Each congregation is spiritually cared for by religious ministers called elders of the congregation, hereinafter referred to as “elders”. The elders make decisions together through a Body of Elders or a group of elders called the Congregation Service Committee.	Chaque assemblée locale est supervisée et servie spirituellement par des ministres religieux appelés anciens de l’assemblée locale, ci-après appelés « anciens ». Les anciens agissent collégialement au sein du Collège d’anciens ou d’un groupe d’anciens désigné sous le terme de Comité de service de l’assemblée locale.

Elders are appointed and cease to serve as such according to the religious beliefs and practices of Jehovah’s Witnesses. The appointment of an elder is a spiritual appointment. To be appointed as a congregation elder, a person must be spiritually qualified, according to the Biblical requirements. Elders are appointed for an indefinite period and are not paid.	Les anciens sont nommés et cessent leur fonction conformément aux préceptes des Témoins de Jéhovah. La nomination d’un ancien est une nomination spirituelle. Pour être nommé ancien de l’assemblée locale, il faut être spirituellement qualifié et remplir les conditions fixées dans la Bible.
