(Under sections 78 (1) and 131(1)(k) and (m) of the Financial Institutions Act, Act No.2 of 2004)

IN EXERCISE of the powers conferred on the Central Bank by sections 78(1) and 131(1) (k) and (m) of the Financial Institutions Act, 2004 and in consultation with the Minister responsible for finance, these Regulations are made this 1st day of June, 2005.

PART I—PRELIMINARY

- |   |                 |
|---|-----------------|
| 1. These Regulations may be cited as the Financial Institutions (Credit Reference Bureaus) Regulations, 2005.   | Title           |
| 2. These Regulations apply to all credit reference bureaus licensed under the Financial Institutions Act, 2004.   | Application     |
| 3. In these Regulations, unless the context otherwise requires—   | Inter-pretation |
| “Act” means the Financial Institutions Act, 2004;   |                 |
| “Board of Directors” means the Board of Directors of a credit reference bureau;   |                 |
| “credit reference bureau” means a legal entity established as a company that allows financial institutions and MDIs to exchange information on their clients’ repayment history and current debt profiles and |                 | which compiles a database that collects, stores, consolidates and processes information related to persons, companies and enterprises;

“credit reference bureau business” means the business of disseminating credit information among financial institutions or micro finance deposit-taking institutions for their businesses;

“credit information” means the history of an individual or entity with regard to credit and financial obligations that a credit reference bureau may collect from financial institutions or micro finance deposit-taking institutions;

“database” means a set of information administered by a credit reference bureau;

“debt” means direct, indirect and contingent obligations incurred by an individual or entity with third parties;

“holder” means any person or entity whose credit information is administered by the credit reference bureau;

“MDI” means a micro finance deposit institute licensed under the Micro Finance Deposit- Taking Institutions Act, 2003;

“reputation collateral” means a good payment record which can be used as collateral for new credit;

“user” means any financial institution or micro finance deposit-taking institution or person or entity that is entitled to request credit information from a credit reference bureau.

4. The purpose of these Regulations is to regulate— Purpose

(b) the obligations of MDI's with regard to credit reference bureaus under section 46 of the Micro Finance Deposit-Taking Institutions Act, 2003.

5. The rationale for these Regulations is as follows— Rationale

(a) timely and accurate information on borrowers' debt profile and repayment history reduces information asymmetry between borrowers and lenders and enables lenders to make informed decisions about allocation of credit which reduces default probabilities of borrowers and contributes to financial stability and efficient allocation of resources in an economy;

(b) when financial institutions compete with each other for customers, multiple borrowing and over indebtedness increases and loan default may rise unless the financial institutions have well developed credit information systems or access to databases that capture relevant aspects of client's borrowing behavior;

(c) information in credit registries is vital for the development of a credit culture where borrowers seek to protect their reputation collateral by meeting their obligations in a timely manner and borrowers can also use the good repayment record as collateral for new credit; and

(d) credit reference bureaus provide the necessary infrastructure to ensure information integrity, security and up-to-date information on borrowers.
