member working towards the common objectives of the project. In his capacity of Team Leader, he will provide leadership required for the concerted and harmonious working relationship within the team.

(12) He will have to guide and assist the international team of experts and local staff to plan and implement their respective work programmes. He will supervise the formulation of the training programmes and the local training of the national project personnel.

(13) He will be responsible for ensuring proper standards of work, consistency, continuity and cohesion in the work of the individual members of the team through meeting and other media.

(14) He will allot work to individual experts and decide upon the composition of the mobile teams in consultation with the Project Manager.

C. Duties related to planning, organisation and research :

(15) Study of planning, organisation and research methods, as well as of policies and plans for development of consumer co-operatives. Carry out first examination of the problems related to structure and co-ordination, including questions related to personnel policies, career structure, etc.

(16) Formulation of national/State area-wide plans for development of consumer co-operatives consistent with national policies and Fourth/Fifth Plan programmes of the Government of India.

(17) Co-ordination and streamlining of functions of various tiers of consumer co-operative structure, including structural reforms.

(18) Investigation of growth potential, fields for expansion activities and re-orientation of policies of consumer co-operative institutions with a view to adopting modern trends and techniques in organisation and operation.

(19) Investigation of the trade operations including formulation of projects for establishment of consumer industries, and preparation of feasibility projects for such activities.

Qualifications required.—Thorough knowledge of planning of consumer co-operative institutions, principles and practices, preferably obtained through service in nation-wide consumer co-operative enterprises and Government Departments.

Experience in executive management and in management consultancy, acquired for a considerable length of time in various stages; possessing a strong base in all aspects of store management in a large co-operative enterprise.

Government Notice No. 1301

ANNOUNCEMENT OF FIELD POST VACANCY IN THE FOOD AND AGRICULTURE ORGANIZATION OF THE UNITED NATIONS

Post title (Post No., Project).—FOREST ENGINEERING (Roads and Bridges) Training in Multiple-use Forest Management PHI/72/006.

Vacancy announcement.—No. 1080-FOD-96.

Date issued.—12th July, 1973.

Closing date.—6th September, 1973.

Duty station.—Baguio City, Philippines.

Duration.—2 years.

Starting date.—October 1973.

Background.—Large areas of forest have become degraded due to bad logging practices and the increasing encroachment of shifting cultivation. This in turn has created serious erosion hazards. To implement a policy of forest and land rehabilitation the Government will require large numbers of field personnel with practical training in the necessary activities. The project is designed to work out the most suitable measures to be applied in typical watersheds and set up an inservice training system based on the conservation techniques which it will be practising.

Duties.—The expert will be responsible for the planning and construction of the forest road network within the Forest Districts with which the project is involved, and in accordance with the forest management plans for these Districts. The present situation in the Philippines is that road construction within the major forest areas is carried out by logging concessionaires. These roads are essentially geared to the logging operation only, with little or no consideration for other uses such as access, inspection, fire control, etc. In the drier parts of the country, the construction of public roads through forest and watershed areas has frequently resulted in severe erosion problems and part of the expert's work will be to demonstrate methods whereby the danger of erosion from faulty road construction can be avoided.

The planning, construction and maintenance of roads, tracks, bridges, culverts, etc. will form part of the field training being given to technical staff under project PHI/72/006.

In addition to the above work, the expert will prepare lecture material for the training programme, and will assist with the theoretical as well as the practical training of technical staff.

Qualifications.—Degree in Forestry or Civil Engineering.

Candidates may be requested to provide satisfactory evidence of the educational qualifications shown in their applications. Appointments to vacant positions may depend upon the candidate selected providing such evidence for inclusion in his official personnel file.

Experience.—At least seven years' professional practice including forest road construction.

Language.—English to a standard adequate for giving training courses, preparing manuals and writing reports.

Other.—Preferably some experience of tropical conditions and of forest engineering in areas with a high erosion hazard.

Emoluments.—Salaries and benefits are liberal, commensurate with the responsibilities of the post and in line with the depth and breadth of training and experience.

Method of application.—Applications to reach Central Recruitment (Professional), Personnel Division, FAO, via delle Terme di Caracalla, 00100-Rome, Italy by 6th September, 1973. Quote : 1080-FOD-96.

Duration.—Two years.

Starting date.—As soon as possible.

Background.—The Government of Iraq is developing two main livestock stations in the north, at Aski-Kalak, primarily for sheep and at Bakrajo, primarily for cattle. This project aims at increasing livestock production, primarily through (a) developing these stations as centres of training and demonstration in modern livestock husbandry, forage production and grazing management; (b) conducting trials in sheep and cattle management at the village level; and (c) promoting improved livestock extension and veterinary services by demonstrating techniques at demonstration centres and on farms in pilot areas.

Duties.—To determine input-output relationships and possibilities for improved resources use in various sheep and cattle production enterprises.

To prepare a development plan for livestock production in Northern Iraq.

To undertake feasibility studies of selected sheep and cattle projects for potential investors.

To train national counterparts.

Qualifications.—University degree (preferably a Masters or Ph.D.) in agricultural economics or economics.

Candidates may be requested to provide satisfactory evidence of the educational qualifications shown in their applications. Appointments to vacant positions may depend upon the candidate selected providing such evidence for inclusion in his official personal file.

Experience.—Knowledge of livestock production and experience of conducting cost of production and economic feasibility studies of agricultural projects with particular reference to livestock development and production.

Languages.—English, some knowledge of Arabic would be helpful.

Emoluments.—Salaries and benefits are liberal, commensurate with the responsibilities of the post and in line with the depth and breadth of training and experience.

Method of application.—Applications to reach Central Recruitment (Professional) Personnel Division, FAO via delle Terme di Caracalla, 00100-Rome, Italy by 6th September, 1973. Quote : 1079 ESP-52.
