Vacancy announcement.—No. 1198-FOD-108.

Date issued.—1st January, 1974.

Closing date.—30th March, 1974.

Duty station.—World-wide in Developing Countries.

Duration.—1 to 3 years.

Starting date.—Mid 1974.

Background.—In 1974 it is foreseen that FAO Forestry Department will have about 400 forestry experts and consultants working on projects in 62 developing countries.

The work involved in these projects calls for professional foresters of many disciplines, serving in international teams. FAO foresters are selected not only for their professional skills but also for their ability to adapt to local customs, to work harmoniously in close co-operation with local representatives, and generally, by their conduct and enterprises, to make an effective contribution towards the development plan of the country in which they serve.

Duties.—These posts range widely in their nature from undertaking specific tasks such as :

Estimating costs of producing wood from plantations.

Advising on stumpage sales and concession agreement.

Lecturing at seminars on economic planning.

Planning and conducting wood consumption surveys.

Locating market outlets for particular products to broadly-based duties such as :

Participating in the formulation of a national development plan.

Developing a national statistical programme for the forest sector.

Undertaking economic analysis of the forestry sector.

Examining past trends and future prospects for wood supply and demand.

Participating in river basin or regional socio-economic studies.

Qualifications.—Degree in forestry or economics with at least 5 years of experience in applied forest economics. Graduate training in the field is desirable.

Candidates may be requested to provide satisfactory evidence of the educational qualifications shown in their applications. Appointments to vacant positions may depend upon the candidate selected providing such evidence for inclusion in his official personnel file.

Languages.—Good knowledge of English, French or Spanish. A knowledge of one other of these languages is desirable.

Emoluments.—Salaries and benefits are liberal, commensurate with the responsibilities of the post and in line with the depth and breadth of training and experience.

Method of application.—Applications to reach Central Recruitment (Professional), Personnel Division, FAO, via delle Terme di Caracalla, 00100-Rome, Italy by 30th March, 1974. Quote: 1198-FOD-108.
