INTEGRATED AND COMPREHENSIVE ENERGY
POLICY OF THE ECONOMIC COMMUNITY OF WEST AFRICAN STATES

BACKGROUND TO POLICY OBJECTIVES

The Member States of the Economic Community of West African States—ECOWAS—in deliberating over the matter of Energy do hereby state their recognition and/or acknowledgement of the following considerations and facts :—

1. All MAN's activity depends on the availability of ENERGY ; and all the epochal changes in history are associated with the materials of his tools just as well as the forms of ENERGY that moved those tools. This has led to the description of ENERGY, in the present epoch, as "the OXYGEN" of modern industrial civilization.

2. Technically, it has been said that the standard of living, as measured by the Gross National Product (GNP) is a function of the amount of ENERGY consumed in any community as can be expressed in the following mathematical language ; where L = Standard of Living.

R = Raw Materials Consumed.

E = Energy Consumed.

I = Ingenuity (Technological, Political and Socio-Economic) Applied

P = Population of the Community.

3. The already developed countries of the world attained their present levels of Industrial/Economic Advancement under conditions of cheap Energy Resources, mainly the fossil fuels (coal, crude oil and natural gas) and the technical capability to process these resources into readily acceptable and easily utilisable forms of Energy.

4. On Account of the relatively low level of Scientific and Technological capabilities of the countries where the oil exists in large quantities, almost the entire spectrum of activities involved (from exploration up to delivery of final products to the consumers), even within the oil producing/exporting countries, is dominated by companies of the industrialised major oil importers/consumers. This has led to a situation in which the ECOWAS Member States who produce and export oil find themselves unable to exercise effective control over their respective oil industry.

5. Despite the recent attainment of Political Independence by the industrially less developed countries, the pattern of relationship has scarcely changed for reason of the failure by these countries to invest a significant percentage of their efforts and resources towards the rapid acquisition of SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNOLOGICAL CAPABILITY to control the spectrum of activities related to the exploitation of their Energy and other Raw Materials.

The TECHNOLOGY of production and the consumption pattern of all industrial commodities, both in developed and developing countries are so critically dependent on ENERGY that the slightest disequilibrium in the world ENERGY market produces devastating effects throughout the world. The direct experience of most oil importing countries (and the induced experience of even the oil producing/exporting countries) since the 'Energy Crisis' of late 1973, highlights the STRATEGIC IMPORTANCE OF ENERGY IN WORLD ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT. The linkage between ENERGY and the overall DEVELOPMENT and SECURITY of any Community is no longer a matter for debate.

6. With the 'Energy Crisis' of 1973 and beyond, the awareness crystallised in the world of the finiteness and ultimate exhaustion of the TOTAL world reserves of the fossil and nuclear fuels. This has precipitated an intensification of interest in NEW AND RENEWABLE SOURCES OF ENERGY. Both the developed and developing countries of the world are now in search of the best ways and means of bringing about peaceful and orderly TRANSITION of the global economy to the New and Renewable sources of Energy—early enough to ensure the continued availability, into the indefinite future of the fossil fuels which are also of critical importance to MANKIND for non-Energy use as basic Feedstock in Chemical Industry. The Members of ECOWAS cannot close their eyes to the current world-wide activities in this seemingly new frontier of human activity without disastrous consequences to the whole Community within the next decade.

7. The ECOWAS is one of the poorest Sub-Regions of the world. The poverty situation in the COMMUNITY is such that the United Nations Organisation has categorised nearly half of the Member States of the Community among the 30 least developed nations in the world. Thus while the ECOWAS constitutes only THREE per cent of the total world population, the Community contributes nearly TWENTY-FIVE per cent of the poorest countries of the world. To rescue the Community from the present undesirable state calls for a MARSHALL PLAN ON ENERGY. Only a sustained concerted approach will bring about any significant change in the Community's disastrous ENERGY situation.

8. The ECOWAS Sub-Region is blessed with a satisfactory Energy Resources Base—'conventional' and 'non-conventional' however several demand and supply issues must be resolved both within each Members State and at Community level before a satisfactory approach can emerge towards eliminating the current bottleneck which ENERGY—more than finance—poses for the rapid and orderly development of the Community. Fundamental and far-reaching DECISIONS must be taken NOW and ACTIONS initiated IMMEDIATELY on an INTEGRATED COMPREHENSIVE ENERGY POLICY AND PLAN for the Community in order to avoid further aggravated adverse implications for the Community's development.

9. Policy decisions should be geared towards dealing with specific problems of the Energy Sector within the whole Community.

1. There is almost a total dependence of most Member States on exorbitant Energy Resources imported from outside the Community;

2. There is the attendant escalation of prices paid for petroleum products and electric power;

3. There is the near-total absence of data for more critical analysis of the Energy Sector of the Community ;

4. The Rural Urban dichotomy in Energy supply has brought about a catastrophic degree of migration to the urban centres with the consequent stretching of the urban infrastructure beyond limits and virtual collapse of Agriculture ;

5. There is an acute SKILLED MANPOWER and financial shortage obstructing the effective development and efficient utilization of Energy in the urban centres ;

6. There is an overdependence on FUELWOOD resource in the face of the encroaching desert and the concomitant SAHELIAN DROUGHT.

10. A radical re-orientation is called for towards the Energy Equation at all levels of the ECOWAS Sub-Region if we are to succeed in dealing effectively with the current Energy difficulties in order to generate a much higher standard of living among the ENTIRE POPULATION of the Community. The most critical among the changes that must be made both at the highest level of Government and among the general population is in the present attitude, to the Community's wealth of Energy and other Natural Resources, which regards them primarily as foreign cash earners. Indigenous SCIENTIFIC and TECHNOLOGICAL capability will transform part of these resources to create a level of living comparable to anywhere in the world within a QUARTER of a century!

11. The change in the pattern of Energy use within the LDCs closely follows the trend in the developed countries. This reflects the critical total dependence of the LDCs on imports of machinery, appliances, transport equipment and technical expertise from the developed countries, most of which are based on the use of petroleum products either directly or through oil-based electric power generation. This built-in-dependence and imitative Energy consumption pattern of the LDCs has adverse strategic implications for the pattern of as well as the potential for the advancement of the LDCs. It constrains, from the very start, the capacity of these countries to utilise their own Energy Resources other than oil.

12. Oil will, of course, continue to play a dominant role in the Energy requirements of most countries in the short and medium term. The questions that arise include:

1. Will it continue to be available for the period of time which must transpire before the new and renewable sources can come firmly on the Energy Scene within easy commercial terms in the ECOWAS Sub-Region?

2. What will be the cost of the oil and what are the balance of payments implications for the non-oil-producing Members of the ECOWAS ?

13. An analysis of the ratio of current production to proven reserves of crude oil produces a trend which, on a straight extrapolation, suggests :

1. Possible physical limitations to increasing world oil production by the early 1990's except in the Middle East ;

2. Severe competition among developed oil importers which may translate itself into policy of direct economic as well as strategic confrontation, and

3. Another spell of skyrocketing of oil prices occasioned by the downward trend in oil reserves.

The trend will definitely obstruct progress towards an expanding and more prosperous world economy from which some benefit will extend to the less developed countries. Furthermore, increasing oil import bills could exceed the financial capability and foreign exchange resources of the ECOWAS Members.

14. Thus the fundamental issue of SURVIVAL now stares the 200 million people of the ECOWAS Sub-Region in the face. Shortage of Energy which has been identified as the most crucial of the many problems confronting the Community is exacerbated by the twin embarrassment of foreign exchange and brain drain. And all of these can be linked with the failure of the Member States to build viable mechanisms of mutual co-operation among themselves. Perhaps this decade of 1980's will provide the acid test for the maturity and ability of the Member States of the Community to plan for collective survival or to allow themselves to perish individually.

15. There is an escalating FUELWOOD crisis within the entire Community and the hope cannot be said to be bright that the situation is most likely to improve in the near future in the wake of the crippling SAHELIAN DROUGHT which has hit virtually all Member States of the Community. What future then for life in the countryside which depends almost entirely on FUELWOOD for its Energy source?

16. There is now a world-wide spate of activities geared towards an ultimate TRANSITION to NEW AND RENEWABLE SOURCES OF ENERGY, on account of the new awareness of the ultimate complete depletion of the total but finite world reserves of all the hydrocarbons. Most of the New and Renewable Sources of Energy abound within the ECOWAS Sub-Region, their technologies are fairly accessible to the indigenous Energy Experts of the Community who can be mobilised and given the facility to increase their number several-fold within a short space of time. There is also the prospect that environmental pollution will be relatively less with the New and Renewable Sources than with the conventional sources of Energy—for the same amount of Energy produced and used.

17. Experience gained within the relatively recent past indicates that a good deal of advantage can be realised by firmly placing the Renewable Energy Technologies within an Integrated and Comprehensive Energy Policy and Plan which takes adequate care of the various dimensions including Resources Inventory, Manpower Development, Research and Development of New Products and Processes, Establishment of Relevant Industries for commercialisation of Research Results and the Provision of adequate Financial and Infrastructural Facilities for the successful engagement in all these activities within the ECOWAS Sub-Region.

18. One of the most promising and most viable of these New and Renewable Sources within the Community is SOLAR ENERGY. Technologies already exist, world-wide, for its utilisation in water-heating, water-pumping and irrigation, more efficient and more hygienic crop-drying, space cooling and also electric-power production, some of which are of IMMEDIATE RELEVANCE and APPLICABILITY to the Community's Economic and Social Development Efforts—particularly in the neglected RURAL AREAS.

Effective Solar Energy Training, Research and development could become the seed of an INDUSTRIAL REVOLUTION which will transform and modernise the RURAL AREAS and contribute in a large measure towards stemming and ultimately reversing the current disastrous rural-to-urban migration which has over-stretched the limited facilities and infrastructure in the urban centres and fuels the escalation in crime rate.

Without reversing the current trend of rural-to-urban migration the much-desired and much-debated reactivation of AGRICULTURE for self-sufficiency in FOOD production, in the first place, will remain a pipe-dream and the dwindling meagre foreign exchange resources will continue to be expended on importation of local food requirements among other items.

Fortunately, the existing technologies in the area of SOLAR ENERGY applications (and the basic Scientific Theories behind the technologies) are within easy reach of the Scientists, Engineers and Technologists indigenous to the ECOWAS Sub-Region.

19. Already manufacturers' vendors from the industrially advanced Western countries and Japan are cashing in on the critical Energy situation within the Community and are advertising a variety of Energy equipment and appliances based on Renewable Sources, particularly Solar Energy. Most of these appliances are proto-types which have not undergone sufficient testing and may require the use of imported raw-materials for satisfactory performance. There is therefore the prospect that the citizens of the Community may be manoeuvred into paying enormous amounts of money, in foreign exchange, for facilities which have not been properly tested and adapted to our own environment and raw materials by our own Energy Experts. There is therefore the need for :

1. Collective legislation to protect the Community from continuing in the role of a dumping ground for these new appliances which may not yet have the necessary spareparts ;

2. Establishment of facilities and mechanism for the testing and adaptation of appliances to our environment and raw materials before commercialisation ;

3. Standardisation of equipment and appliances to be used within the Community and ;

4. Arrangements for production of the less sophisticated components within the Community.

20. Given the inter-relationship between the various Parameters of the ENERGY EQUATION, and given the established dependence of the level of industrial, economic and social development on a Community's capacity for efficient and use of ENERGY, it is logical to recognise that the need for an integrated and Comprehensive Energy Policy and Plan of Action in any given Community is of primary importance. This implies the need for a much greater role on the part of Government in INITIATING, CO-ORDINATING, and ENCOURAGING ENERGY DEVELOPMENT along directions consistent with the industrial, economic and social development aspirations, plan and interest of the Community.

21. In order to formulate and implement an Integrated and Comprehensive Energy Policy, some level of CENTRALISATION of decision-making process on all Government Energy Functions and Responsibilities is essential, so that conflicts of ENERGY JURISDICTION between organs of the same Government Executive and Legislative are effectively resolved.

22. In setting up an Integrated and Comprehensive Energy Policy (ICEP), the ECOWAS must take into consideration the fact that any Community Energy Policy will be viable within given Political, Economic, Social and Strategic Framework if, and only if, it is a synthesis of the vital interests and aspirations of all the Member States for the rapid and orderly development of all their citizens.

POLICY OBJECTIVES

In the light of the above and many other considerations and facts it is the POLICY of the ECOWAS :

A. INSTITUTIONAL FRAMEWORK

1. That every Member State should establish by law (to be implemented without further delay) a body within the machinery of Government to be charged with the responsibility for CO-ORDINATING and SUPERVISING all ENERGY FUNCTIONS and ACTIVITIES within each Member State. This body will look after the various elements involved in the efficient and effective Comprehensive Energy Management including :

- (i) Energy Resources Inventory
- (ii) Energy Manpower Development
- (iii) Energy Information Bank
- (iv) Energy Research and Development
- (v) Commercialisation of Energy Research Results
- (vi) Establishment of Energy-related Industries.

2. That this body, which may be called the ENERGY COMMISSION of each Member State, be charged with the following additional responsibilities :—

(a) Energy Policy Research, as relates to identification of the possible options for cheap and systematic Energy Production and the balancing of resources utilisation ;

(b) To work out rules, modalities and mechanisms for protection of the ENVIRONMENT from the hazards of ENERGY Exploration, Exploitation and Use, such as air, land and water pollution, radiation from nuclear materials and fire ;

(c) Rapid generation of INDIGENOUS SCIENTIFIC, TECHNOLOGICAL and MANAGERIAL CAPABILITY for Energy Resources Exploitation and the building of adequate CAPACITY for Research and Development of Energy Products and Processes which have direct bearing on the Economic, Social, Political and Military Interests of the State and the Community.

(d) Provision of adequate SECURITY for Energy Personnel and Installations ;

(e) Establishment of measures and methods for efficient CONSERVATION of both Energy Raw Materials which also have non-Energy applications and the readily consumable Energy ;

(f) Setting up of reliable systems for Energy Information gathering, storage analysis, prompt retrieval and exchange.

(g) Continuous assessment of local conditions, resources, existing knowledge and technologies in specified areas of the Energy Field.

(h) Maintenance of accurate Register of Competent Energy Researchers, Energy Research Centres, on-going Energy Research and Research Results Utilisation with a view to prompt dissemination of information throughout the ECOWAS ;

(i) Protection of the Member State and therefore, the Community from domestic or foreign activities which could undermine the move towards SELF-RELIANCE and ultimate SELF-SUFFICIENCY in all aspects of the strategic Energy Field.

B. CO-ORDINATION OF EFFORTS

3. To mount a CONCERTED SHORT MEDIUM AND LONG-TERM PROGRAM ON ENERGY by pooling together, through the avenue of a viable Institution and Mechanism, the professional expertise already available within the Community with a view to tackling jointly all aspects of the Energy Equation which is prevalent throughout the ECOWAS Sub-Region, e.g. the twin-dangers of acute shortage (tending to be exhaustion) of FUELWOOD and of the ECOLOGICAL HAZARD due to insufficient vegetation posed by the southward encroachment of the Sahara Desert and the concomitant Sahelian Drought.

Some of the advantages which will emanate from a concerted programme are :

(i) The Economy of scale and joint Effort in the light of very limited number of competent personnel and financial resources ;

(ii) Facilitation of access to analysis and adaptation of results of similar efforts which have succeeded elsewhere in other sub-Regions of the world-developed and developing.

(iii) Increase in negotiating strength through united effort and purpose when dealing with commercial organisations outside the Community ;

(iv) Improving training prospects for much larger numbers of ECOWAS citizens under similar conditions.

(v) Providing greater protection to the citizens of the Community through better chances for standardisation of equipment and appliances which must be purchased for the moment from outside the Community.

4. To forge closer and more regular interaction among the Energy Professionals of all the Member States in order to enhance the sharing of experience in terms of actions already taken and to conduct more incisive prognosis in terms of actions contemplated.

5. To seek to harmonize the terms of trade and technical co-operation in the Energy Field between all the Member States of the Community and the outside world, and to seek a remedy to the current Energy Crisis through a re-ordering of the Political Economies of Member States so as to serve ESSENTIALLY the interests of ECOWAS CITIZENS.

6. To embark on a concerted program geared towards the acquisition, within the shortest possible time, of adequate capability to deal with every link in the entire chain of activities relevant to the conventional Energy Resources especially COAL, PETROLEUM and NATURAL GAS—from exploration right through to the delivery of products to the final consumer.

7. To integrate and harmonise the comprehensive Energy Policies and Plans of all Member States so as to ensure that the entire Community works in unison towards reducing to the barest minimum the prevailing adverse conditions which militate against the application of local Research Results.

8. To work out quid pro quo arrangements within the Community for interchange of Energy and non-Energy Raw Materials as well as finished products, thereby reducing the cost component due to transportation and insurance for the same commodities imported from areas outside of the Community.

9. To embark on collective diversification of Community Energy supply in order to accelerate over-all industrial economic, social and political development for the Sub-Region.

10. To produce a Comprehensive Energy-Map of the Community through intensified exploration for all possible Sources of Energy.

11. To seek, jointly, Technical Assistance from the more advanced countries, who are willing, through bilateral and multi-lateral arrangements, in the specific areas of Expert Analysis, Operation of Training, Research and Development Institutions within the Community and the Financing of the various Energy projects.

12. To conclude agreements within the shortest possible time for an effective tackling of the Energy Equation within the Community—Financial/Monetary measures require prompt attention.

13. To embark on IMMEDIATE SHORT-TERM ENERGY PROJECTS which will give the Community a breathing space for exploring the inception of measures leading to a long-lasting solution to the Energy Equation within the Community. (Case in point is the possible utilisation of the Associated Natural Gas currently 'flared' in the Oil-Fields of some of the Member States).

C. ENERGY DEVELOPMENT FUND

14. To establish an ECOWAS ENERGY DEVELOPMENT FUND within the ECOWAS FUND which will be contributed to voluntarily.

D. CONSERVATIONIST APPROACHES

15. To initiate the deliberate conservation of Energy Raw Materials which are also of vital importance in non-Energy applications, e.g. the fossil fuels also needed as basic feed-stock in CHEMICAL INDUSTRY.

16. To embark on viable steps to drastically reduce the burden imposed on the economies of ECOWAS Member States occasioned by severe losses through inefficient production, transmission and distribution, on the one hand, and through wasteful (virtually prodigal) consumption by the few, on the other hand, of whatever amount of Energy supply available especially in the form of Electric Power. Conservation measures which have proved very successful in other sub-regions of the world should be instituted within the ECOWAS with all the urgency the situation demands.

E. ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION

17. To promulgate and enforce rules which will guarantee the maximum protection of the ENVIRONMENT from the negative impact of all Energy Activities.

18. To prevent further deterioration of the Community's ECOSYSTEM which will definitely occur as a result of the persistence of current Energy Use Pattern. (Expected increase in population with corresponding increase in demand for FUELWOOD both in rural and urban areas will be incompatible with Ecological Balance within the Sub-Region and will further accelerate Desert Encroachment and intensification of the Sahelian Drought).

F. MARSHAL PLAN FOR SKILLED MANPOWER

19. To institute a Marshal Plan on Energy Training, Research and Development on a collective basis.

G. REVERSING RURAL-TO-URBAN MIGRATION

20. To reverse the current adverse RURAL-TO-URBAN MIGRATION due mainly to inadequate Energy supply for all forms of activities in the rural areas. (AGRICULTURE will be reactivated and expanded if the young labour force of the Community can be returned to and retained in the country-side).

H. REVIEWING TRADITIONAL APPROACH

21. To critically examine the current trend towards gigantic long-term Energy Projects such as dams (in the face of dwindling water volume in the rivers due to the Sahelian Drought afflicting the Sub-Region), and petroleum refineries (in view of the necessity to scale down the percentage contribution by petroleum to the Community's Energy Mix) for reason of the enormous capital out-lays and long lead-times involved, and of the extent of disruption attendant on outages and breakdowns of the giant plants.

1. NUCLEAR ENERGY APPLICATION

22. To maximise efforts geared towards the application of NUCLEAR ENERGY for Electric Power Production and other peaceful uses.

J. TOWARDS NEW AND RENEWABLE ENERGY SOURCES

23. To accurately evaluate and systematically document the potential contribution of each of the New and Renewable Sources to the Community's Energy Mix within the shortest possible time allowed by Technological, Economic and Social factors.

24. To prevent a recourse to the application of the New and Renewable Energy Sources and Technologies as mere stop-gap measures adopted by isolated individuals and establish a concrete plan initiated, co-ordinated, supervised and financed at collective (i.e. Community) Government level in order to protect the citizens who will otherwise fall victims of unscrupulous vendors whose interest is the maximisation of profit for their companies or countries and who are ready to dump proto-type appliances which have not been adequately tested and adapted to local conditions and for which there cannot be any guarantee of spareparts in future.

25. To institute Public Education programmes within the Member States in order to make the average citizen a better informed prospective buyer and consumer of New and Renewable Energy Technologies.
