MINING AND MINERAL POLICY FOR UGANDA 2018

Policy Goal

To develop the mining industry through increased investment, value addition, national participation and revenue generation to contribute significantly to socio-economic transformation and poverty eradication.

Ministry of Energy and Mineral Development

PREAMBLE

The Minerals sub-sector has over the years registered tremendous progress and investment attractiveness as a result of the implementation of the Mineral Policy of Uganda 2001. This performance notwithstanding, the sub-sector has faced challenges largely due to its dynamic nature which has rendered the Mining Policy of Uganda (2001), inadequate, thereby undermining its optimal contribution to social economic development, of the country, hence, need for its revision to bring it in tandem with the emerging issues.

The revised Policy is therefore intended to increase the development of Uganda's Minerals and Mining Sub-Sector in a cost effective and efficient manner, through increased investment, value addition, national participation and revenue generation to contribute significantly to eradication of poverty and promote socio-economic transformation in line with Vision 2040.

The justification for the new policy is therefore to promote regulation of substances excluded from the definition of the word "mineral" in Article 244 of the Constitution, promote use of appropriate technology with the least impacts to the environment, provide for a transparent and accountable licensing regime, comprehensively evaluate the country's mineral potential, increase investment and revenue generation in the Mining sub-sector, promote infrastructure development in the mining sector, provide for traceability of conflict minerals, promote in-country value addition, ensure equity in the mining sector and safeguard the provision of affordable inputs for rural agro-processing industries such as phosphate fertilizers.

The policy will also strengthen the institutional framework and address governance and operational issues, environmental protection, gender and equity, mineral value addition, mine closure and post-mining transition as well as, formalizing artisanal and small scale mining.

Above all, this policy will address gaps that have existed in the Mining sub-sector and more importantly, form a basis for review of the Mining Act of 2003, as well as, aligning the industry's strategic direction with the Constitution of the Republic of Uganda 1995 (as Amended in 2005), African Mining Vision 2009, the National Development Strategy under the National Development Plan II (NDPII 2015/16 -2019/20) and Uganda Vision 2040;

Copies of the policy may be obtained at the Directorate of Geological Survey and Mines, or at such other places as may be directed by the Ministry of Energy and Mineral Development.

HON. ENG. IRENE MULONI,
Minister of Energy and Mineral Development
