CITY OF TSHWANE

GREEN BUILDING DEVELOPMENT POLICY

1. Introduction

The Green Building Development Policy developed by the City of Tshwane aims to improve the performance of built environments in order to reduce negative or adverse environmental impacts, to improve the quality of the environment and to enhance the quality of life in the city.

The Green Building Development Policy is one of three related instruments by the City of Tshwane to encourage the development of a more sustainable built environment. These instruments are the following:

- Green Building Development By-law: This by-law sets out the legislative status of the Green Building Development Policy and the Green Building Development Incentive Scheme
- Green Building Development Policy: This policy sets out green building development standards that are either mandatory (must be complied with) or promoted (may be complied with)
- Green Building Development Incentive Scheme: Once finalised, this scheme will encourage new buildings to surpass mandatory green building development standards and to adopt promoted standards

This document sets out the Green Building Development Policy and includes both mandatory and promoted green building development standards.

2. Application of the Green Building Development Policy

The Green Building Development Policy only applies to developments that require building control approval. The policy sets out standards that are either mandatory or promoted by the City of Tshwane. Mandatory standards must be complied with. Promoted standards are voluntary, but demonstrating compliance with them may be used to ensure that developments are eligible for incentive schemes.

Submissions to the City of Tshwane for approval of building plans must demonstrate that the proposed development or refurbishment will comply with all the mandatory standards outlined in this Green Building Development Policy.

This policy will be implemented and enforced by the office of the City of Tshwane Chief Building Control Officer in terms of an approved implementation plan.

Submission requirements may be amended from time to time by the City of Tshwane in order to support ongoing performance improvement in the built environment.

3. Green Building Development Incentive Scheme

The City of Tshwane may, from time to time, provide incentives to submissions that comply not only with mandatory standards but also with promoted standards as outlined in this policy. Incentives may include the following:

- Fast-tracked application procedures.
- Reduced application costs.
- Reduced bulk services contribution.
- Relaxation of specific planning requirements such as parking provision.
- Access to reduced cost or free green building technical training and seminars.
- Access to municipal negotiated discounts for energy-efficient/sustainable technologies.
- Access to municipal negotiated interest rate reductions from financial institutions.
- Assistance in applying for grants or tax incentives for investments in energy-efficient/sustainable technologies.
- Formal recognition of performance through certification.

Eligibility for these incentives will be determined by the City of Tshwane through reviewing submitted promoted standards documentation as outlined in the implementation plan referred to in Section 2 of this policy. Formal recognition of eligibility will be provided through a Green Building Development Certificate issued by the City of Tshwane.

4. Green Building Development Certificate

The Green Building Development Certificate is a valuable tool that can be used by developers, building owners and professional teams to demonstrate a commitment to improved environmental performance and the achievement of specific environmental performance standards within a development.

Therefore, even where incentives are not in place, projects should consider achieving the promoted standards and submitting the relevant documentation in order to benefit from these initiatives as well as from the valuable associated publicity and recognition in terms of a Green Building Development Certificate.

5. Green Building Development Mandatory and Promoted Standards

This section outlines the mandatory and promoted standards for green building development. Mandatory standards are marked with an asterisk (*). Promoted standards are not distinguished in any way.

EN 7: Energy sub-metering

All buildings with a gross floor area of more than 5 000 m² should have energy sub-metering in order to monitor and control energy use in the building. Sub-metering should measure all substantial energy consumption areas and include, as a minimum, lighting and heating, ventilation and air conditioning (HVAC) systems. Sub-metering systems should enable data to be captured and presented over time and enable energy profiles to be generated. Data from these meters should be readily accessible to the managers of buildings or facilities.

Submission requirements

EN 8: Renewable energy

All new buildings, refurbishments and major retrofits should ensure that at least 10% of energy consumption is generated from renewable energy systems. This requirement can be met by installing renewable energy systems such as photovoltaic and solar water heating systems in buildings or on-site.

Submission requirements

1. A renewable energy generation report that indicates the building's predicted renewable energy generation in kWh/annum, the building's total predicted annual energy consumption in kWh/annum, and the percentage of energy consumption sourced from renewable sources, as indicated in the table below. This table should be supported by detailed and comprehensive calculations and all data – including weather data, schedules, occupancy and others – used as a basis for predicted energy generation figures should be included. Assumptions used in calculations should be accurate or conservative. Methodology and calculations must be in line with generally accepted good practice standards.

Renewable energy system	Energy consumption
Renewable energy generated by photovoltaic panels on the building (kWh/annum)	4 000
Renewable energy generated by solar water system in the building (equivalent kWh/annum)	4 000
Total renewable energy generated (kWh/annum)	8 000
Annual predicted energy consumption for the building (kWh/annum)	40 000
Percentage of energy consumption sourced from renewable sources	20%

2. The report must be compiled by a registered mechanical or electrical engineer. This should be confirmed in the report by the following statement:

"This report has been compiled to provide a realistic prediction of renewable energy generation in the proposed building. The report is aligned with current best engineering and modelling practice and all assumptions and data used are accurate or conservative in nature."

Submission requirements

1. Provide a plan drawing that indicates the rainwater harvesting tank and the linked water consumption areas.
2. Provide a table that indicates the useable area, rainwater harvesting system capacity and the ratio of rainwater harvesting capacity to useable area. An example of such a table is given below.

WA 7: On-site storm water retention

Sites which have over 500m² of hard surface (for instance surface car parking) should demonstrate how 80% of run-off water volume will be retained on-site. Retention strategies can include appropriately designed rainwater harvesting systems or sustainable urban drainage systems (SUDs) including swales.

Submission requirements

1. An on-site storm water retention report that indicates the predicted on-site storm water retention performance of the project should be provided. This should show that at least 80% of run-off volume is retained on-site. The report should be supported by detailed and comprehensive calculations. Data – including weather data, soil type, permeability and others – used as a basis for predicted on-site storm water retention should be included. Assumptions used in calculations should be accurate or conservative. Methodology and calculations must be in line with generally accepted good practice standards.

The report must be compiled by a registered civil or wet services engineer. This should be confirmed in the report by the following statement:

“This report has been compiled to provide a realistic prediction of on-site storm water retention in the proposed project. The report is aligned with current best engineering and modelling practice and all assumptions and data used are accurate or conservative in nature.”

WA 8: Swimming and ornamental pools

Water to top up swimming pools and ornamental ponds with a volume of 2 m³ or more must be sourced from rainwater harvesting tanks. Municipal supplies should not be used for this purpose. Applications to develop pools of 2 m³ or more must include a rainwater harvesting system of adequate capacity.

This requirement does not apply where the pool will have a pool cover installed for at least six months of the year and has a filtration system that does not result in waste water from backwashing.

To calculate the required minimum rainwater harvesting capacity, the surface area of the pool in square metres should be multiplied by 1,0 to obtain a volume. Thus, if the surface area of a pool is 5 m², the volume required would be 5,0 x 1,0 = 5,0 m³ or 5 000 ℓ. This is the minimum required capacity of the rainwater harvesting system.

Submission requirements

1. Provide a site plan that indicates the pools and rainwater harvesting system.
2. Provide a table that contains the type of pool, surface area, minimum rainwater harvesting requirements and actual rainwater harvesting capacity provided. An example of such a table is given below.

Type of pool	Surface area (m ²)	Minimum rainwater harvesting capacity required (ℓ)	Actual rainwater harvesting capacity provided (ℓ)
Swimming pool	5	5 000	10 000

Alternatively:

1. Provide written and signed confirmation by the building owner that a pool cover will be installed for at least six months of the year and that a filtration system will be used that does not result in waste water from backwashing.

WA 9: Irrigation

All water used to irrigate landscapes and planting must be sourced from rainwater harvesting. Municipal supplies should not be used for this purpose. All applications for development that include irrigation schemes must indicate that a rainwater harvesting system of adequate capacity to meet the irrigation requirements of planting throughout the year has also been provided. Irrigation for food gardens is exempt from this requirement.

To calculate the minimum rainwater harvesting capacity required, the surface area of the landscape requiring irrigation should be multiplied by the irrigation requirements in millimetre per week multiplied by 16 to get the minimum rainwater harvesting capacity volume. Thus, if the landscaped area is 50 m² and the irrigation requirements are 20mm per week, irrigation water requirements per week would be 50,0 x 0,02 = 1,0 kℓ or 1 000 ℓ. This would then be multiplied by 16 to get the minimum rainwater harvesting capacity required (16 000 ℓ). This is the minimum required capacity of the rainwater harvesting system.

Submission requirements

1. Provide a site plan that indicates the irrigated area and rainwater harvesting system.
2. Provide a table that indicates the type of vegetation requiring irrigation, the area of the vegetation, the irrigation requirements per week and the minimum actual rainwater harvesting capacity provided. An example of such a table is given below.

Type of vegetation requiring irrigation	Area (m ²)	Irrigation requirements (mm / week)	Weekly water requirements (ℓ)	Factor	Minimum rainwater harvesting capacity required (ℓ)	Actual rainwater harvesting capacity provided (ℓ)
Front lawn	50	20	1 000	16	16 000	20 000

WE: Waste
WE 1: Solid waste*

Recycling storage areas should be provided for all buildings with a gross floor area of more than 500m² or for sites where the total cumulative gross floor area is more than 500m² (such as townhouse developments). Recycling storage areas must be covered and located within 50m (road distance) of a public highway. Where there are a number of units on one site, such as a townhouse development, a single recycling area can be provided, as long as this has adequate capacity (that means that the total recycling area should not be less than what would be required for individual units). The area for recycling storage should at least meet the requirements listed in Table 6.

Table 6: Requirements for cycling storage area

Gross floor area of building(s) (m ²)	Minimum area of recycling storage required per gross floor area (m ²)
501 to 1 000	0,005
1 001 to 5 000	0,0035
5 001 +	0,0025

Projects should perform their own calculations and modelling for the size of the recycled waste storage areas. This should be based on expected waste streams. In general, space allocation should ensure that at least seven days of recycling waste can be stored. The stockpiling of recycling waste helps to improve the efficiency and economic viability of recycling operations.

Submission requirements

1. Provide a site plan that indicates recycling storage area and distance (in metres) to the nearest public highway.
2. Provide a table that indicates the gross floor area of buildings, the minimum recycling storage areas per gross floor area, the minimum recycling storage area required and the actual recycled storage area provided. An example of such a table is given below.

Gross floor area of building(s) (m ²)	Minimum area of recycling storage required per gross floor area (m ²)	Minimum recycling storage area required (m ²)	Actual recycling storage area provided (m ²)
