COMPOUNDING OF PRESCRIBED OFFENCES BILL, 2024

(Bill No. 2 of 2024)

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS FOR THE BILL

The Bill seeks to establish a legislative framework enabling the Attorney General to offer alleged offenders of offences specified in this Bill the option to settle through an administrative penalty, thereby diverting them from the traditional criminal justice system. This diversionary measure allows for alternative enforcement methods while ensuring accountability for the commission of specified offences, without overburdening the criminal justice system.

As a result of compounding, no criminal prosecution shall be initiated by the Attorney General or any other relevant authority against the offender for the commission of the specified offence.

Dated this twenty-eighth (28th) day of MARCH, 2024.

- (b) make use of alternative methods of enforcing the law and holding an alleged offender of prescribed offences accountable for the commission of a prescribed offence without burdening the criminal justice system.

Compounding of offences

4.(1) Where a person is alleged to have committed a prescribed offence for which a fixed penalty notice was issued to that person or for which a fixed penalty may be imposed under a relevant enactment, the Attorney General may invite, or offer the option to, the alleged offender to compound the prescribed offence.

(2) The prescribed offences are set out in the Second Schedule.

(4) The offer to compound shall specify —

(6) Upon receiving the offer to compound the prescribed offence, the alleged offender may accept the offer and remit the compounded amount to the registry.

(7) The acceptance of the offer to compound and payment of the compounded amount shall be deemed as conclusive evidence of admission of the commission of the prescribed offence and acceptance to compound the prescribed offence.

(8) Notwithstanding subsection (1), an alleged offender who was issued with a fixed penalty notice but failed to pay the fixed penalty within the time limit specified in the fixed penalty notice or who committed a prescribed offence for which a fixed penalty could be imposed and who has not been served with summons in respect of proceedings for such offence may apply in writing to the Attorney General to compound the offence.

(9) Where the Attorney General receives an application under subsection (8), the Attorney General may make an offer to compound to the alleged offender.

Time limit to accept the offer and make payment

5.(1) An alleged offender to whom an offer to compound is made shall accept the offer and pay the compounded amount within a period of not less than 21 working days of the date of the offer to compound or within any other time limit specified in the offer to compound.

(2) An offer to compound may be issued or served on the alleged offender —

- (a) by delivering or tendering it to the alleged offender;
- (b) by delivering or tendering it at the alleged offender's residence, workplace or any other proper address of the alleged offender to a person who is more than 16 years old and who is a member of the alleged offender's household or an employee, agent or manager of the alleged offender;

- (b) pay the compounded amount to the registrar at the registry or at such other place specified in the offer to compound.

(5) The alleged offender shall return the offer to compound along with the acceptance and documentary proof of payment of the compounded amount to the Office of the Attorney General as specified in the offer to compound.

(6) Where an Acceptance is returned to the Attorney General without a signature but with proof of payment of the compounded amount, the offer to compound shall be deemed accepted and the Attorney General shall treat the prescribed offence as compounded.

6.(1) The Attorney General shall not make an offer to compound for an amount less than double the amount of the fixed penalty in the fixed penalty notice.

(4) The Committee shall regulate its own proceedings and shall keep records and minutes of the proceedings.

Effect of compounding

8.(1) An acceptance by the alleged offender to compound an offence and the payment of the compounded amount shall constitute or be deemed an admission of the commission of the offence and acceptance to compound the offence, and no prosecution shall be instituted, or, if proceedings have commenced, they shall be discontinued, by the Attorney General or any other relevant person or authority against the alleged offender for the commission of the prescribed offence.

(2) Where an alleged offender who is offered an option to compound an offence under this Act does not agree to compound the prescribed offence, or accepts to compound the prescribed offence but fails to pay the compounded amount within the prescribed time limit under this Act or in the offer to compound, the Attorney General may institute proceedings against the alleged offender for the prescribed offence.

(3) Without prejudice to the power of the Attorney General to discontinue proceedings under article 76 (4) of the Constitution, where an alleged offender who is offered to compound a prescribed offence under this Act accepts to compound the prescribed offence in accordance with this Act outside the time limit prescribed under this Act or specified in the offer to compound, the Attorney General may compound the prescribed offence where proceedings have not commenced against the alleged offender or where proceedings have commenced but the alleged offender has not been served with summons to appear in court in respect of the proceedings.

(4) Where an alleged offender has accepted to compound the prescribed offence and failed to pay the compounded amount within the time limit prescribed under this Act or specified in the offer to compound and proceedings are instituted against the alleged offender for that offence, the fact that the alleged offender has accepted to compound shall not be used against that alleged offender in the proceedings for the prescribed offence under any relevant enactment.

(5) In any proceedings brought against an alleged offender for a prescribed offence that the alleged offender has compounded under this Act by any person or authority, it shall be a defence if such alleged offender proves that the prescribed offence has been compounded under this Act.

Exclusion of time limit

9. Where a provision is made in a relevant enactment or any other enactment limiting the time within which proceedings for a prescribed offence may be brought against an alleged offender, the period of time given to compound the offence under this Act or in the offer to compound shall not be taken into account in calculating the period of time prescribed under the relevant enactment or any related enactment.

- (a) of commission of a similar offence which was earlier compounded;
- (b) of commission of a similar offence for which such alleged offender was earlier convicted.

Transitional
