Government Notice 348

PAYMENT OF OUTSTANDING FEDERAL INCOME TAX ON OR BEFORE
21st MARCH, 1975

The Federal Board of Inland Revenue hereby reminds every company owing Federal Income Tax (including super tax, capital gains tax, etc.) and every individual still owing the Federal Board any personal income tax/rate, for any year of assessment up to and including 1974-75 assessment, that full settlement of such outstanding tax MUST be made to the Federal Board of Inland Revenue on or before the 21st March, 1975 unless in exercise of its powers under the provisions of the appropriate Acts or Decrees, the Board has already communicated to a particular company or taxpayer its decision to extend the time for payment.

2. After the 21st March, 1975, the statutory penalty of 10 per cent will, unless already imposed, be added to any outstanding tax in respect of which there is no arrangement for deferred payment. Appropriate legal proceedings as provided for by the relevant Act, will therefore be taken against all defaulting taxpayers to recover both tax and penalty.

ANNEX

Background.—The African Training and Research Centre in Administration for Development (CAFRAD) was founded through the initiative of the Government of Morocco supported in the General Conference of Unesco by ten African States covering the major regions of the continent. Its legal existence rests upon an agreement signed on 13th May, 1974, between Unesco and Morocco. The first meeting of the Governing Board in July 1965 determined CAFRAD's work and objectives and its general organizational framework. In December 1967 a Permanent Multilateral Agreement was signed by eleven Member States.

Legally, the Centre is an "African regional institution" under international law, open to the membership of all African States and located in Tangier, Morocco.

By July 1974 the number of States that had joined CAFRAD totalled twenty—Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, Mauritania, Libya, A.R.E., Sudan, Senegal, Ivory-Coast, Cameroon, Zambia, Central African Republic, Somalia, Togo, Ghana, Kenya, Niger, Sierra Leone, Liberia and Nigeria. In June 1971, it became a UN Special Fund Project.

Functions of CAFRAD, as defined by the 1967 Agreement, are as follows :

to undertake, promote and co-ordinate comparative studies and research on administrative problems connected with social and economic development in Africa ;

to organize scientific meetings, seminars and in-service training courses for high-ranking officials from the public and private sectors in African countries who play a significant role in development ;

to compile, analyse and disseminate documentation on the structure, organization and administrative methods of the different African countries ;

to publish appropriate material ;

to act as host and as a scientific liaison body for the particular benefit of institutions and schools of administration, universities and, more generally, any other agencies whose activities come within the scope of the competence of the Centre.

Recent developments and the expressed needs of African Governments require that CAFRAD shall embark on a dynamic programme of providing at Tangier, and throughout Africa, short high-level training and staff development seminars for senior administrators and teachers of development administration, as well as expand its research, documentation and publication activities in order to give support to, and supplement the work of, national public administration institutions.

The purpose of the UNDP Assistance to CAFRAD is to increase the ability of CAFRAD in helping to solve the practical administrative problems of African Governments through training, research and documentation, in accordance with their needs and wishes. CAFRAD has developed, with the advice of African Governments, a programme for 1974-78 which emphasizes the management aspect of the public sector activity—that is on an inter-disciplinary and innovative approach to the problems of combining resources and technology and action programmes leading to rapid economic and social development. In presenting its programmes CAFRAD co-operates, at the regional, sub-regional and national level, with other interested international organizations and agencies, such as the ECA, OAU and the ADB, and particularly with the national training institutions.

Under the CAFRAD Agreement the Governing Board is composed of all Member States ; Organizations and institutions supporting its work are represented at the meetings of the Governing Board as appropriate.
